5 POWERS SIGN LONDON NAVAL TREATY TODAY

U.S. Envoys to Sail for Home Tonight.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—The final touches were put on the naval treaty in a series of meetings today and the document was sent to be printed this afternoon. It will be signed at a plenary meeting called for 10:30 a. m. tomorrow. The actual time of signing is expected to be about 12:30 or 1 p. m.

The ceremony will take place in the Queen Anne drawing room of St. James's palace, where most of the work of the conference has been done. The treaty will be laid on a table in the middle of the horseshoe around which the delegates sit, and, one after another, they will walk around and affix their signatures. A special gold fountain pen has been provided, but for those who do not like fountain pens great inkwells of the Queen Anne period have been brought from the privy council office, where snuffy old clerks still engross documents with quill pens.

To Be Filed in British Archives.

The document which will be signed will be printed on special treaty paper and a certain number of copies, also on this paper, will be certified as accurate by the foreign office librarian and sent to the various signatory nations. The original document will be filed in the archives of the British foreign office.

Tomorrow's ceremony will be as simple and brief as possible. A short speech will be made by Prime Minister MacDonald, after which the chief delegates of the other powers and of the British dominions and India are expected to express their gratification at the successful end of the conference.

The order of signing will be as follows: America, France, Great Britain, the British dominions, India, Italy, and Japan. The treaty contains about 6,000 words and consists of five parts and 26 articles. It is printed both in English and French.

Dino Grandi Will Not Sign.

Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, who arrived here this evening, will sign for France, but Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, is reported to be ill in Rome. The Italian ambassador will be the chief signatory for Italy.

In addition to the drafting and experts committees, a meeting was held today of the special committee to settle on a report to the league of nations of various matters agreed on between two or more powers, but not a part of the treaty. The treaty itself will be registered with the league in due course.

Following the signing of the treaty the American delegates will leave for Southampton. They expect to sail for home on the Leviathan about 8 p. m.

STIMSON TELLS HOPES

New York, April 21.—[Special.]—Publishers and editors at the annual Associated Press luncheon at the Hotel Commodore today heard Secretary of State Stimson, speaking from London, hail the naval agreement reached there as a long step toward abolition of war.

"The last fourteen weeks," he said, "have given me more confidence in my belief that the peaceful methods of diplomacy can eventually take the place of war than anything I have witnessed since the last war drew to a close."

Mr. Stimson, who heads the American delegation to the naval conference, said that his confidence is based on the fact that "limitation of arms gives us an affirmative plan for promoting good relations," and that mere negative opposition to war is not enough.

Backs Up Kellogg Pact.

The Kellogg pact, he said, "proposed a new era" in international relations, but to make its intentions effective it was necessary "to establish a larger measure of confidence in the ability of different nations to maintain their pacific intentions." This, he believes, has been the result of the London conference.

Secretary Stimson said that there were two separate naval problems confronting the diplomats at London and that the first of these, the relations between the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan, had been solved.

The underlying questions of the problem of the armaments of Great Britain, France and Italy have been "explored and clarified," he said, and

SEX PAGANISM IMPERILS HOME, CHURCHMEN SAY

Presbyterians Assail Jazz Age Morality.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

THE REV. R. M. DAVIS.

Pagan morality is challenging the foundations of American homes with the same forces that wrecked both home life and civilizations of earlier eras. This statement summarizes the findings of the special Presbyterian commission on marriage, divorce, and remarriage appointed in St. Paul last May by the Presbyterian general assembly, of which the Rev. Dr. Cleland B. MacAfee is moderator. The commission's report was made public yesterday.

The commission, headed by the Rev Dr. Ralph Marshall Davis, Erie, Pa., described present conditions, which are blamed in the report for the fact that divorce decrees are rapidly gaining in their race with marriage licenses. For instance, the report states that "imported vulgarities" are supplanting home grown moralities. It points out what it declares to be the strange spectacle of American civilization raising questions in reference to monogamy.

As Churchmen See Age.

Some of the report's commentaries on present tendencies are:

"Smut and dirt compound themselves into good stories."

"Jazz with its primeval jungle tom tom inspires to contortions of dance unfitting to incipient rheumatics."

"Older moralities are openly jeered at."

"Adultery is the fashionable theme of the stage and talkies."

"Sex pathology studied by specialists is advertised by fiction writers."

The report deals with conditions that interfere with home life. The drift of population to the cities, the new speed of life, and the growing number of rented apartments and homes are some of the factors listed. The last named development results in the loss of "proprietory interest and pride," according to the report.

Factors in Home Charge.

The report points that installment purchase plans and extensions of credit have made stock market speculations a side issue of millions. The net result of the new economic condition is a nervousness not helpful to family felicity, the churchmen find.

Birth control for the total prevention of children rather than for the reduction of the number of children was deplored by the investigators.

"Granting physical and mental competency, to frustrate the coming of children to the Christian home is to frustrate a certain normal development that the Christian monogamic marriage assumes," the report says.

New Marriage Definition.

The commission will recommend a new definition of Christian marriage to be studied by the church. The definition follows:

"Marriage is an institution ordained of God for the honor and happiness of mankind, in which one man and one woman enter into a bodily and spiritual union, pledging each to the other mutual love, honor, fidelity, forebearance, and comradeship, such as should assure an unbroken continuance of their wedlock so long as both shall live.

"This institution finds its primary justification in the establishment and maintenance of the Christian home in which children shall be born and nurtured in the Christian faith. On the side of civil government, the church recognizes marriage as a legal contract involving the moral obligations of Christian citizenship."

For Uniform Divorce Laws.

The Rev. Dr. Clarence A. Spaulding, Santa Barbara, Cal., as chairman of the educational program committee of the commission recommended a search for proper books on the whole subject of marriage and sex relationships. On the legal program committee, Attorney Edward P. Vose, Chicago, presented a list of recommendations centering on the need of uniform divorce laws throughout the country.

The influence of religious life on the divorce problem was cited in the report. It was declared that figures from the Presbyterian church show that 83 per cent of the clergy have never known a divorce between persons who were active in church work.

Scrap Dry Law for Merchant Fleet—Moffett

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—[Special.]—Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, returned from London today convinced that "impracticable" American liquor laws should be changed, the navy built up to the maximum limits set by the new three power treaty, and a merchant marine developed. Rear Admiral Moffett was technical advisor on aviation matters to the American naval delegation.

"The personal liberty enjoyed in nonprohibition countries and the absence of graft in connection with liquor was noticeable, compared with conditions in the United States," the rear admiral asserte, attacking existing prohibition conditions in this country. "Prices are high—three or four times more than they were before the war. This may suggest the solution of the liquor problem for us," he said. "High internal revenue taxes on liquor—low taxes on light wines and beer—bringing in a revenue to the government that would largely support it and greatly reduce the income and other taxes; eliminate graft, bootlegging, and other evils inherent in impracticable prohibition."

Urges Merchant Marine.

Rear Admiral Moffett spoke highly of the three power naval treaty, and asserted it should be followed at once by the development of American merchant marine that would compare favorably with the British. He advocated government construction of merchant ships suitable for conversion into cruisers in war time. In peace times these ships would be operated by commercial firms; in case of war they would revert to the government.

"I hope there will be a three power treaty," the rear admiral said. "If we have the national pride we boast of we will have naval parity with Great Britain in fact as well as in name. We have the population and resources to be first and ought to be content with nothing less. Only a few years ago our people had no thought of naval parity. They have recently demanded and there is every indication that we will have it by 1936. It is necessary in order to retain our self-respect.

Is Part of Sea Power.

"The next thing we must do is get a merchant marine inferior to none—parity at least in merchant marine. A merchant marine is a large part of sea power. As long as we have a merchant marine inferior to any other nation we will not have parity in sea power. We can gain it by building merchant ships just as we build cruisers. However, instead of the government maintaining them as it does cruisers, the government should build and turn the completed ships over to commercial firms to operate.

"Each merchant ship can be changed into an aircraft carrier, carrying bombing planes with a radius of 200 miles. Aviation has enormously increased the relative value of a merchant marine, and in getting parity in navies we must realize that we still have a long way to go to have parity in sea power. A merchant marine would be powerful and essential in national defense and of far reaching importance to our commerce and national prosperity."

Progress in Aviation.

Rear Admiral Moffett said that in general "our progress in aviation, naval, military, commercial and civil," compares most favorably with that in England and France. He said that the United States is unexcelled in all types of engines in service, although the Schneider cup races had given Europe an edge in certain types of experimental high speed planes and motors.

American air mail, he said, was unsurpassed in Europe. In dirigible construction the United States will soon have world leadership, he said.

Bible Story of the Locusts Is Told Anew

BY ERNEST MAIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASRA, Irak, April 21.—Centuries ago, long before Christ, a swarm of locusts descended upon Egypt, ravished the land, and was later swept into the Red sea. The Biblical historian responsible for the book of Exodus reported the locusts as a plague sent by the Lord to punish Pharaoh for lying to the children of Israel. Pharoah repented and the locusts were destroyed.

Now comes a repetition of the plague and the locusts' destruction.

For weeks millions of locusts, exceeding in numbers any ever seen by Arabs here, had been making a steady advance against all efforts to stop their progress. Natives of Basra almost had resigned themselves to the ever increasing swarms.

Pests Blown into Gulf.

Then, suddenly, when almost all hope of stopping the destruction had left, up came a strong wind which blew the ravenous pests into the Persian gulf, where they were drowned.

Scriptural scholars note the parallel between the present day plague and the deliverance and the plague and deliverance of the Israelites centuries ago. They read in Exodus how the Lord visited his wrath on the Egyptions because Pharoah had broken a promise to free the children of Israel.

The Book of Exodus.

"And the locusts went up over all the land of Egypt . . . for they covered the face of the whole earth, so that the land was darkened, and they did eat every herb of the land."—Ex.: x., 14-15.

Reading on, the scriptural student learns that Pharoah repented of his falsehood, besought Moses' forgiveness and Moses interceded with the Lord.

"And the Lord turned a mighty strong west wind, which took away the locusts, and cast them into the Red sea."—Ex.: x., 19.

Magazines for Protection.

One curious result of the present locust invasion is that American magazines have been sold at high prices to the Arabs, who were unable to read them, but who bought them because the smooth surfaces of the colored pictures formed an unscalable wall to the tumbling masses of insects. But the fields have lain unprotected for mile on mile under the oncoming swarms.

One Bedouin camel driver, who journeyed 12 days from Nejd, King Ibn Saud's stronghold in central Arabia, reported that his camel walked on grasshoppers throughout the trip and and that his saddle, sandals, and harness were consumed by the hungry pests.

Iraq is now perturbed, however, because the Tigris and Euphrates river floods, on which agriculture depends, are the lowest this spring that they have been in 25 years.

LOCKED DOORS CUT OFF ESCAPE IN OHIO PRISON

OVERCROWDING UNDER DRY LAW A FIRE FACTOR

Columbus, O., April 21.—[Special.]—Overcrowding played its part in tonight's fire tragedy at the state penitentiary. The prison, built in 1890, with recent rebuilding of portions, was intended to house 1,500 prisoners. The population today was 4,650.

It is estimated that one-third of the convicts were serving time for violation of federal and state prohibition laws.

New York, April 21.—(AP)—Overcrowding of the Ohio state prison was charged in the 1929 handbook of the National Society of Penal Information.

"The ancient plant at the penitentiary in Columbus, one of the largest prisons in the country, suffers from a condition of overcrowding worse than that in any other prison," the report said. "The need of another institution in the Ohio penal system has been apparent for many years, but the state is only now taking steps to alleviate the conditions at Columbus."

Convicts Start Fire; Slug Firemen and Cut Hose.

BULLETIN.

Columbus, O., April 21.—(Special.)—More than 350 bodies of convicts, many of them burned beyond recognition, lay stretched out upon the court yard of Ohio penitentiary late tonight, victims of the fire started by the convicts themselves. The death list may reach 400.

Nearly 350 were injured.

This disaster was caused by a fire which caused only $11,000 property damage. It was partly due to housing 4,650 prisoners in a penitentiary built for 1,500.

Tonight 1,500 Ohio troops and 350 United States regulars are on duty in the prison or on the way.

Columbus, O., April 21.—(AP)—Soldiers of the regular army, Ohio national guardsmen, city police, and prison guards were in control of the situation shortly before midnight tonight in the Ohio penitentiary, where more than 300 convicts died in one of the most disastrous fires in the history of the country.

For hours, as firemen battled fire and fought back recalcitrant convicts who cut their hose, several thousand convicts had milled about the prison inclosure, but finally soldiers and guards gained the upper hand and drove the prisoners into their cells and other prison buildings.

Yard Filled with Dead.

Under the glare of flood lights turned into the prison yard was a scene of appalling tragedy. Here, on the damp grass covered by blankets, lay the bodies of the men who died trapped in their locked cells. Smoke suffocated a majority of the victims. Some were killed by fire.

Warden Preston E. Thomas was in consultation with state officials at midnight planning his investigation. Virtually all sources agreed that the first fire, as well as other blazes that broke out later in the prison yards, were started by prisoners.

After the prison yard was cleared national guard trucks were taken into the prison. These were to be used to carry the bodies of victims to the Coliseum in the state fair grounds.

How Catastrophe Started.

A sudden burst of flame, followed by a dense cloud of smoke, heralded the beginning of the catastrophe. The flames first appeared in the I and K cell blocks, where a new structure within the prison walls was being erected.

The fire started near the spot where men had been working during the day with an oil preparation to repair the roof. This, it was believed, was used to start the blaze.

Quickly the fire spread toward tiers of cells occupied by convicts.

The wind conspired with the flames to spread death and soon many prisoners trapped in their cells were beyond aid.

Trapped Men Scream for Aid.

Convicts still in their cells feared the fire would reach them and they sent up a mighty crescendo of screams.

Within a few minutes scores of prisoners not locked in were Assassin Ends Health Racket of "Holy Man"

The religious racket of a "holy man" who won a wide reputation as a healer in the Italian community in which he lived was disclosed last night by the fatal shooting of George Lucido, 38 years old, 1011 Townsend street.

In Lucido's flat the police found a miniature chapel furnished with an altar, candles, prayer books and other sacred articles, many of them identified as stolen from the church of St. Philip Benizi at Cambridge avenue and Oak street.

Staggers into Fire Station.

Lucido staggered into the station of fire insurance patrol No. 5 at 1044 Orleans street last night and told Lieut. William Hanlon that he had been shot at Orleans and Hill streets. Hanlon called the fire department ambulance and took Lucido to the Henrotin hospital, where he died a few minutes later. He had been shot three times in the body and once in the left arm.

Seeking a clew to the motive for the killing, Lieut. John L. Sullivan and his detective squad went to Lucido's home and found the improvised chapel. The room was decorated with pictures of saints, illuminated by electric lights and at one end stood a field altar in which was a gold monstrance, which the police believed was stolen from a Catholic church.

In the room were two bags containing holy oils and a priest's vestments, which Lucido used in his calls on the sick; a dozen Bibles, prayer books, and other sacred volumes.

Known as "Holy Man."

Inquiries among the neighbors revealed that Lucido had built up a large following in the district where he was known as a "holy man," who effected miraculous cures.

Dominic Raira, 1224 Webster avenue, a friend of Lucido, was taken into custody when the police found an altar and a number of ecclesiastical books and vestments, stolen from St. Philip's church, in Raira's home.

staggering into the prison yard. They would walk a step, totter, then drop in their tracks. Others overcome within the blocks were carried out by convicts and laid on the grass, where artificial respiration methods were tried by prisoners. When it became evident that a man was beyond help he was quickly covered with a blanket and the rescuers passed along to another victim.

Troops Hurried to Scene.

Soon police reserves and firemen were on the scene and within a short time fire lines were established and water was being played upon the flames as they swept the west cell tiers. Then soldiers came to augment the guards both within the prison and on the outside.

Doctors by the score followed and they were rushed into the prison yard to work on the stricken. Most of these men were clad in their white hospital clothes and as they made their way through the long lines of unconscious and dead the onlookers were reminded of scenes on a battlefield.

Chief Ijams of the Columbus fire department was among the first outsiders to get into the blazing cell blocks. He said the fire spread so rapidly that guards on duty there had little or no opportunity to unlock the cell doors. Four guards rushed into the blocks with cell keys, but before they could get to work on the doors they were overcome by the dense smoke and carried out by convicts.

Prison Break First Fear.

At the outset of the disaster, and before the grave seriousness of the fire was discovered, it was feared that a general delivery of prisoners had been attempted. Guards rushed here and there, picking up machine guns and shotguns, shouting for ammunition, and adding to the general disorder. Outside guards trained their guns on the walls. Inside a score of guards kept an eye on the loose convicts, fearing there would be a break.

But when it was learned that men were trapped in the blazing cell blocks guards and convicts forgot their positions and joined hands in the common effort to save the men.

For once in the history of the penitentiary convicts handled ropes, axes, hammers, and other rescue equipment which in other days would have been kept from them. A Negro convict with a piece of white cloth over his nose carried a rope and a hook and made valiant efforts to throw the hook into a barred window.

Finally he succeeded and soon he was shinning up the rope in an effort to gain entrance to the burning section. Another convict carried a sledge hammer and made an assault on a locked door.

Prison "Bad Men" in Uproar.

Only in the east cell blocks where are confined a thousand men, including company K, the "bad men" of the prison, did the convicts cause any disorder. Here they shouted and screamed and hammered on their cell doors. Some one reported that the key to this block had been lost. When the chief warden could not find the key he took in sledge hammers to loose the men if the flames threatened the block.

While the main fire was raging another blaze broke out in the prison woolen mills. It was reported that convicts, loose in the prison yards, had fired the mills. A company of United States infantry and prison guards were ordered by Warden Thomas to clear the yards.

Firemen working on the mill fire, which was finally extinguished, reported to the warden that some convicts had cut their hose and had tried to fire their gasoline wagon.

Convicts slugged four firemen who were attempting to get a line of hose playing on the flames.

Other places fired with oil soaked cloth included the Catholic chapel and the cotton mill.

Send Word to Relatives.

A major part of the dead remained unidentified at a late hour tonight. Prison officials were paying little attention to identification work until the situation in the prison yard was brought under control and every convict was locked in a cell.

Chief of Police Harry E. French of Columbus, helping to command the situation in the prison enclosure, ordered all women nurses from the penitentiary at 9:45 p. m. He said he issued the order to insure safety for the women.

Telegraph blanks were issued to convicts. They were told to address them to relatives and were assured they would be sent so the relatives would know they had escaped death in the conflagration.

Maj. Gen. V. W. Huff, O. N. G., was in charge of the troops in the prison.

High Spots in Prison Tragedy

Columbus, O., April 21.—(AP)—With Warden Thomas inside the prison walls during the fire, the situation in the prison outer office was handled by Miss Amanda Thomas, his daughter. This young woman ordered guards to their posts, issued machine guns and ammunition, called doctors and nurses, and summoned troops.

At the height of the fire some one shouted that the flames were spreading toward other cell blocks in which some 500 men, including condemned prisoners, were housed. Then it was discovered that the key to these cells had been misplaced. The chief deputy warden ordered guards in with axes and sledge hammers to open the cells if the fire spread further.

Company K in Ohio penitentiary includes all the bad men, mostly long termers—men who refuse to be disciplined. A half dozen of these got loose during the excitement, and until they were cornered fires broke out in the cotton mills and fire hoses were cut. To them was attributed the trouble among the convicts.

Robert Stone, 49, confessed slayer of Charles Thurston, railroad detective, was among the dead. He was serving a life term for slaying the brother of the famous magician, Howard Thurston. For nine years the murder was unsolved. Finally Stone's accomplice confessed, and later Stone himself told the story.

"Big Jim" Morton, notorious Cleveland bank robber, was a hero of the fire. Big Jim, loose in the yard when the fire started, rescued a score of men from K block. He continued working at top speed until he was overcome by smoke.

Among the convicts who were suffocated was Oren Hill, a former prison guard. Hill was sentenced to serve three years to life for aiding John Whitfield to escape. Whitfield was a notorious convict, and later was shot to death.

The Salvation Army set up a canteen in front of the prison after nightfall and passed out coffee and food to soldiers, firemen, and others on duty there.

Death claimed Garland Runyan of Lawrence county a few hours after he entered the prison. Runyan was admitted to the penitentiary today to serve a term for abandoning his children in Ironton. He was assigned to the ill fated K cell block and was numbered among the dead.

TALES OF HEROISM

Columbus, O., April 21.—[Special.]—Stories of cowardice and heroism were being recounted tonight at Ohio state penitentiary, scene of the disastrous prison fire in which upwards of 300 convicts perished.

One guard, on duty at the time the fire was discovered, was reported to have run back from the burning cell block to the warden's office with the keys that would have released the convicts.

Another guard raced after him and secured the keys, carrying them back to give to a convict who unlocked three tiers of convicts.

One convict labored for 30 minutes to get one man from the ruins out on to the lawn of the grounds only to discover that the rescued man was his brother.

Another convict brought out eight men and was going back for another when he collapsed in the doorway of the smoke-filled building. Others carried him back to the courtyard. A doctor bent over him. He was dead.

One guard who refused to open the cells over which he had charge was overpowered by a Negro convict and relieved of the keys to 5H tier.

A Hero with a Hammer.

Howard Jones, a convict, proved a hero in today's fire at the state penitentiary here. When the fire was raging at its worst Jones seized a sledge hammer and single handed released 136 fellow convicts by hammering the locks off cell doors.

Leo Matlock of Columbus, serving life for murder, proved to be one of the heroes of the rescue workers when he dashed through the cell block breaking the locks on cell doors and releasing prisoners.

Lying on a blanket gasping for his last breath was a convict hero who had saved twelve lives. His name could not be learned.

George Aikens of Cleveland, another convict, went through cell blocks I and K, breaking locks and releasing the imprisoned men. Ray Ruftle, also serving a term from Cleveland, went through cell blocks G and H with a hammer, smashing locks.

Convicts Cheer Heroic Guard.

Guard Captain Thomas F. Little was commended by prisoners, who said he went down the dormitory cells with his keys, unlocking the doors.

Little, almost overcome by the dense smoke, finally handed his keys to Paul Gibbons, a prisoner, and told him to get out the best he could. Gibbons was one of the last men to leave the cell block alive. The convicts set up a cheer when Capt. Little was assisted out of the burning cell block, temporarily overcome by smoke. He was assisted by a prisoner on each side.

When the Catholic chapel caught fire at 6:50 p. m. the flames were extinguished in short order by convicts using chemicals. The Rev. Father Albert O'Brien, the chaplain, directed the prisoners in their labors.

Prisoners Accuse Guards.

Prisoners huddled into the courtyard as the parade of dead bodies passed were bitter in their accusations against the day guards.

Glen Pierce, one of the prisoners, declared that the lives of 100 men would have been saved had the day guards on duty at the time of the outbreak of the fire consented to open the cells and release the men inside.

Pierce was graphic in his description of the terror of the men trapped in the locked cells. Virtually every man on 5 H cell block, he said, knew that death was inevitable.

Kenneth Scott, prisoner, walked curiously up to a group hovering around a dying convict, to find that it was his brother Edward, aged 29.

John Anderson of Columbus rushed from his cell at the outbreak of the fire and raced over to his brother's cell, only to find him dead. Anderson and Jack Dennis of New Orleans carried the body out.

John Jackson of Columbus, colored, escaped from his cell in E block and helped to carry out the bodies of 40 men from the fifth and sixth tiers, he said.

Theodore Walsinger of Portsmouth helped to lift men from the sixth to the fifth tier. John Scalia of Cleveland said he carried out nine bodies.

John Bauer, prisoner from Cincinnati, braved the flames and carried out 20 men before he was forced to the hospital for treatment.

Harry Stutz, one of the country's leading jockeys in 1925, and incarcerated from Cincinnati for embezzlement, was one of the heroes of the fire. Despite his meager 100 pounds he carried out victims twice his weight. He finally became exhausted and was taken to the emergency hospital for treatment. After a half hour's treatment and relaxation he returned to help further in the rescuing work.

Negroes Pray for Victims.

One white man severely burned in 2-H range probably owes his life to the prayers and folk songs of a group of 20 Negroes. Finding the man lying on a blanket near the west wall, the Negroes gathered about him, pleading in unison with him "not to die," "hang on, friend, don't leave us," they exhorted, bursting into strains of familiar plantation songs as life appeared to ebb. A grim smile appeared on the burned man's face and he did "hang on." At a late hour he was clinging to a meager thread of life and was listed as one of those likely to recover.

Whisky was distributed by guards among many of the prisoners who were in a dying condition.

Fear was held for a time for the residence quarters of Warden Thomas and his family, which are located in the central portion of the dormitory in East Spring street. Practically all of the personal belongings of the Thomas family were removed. The fire in the dormitory was checked, however, before it reached the warden's quarters.

HOLD 3 IN PROVIDENCE RIOT

Providence, R. I., April 21.—(AP)—With three men arraigned on charges of murder, investigators into the outbreak at the state prison at Howard on Saturday afternoon were centering their efforts tonight on apprehension of two gunmen who escaped by automobile after the murder of Peleg Champlin, trusty, and the critical wounding of a guard.

Three youths, Ernest and John Candelmo of Providence and Ralph Colarusso of North Bergen, N. J., who admit being in the visitors' room during the shooting, were arraigned in District court at Cranston today charged with the murder of Champlin, who was shot as he sounded the prison alarm.

Senate Committee 10 to 6 Against Nomination of Parker

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—[Special.]—President Hoover received a rebuff today when the senate committee on judiciary by a vote of 6 to 10 reported adversely his nomination of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina for the Sanford vacancy on the Supreme court of the United States.

Three Republicans who are ordinarily identified with the administration, including Senator Charles S. Deneen [Rep., Ill.], whose support of the Hoover world court program was considered an important factor in his recent defeat for renomination, voted against Judge Parker. The other two were Senators Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.] and Frederick Steiwer [Rep., Ore.].

The Negro issue was the cause of the defection of the administration followers. Labor's opposition accounted for the votes of the radicals on the committee.

Fight May Be to Finish.

Sentiment in the committee is regarded as fairly representative of that in the senate and as matters now stand rejection of Judge Parker's nomination is considered probable. President Hoover, it was learned, has no intention of withdrawing the nomination and is determined to carry the fight to the finish.

If Judge Parker's nomination is rejected by the senate it is unlikely that President Hoover will select another southerner for this particular vacancy.

Before voting adversely on the Parker nomination the judiciary committee voted 4 to 10 against a motion to invite Judge Parker to appear to explain his attitude on labor and on Negro suffrage. Senator Deneen was one of the four voting for this motion.

The Negro issue formed the principal topic of discussion at today's meeting of the committee. The position of those who voted against Judge Parker because of this issue was that his reported statement as Republican nominee for governor in 1920 raised a question as to his willingness to uphold the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the federal constitution. In view of his failure to modify or explain his attitude the senators were unwilling to place themselves on record for him.

Remarks Are Quoted.

The remarks which Judge Parker is credited to have made in 1920 were in his speech of acceptance of the gubernatorial nomination and were intended to refute reports that the Republicans in North Carolina were planning to organize the Negroes in support of his candidacy.

"The Negro as a class does not desire to enter politics," said Judge Parker at that time. "The Republican party of North Carolina does not desire him to do so. We recognize the fact that he has not yet reached that stage in his development when he can share the burdens and responsibilities of government.

"I say it deliberately, there is no more dangerous or contemptible enemy of the state than men who for personal or political advantages will attempt to kindle the flame of racial prejudice or hatred. The participation of the Negro in politics is a source of evil and danger to both races and is not desired by the wise men in either race or by the Republican party of North Carolina."

Labor Decision Cited.

The opposition of organized labor was based on Judge Parker's decision in a West Virginia coal miners' case in which he is accused of having approved the so-called "yellow dog" contract.

The six who voted for a favorable report on Judge Parker's confirmation were Senators F. H. Gillett [Mass.], C. W. Waterman [Colo.], Felix Hebert [R. I.], and D. O. Hastings [Del.], Republicans, and L. S. Overman [N. C.] and H. D Stephens [Miss.] Democrats.

The ten who voted to report the nomination adversely were Senators Deneen, Robinson, and Steiwer and G. W. Norris [Neb.], W. E. Borah [Idaho], and John J. Blaine [Wis.], Republicans, and H. F. Ashurst [Ariz.], T. J. Walsh [Mont.], C. C. Dill [Wash.], and T. H. Caraway [Ark.].

Texas Prison Is Crowded; Limits New Prisoners

Sherman, Tex., April 21.—(AP)—State penitentiary officials today authorized acceptance of a limited number of prisoners. Recently they refused to accept new prisoners until the prison population had been reduced, saying the crowded condition of the penitentiary made serious riots possible.

A New Era

Chicago, despite its great population and wealth, is an extremely young city. It still has problems to solve; it still has difficulties to overcome. Were this not so its growth would be completed. Our problems are actually the best assurance of continued growth and expansion. Would you have prosperity in this new era now unfolding? Remember: Land is the basis of all wealth.

TERMS OF NEW CAR FRANCHISE MADE PUBLIC

Council Committee to Get Plan Today.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The draft of the proposed indeterminate franchise to a new local transportation company has been completed and printed. It will be presented by the Bowler subcommittee to the council local transportation committee in special session this morning. The franchise ordinance provides for a transportation company which will merge the surface and elevated lines, operate city owned subways in the central business district, and feeder buses in the outlying territory and extend service to all Illinois suburbs within 30 miles of Chicago.

The franchise promises more tracks, more cars, more speed and other improvements which engineers predict will more than double the rapid transit service and add substantially to the surface facilities. The new company will pledge $200,000,000 in extensions and betterments, while the city promises a minimum of $85,000,000 in subway construction.

Speed Depends on City.

The speed with which the improved service is obtained is primarily dependent upon the city. While the city promises in the ordinance to proceed diligently with subway building, it has not tied itself down to completion within a specified period within 10 years. The new company is obligated to complete its extensions and additions only when the subways are finished. The exception to this general declaration is that the company will build extensions which are not dependent for full operative service upon subways before the subways are finished.

There are few, if any, rapid transit lines, except the west side midcity trunk, which are not dependent upon subways for effective operation. It seems probable, according to students of the transit situation who have read the ordinance, that the city's representatives will be forced, in the transportation committee, to make a more definite promise as to when they will supply the city's shares of the new transit facilities.

"Working Capital" Provision.

Another surprise feature of the text, according to those who have examined it, is a possible addition of "working capital" to the agreed valuation of the surface and elevated lines in the merger. It was decided last summer that the surface lines should be put in the consolidation at a valuation of $164,942,063 and the elevated properties at $95,500,000, a total of $260,442,063. To this sum, it was agreed shall be added such capital investments as may have been made between last summer and the effective date of the ordinance. The ordinance draft permits the regulatory commission to add a sum for "working capital."

The franchise is to be operative until the properties are purchased by the city or by its permitee at a premium of 10 per cent during the first 10 years, with a decrease of 1 per cent in premium for each year of the second 10 year period. After the first 20 years the city may designate a permitee to buy at capitalization.

In Hands of Commission.

The enforcement of the ordinance, with supervision over the rates, service, return to the company, and capitalization, is placed in the hands of a local transit commission of three members to be appointed by the mayor with the approval of the city council. In addition, the city may take direct action by appeal to the courts through mandamus, injunction, or other proceeding.

The initial fares are to remain as at present on both the surface and elevated lines. There will be free transfers on the elevated as at present, as well as on the surface lines. For a transfer from the surface lines to the elevated there will be a charge of 3 cents, while there will be no charge for a transfer from the elevated to the surface lines. The ordinance, it is said, provides for getting from any point within the city to another for a maximum charge of 7 cents on the surface lines and a maximum of 10 cents where both surface and elevated lines are utilized.

No Time Limit Set.

Because the bankers insisted that a clause providing that fares should not be increased for three years would interfere with the acquisition of new capital, there is no provision in the ordinance stipulating how long the present fares shall continue; but it is understood that the bankers are opposed to a fare increase unless such action is absolutely necessary, and in no event until there has been a large increase in trans facilities.

The return to the new company is to be "fair and reasonable," according to the draft, but for the first three years is not to be more than the rate earned in 1929. The designers of the draft look upon this as a brake upon a fare boost, for three years at least. Any earnings above a fair and reasonable return, as determined by the local commission, must be turned over to the city as extra compensation.

The compensation to be paid the city will be 3 per cent of the gross receipts including income from advertising and concessions in stations. While this is to be paid annually, it is to draw interest while in the hands of the company, and to be computed and compounded quarterly. This compensation is junior to operating expenses, interest on bonded indebtedness, sinking funds for bonds, debentures and dividends on preferred stock; but the city compensation is cumulative.

City representatives have reckoned that 3 per cent of the gross will be more than the city now receives in 55 per cent of the net income of the surface lines. Under the new plan the city's compensation includes rental for the subway.

To Prevent Idle Money.

An effort has been made in this ordinance, according to those who have read it, to prevent transportation money lying idle. Both the city and the company are required to invest surplus or temporarily unneeded funds in choice bankers' acceptances, such as would be received at the federal Reserve bank, in general obligations of the city, state, county and federal governments, or in bonds of the new company. This provision is not a part of any other local utility franchise.

The transit trustee, who is to be in reality the head of a bank with a minimum capital of $2,000,000, is said to have been allotted considerable space in the new ordinance. This trustee will be the custodian of the city's present transit fund of $61,000,000, and also of the compensation paid to the city.

He is required to make three kinds of disbursements before paying for expenses of subway construction. First, he must pay the expense of the local transit commission, then his own compensation, then the expenses of the city in enforcing the ordinance. Thereafter follow cost of subways, repair of subways, transit costs of street improvements placed upon the city, then any more subway costs which may be ordered by the city, and finally the cost of purchase of the transportation properties.

On Division of Costs.

The new company will pave between its tracks, repair the pavement, and clear away snow. The cost of relocating tracks because of street widening or similar improvements is to be allotted between the city and company by the transit commission. The cost of adjusting city water mains and sewers is to be borne by the company.

It is specifically agreed that the company shall not be required to lay any permanent tracks in any street until the water, sewer, and other underground utilities have been installed. After the first 10 year period, the company agrees to make any extension of tracks and facilities which the city council may ask, if the transit commission rules that these will serve public convenience.

Requires Pension System.

A new feature in this franchise, as compared with other local permits, is the requirement that the new company shall establish such a pension system as it and its employés shall agree upon. If they fail to agree, then the commission shall decide what shall be done. Until this is provided the company is to make provision for old employés who are unable to work and who need assistance. In addition the company must establish a life and health insurance system for employés.

Back on Job

New York, April 21.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who with Mrs. Lindbergh spent Easter Sunday establishing a new transcontinental speed record crossing the continent from Los Angeles to New York in 14 hours and 45 minutes, today threw himself into his business affairs.

In the afternoon he visited the offices of the Pan-American Airways, where he was closeted with Juan T Trippe, president of the company, and other officials. The nature of their conference was not made public. Col. Lindbergh is technical adviser to Pan-American, and such matters as new routes through the Latin Americas schedules, and the purchase of new equipment are within the province of his work.

REPEAL DRY ACT, WOMAN SAYS IN CONGRESS RACE

New York, April 21.—[Special.]—Representative Ruth B. Pratt opened her campaign for Republican reëlection from the Seventeenth congressional district tonight at a dinner in her honor at the Astor hotel with an aggressive declaration in favor of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. She added that in the interest of temperance and termination of corruption and disrespect for law she also favored such modification of the prohibition statutes as might aid those ends pending repeal of the amendment.

Mrs Pratt said it was too early to discuss partisan issues. She touched on no other subject than prohibition, which she described as a nonpartisan question so far as the Republican and Democratic parties are concerned in her district. Her declaration, however, is expected to become one of her major pleas for reëlection.

BEETLES RAVAGE 1,200 YEARS OLD ENGLISH CHURCH

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 21.—The ancient parish church at West Grinstead, Essex, more than 1,200 years old, is suffering from the ravages of the death watch beetle. The Rev. R. W. Doyle, the rector, said today that continuous worship had been conducted there longer than in any other church in the country.

The walls of the church are of split oak hewn from a virgin forest 12 centuries or more ago. "They stand as firm today as then," said the rector, "but what wars, man, and the elements have failed to do the death watch bettle is beginning to accomplish."

FAHERTY SEEKS SPEED IN MOVING BACK BUILDINGS

Letters were sent yesterday to property owners along the unfinished portions of the improvements on Ashland and Western avenues and La Salle street by Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, requesting them to start immediately to move back their buildings from the land to be taken by the city in widening those thoroughfares. Payment can be made to them for the land on July 1, he said, if they can show his department that the land has been vacated.

The widening will be done by the board on Ashland avenue from Diversey boulevard to Lake street and between 33d and 47th streets; on Western avenue between Fullerton and Ogden avenues, and on La Salle street between Kinzie and North Clark streets. If the property owners proceed with the moving of the buildings, Faherty said, he will be able to finish the widening and paving this year.

JUDGE REUNITES PROFESSOR AND ESTRANGED WIFE

Joseph M. Synnerdahl, former professor of mathematics and astronomy at Loyola university, and his wife, Mrs. Ethel Kesner Synnerdahl, were reconciled yesterday by Superior Judge Sabath. Synnerdahl, who served five days in the county jail on a contempt of court sentence imposed by Superior Judge Gentzel, appeared in court on his wife's insistence that he be sent to jail again for failure to turn over clothes belonging to her.

"Do you love your wife?" Judge Sabath asked.

"I do," Synnerdahl replied. "Even though she had me serve five days in jail I love her."

When Mrs. Synnerdahl said she loved her husband, the judge took the couple into his chambers. Synnerdahl came out an hour later and announced that his wife's divorce action would be dropped.

Lake Forest Orders First of Modern Street Lights

A step towards eliminating Lake Forest's shady lanes, of which the villagers had long been proud, was taken last night when the village council appropriated $100,000 for construction of one section of a $500,000 ornamental lighting system. Until the attack a year ago on Miss Edna Kelly, sister of Ald. Leslie Kelly, the aldermen and their constituents had been almost unanimously opposed to scrapping the antique gas lights, which have stood since the founding of the village.

Taxpayers May Receive First 1928 Bills Early Next Week

The first of Cook county's 1928 tax bills will be out by May 1. All bills will be in the hands of the taxpayers by May 15. This was assured yesterday by County Clerk Sweitzer after the board of review reported that it will complete its share of work on the reassessment this afternoon. The bills will be the first taxpayers have received in two years.

County Clerk Sweitzer's announcements were made at a meeting of county and tax officials in his office to formulate plans to insure collection of taxes by July 1, when the $74,000,000 rescue fund raised by the Strawn citizens' committee will have been exhausted. The county clerk said that his office would need about eighteen hours to fix the tax rate after the last of the books are in his hands.

Will Start Extensions

With the rate fixed the process of extension for a portion of the city will be completed by next Saturday. Other towns would follow in rapid order, he said. Otto C. Woerter, chief clerk for the county treasurer, declared that if the first town is turned over to his office Saturday, he will have the first bills out by next Monday. Thus the pledge of May 1 gives officials three days of grace.

The estimate made by officials is three weeks earlier than the previous set date of May 23. If the program is followed through the bulk of taxes will be collected by June 15, two weeks before the rescue fund is exhausted.

The board of review yesterday afternoon released figures showing increases in assessed valuation of land on the fifty-eight loop properties found to be underassessed by its land committee. The total represents approximately $22,000,000 in assessed valuation. The properties, involving 142 separate items, were all named in the complaint of the board of education as underassessed.

The committee recommended the increase two weeks ago in square foot values. These values were interpreted into assessed valuation yesterday. The following table lists some of the properties and gives the assessors and board of review valuations as the increase:

SEPARATE H. S. IN LAKE FOREST WINS APPROVAL

An order creating a separate high school district for Lake Forest and divorcing the town from the Deerfield-Shields township High school district was signed last night by T. Arthur Simpson, superintendent of Lake county schools. The action will enable Lake Forest to proceed with its plans for erecting its own high school, as soon as a board of education is elected. Under the statute by which the school district was created, the election must be called within 30 days.

A high school to cost $250,000 and to be completed in time for the opening of the school in September, 1931, has been planned. Until the building is completed, Lake Forest children will continue to attend the Deerfield-Shields school at Highland Park.

GOVERNOR MAY LIMIT ASSEMBLY TO THREE TOPICS

Wants Amendment for "Real Reform."

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Gov. L. L. Emmerson indicated last night, after a day of conferences, that if he convenes the legislature in special session he favors limiting the call to three chief items. They are:

1. A constitutional amendment which the governor declares is the "first step towards real revenue reform."

2. Budgetary legislation to establish control over expenditures and to limit temporary borrowings by tax spending bodies.

3. Financial relief aimed to liquidate unsecured floating indebtedness of Chicago. Also to ease the strain when, due to the delayed assessment, two years' taxes may fall into one year, one proposition being to spread the burden over five years or more through a tax collection every nine or ten months instead of every 12 months.

Emmerson Meets Strawn.

The governor had a brief talk with Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the citizens' rescue committee. Mr. Strawn said his committee would meet Wednesday afternoon to consider a program which will then be transmitted to the governor, Gov. Emmerson takes the position that if the call for the special session is too elaborate the special session would perhaps prove unproductive.

He repeated his original declaration that he is ready to call an extraordinary session if "a practical and feasible program" is laid before him and expressed the view that if the call were to embrace items such as an overhauling of the tax system and a rearrangement of the assessment machinery, the session would get so entangled in controversy and would not get far. In other words, the governor's view is that the special session and the call should be short and snappy.

Governor Tells Attitude.

"Any one who knows the legislature," remarked Gov. Emmerson, "knows it would be useless to overload a special session with complex legislation which belongs in a regular session. Matters of relief can be presented to a special session with prospects of action, but if the call is overloaded action would be doubtful. The essential thing at present is financial relief and control of expenditures."

Mr. Strawn for some time has taken the position that relief should embrace a revision of the Cook county assessing machinery.

Senator Arthur A. Huebsch, chairman of the revenue investigating committee of the legislature, who also called upon the governor, declared that his committee would not have a report to submit until the legislature meets, as it is a creation of that body. The general understanding is that the report will take the same view as Gov. Emmerson and will advocate an amendment of the revenue article of the constitution.

Fisher Presents Plan.

Judge Harry M. Fisher of the judicial advisory council of Cook county dropped in on the governor to present the "gateway" amendment favored by the joint judicial advisory councils of Illinois and Cook county.

This would amend the amending clause of the constitution to permit, among other things, the amendment of three articles at a time instead of only one as now, adoption of an amendment by a majority of those voting on the proposal instead of a majority of all voting at the election as now, and the submission of amendments at a special election at the will of the legislature. The governor said he would take the "gateway" under consideration, but made it plain that his intention is to ask for a revenue amendment in the call, if issued.

One subject discussed in the conferences was the proposal for a bond issue of $50,000,000 or thereabouts, without a referendum, to meet immediate needs of Chicago and Cook county. One question asked by the governor is whether Cook county members would vote for a bond bill without referendum.

Last night the governor and Mrs. Emmerson were guests at a dinner at the Chicago Women's club, at which the governor reiterated the utterances on taxation which he made at the Rotary club luncheon a week ago.

Club Women Hear Governor in Plea for New Tax Laws

Gov. Emmerson last night addressed the members of the Chicago Woman's club at the dinner marking the first anniversary of the dedication of the new clubhouse at 62 East 11th street. He criticized the state's system of taxation as antiquated and gave a glowing commendation to women in politics, ecpecially Illinois women.

"We are desperately in need of some legislation that will give us a 1930 model instead of the antiquated tax machine we have been riding in since 1818," he declared.

"Penalty on Honesty."

"I have been told that it may mean political suicide to try to put through a change in the present tax raising system, which actually puts a penalty on honesty and a premium on dishonesty. But I propose to see what can be done about it.

"I would like to drive home to you this fact. Our revenue section in our state constitution dates back to the day when nearly every one lived on farms, and when real estate constituted about nine-tenths of our property. Today real estate actually produces only ten per cent of the income of our people, and yet real estate is today paying ninety per cent of our taxes. A constitutional amendment is necessary to enable us to reform our tax law."

Refers to Woman's Victory.

In tendering his respects to the women of the state, Gov. Emmerson stated that the "Republican voters of Illinois have paid the women the finest tribute possible in showing by an unprecedented majority, their trust in the ability of a woman, creditably to represent the state in the United States senate."

"I refer," he continued, "to the nomination of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick as the Republican party's candidate for United States senator. While nothing is further from my mind than injecting a discussion of politics into this gathering, her wonderful success has induced me to change the general theme of my remarks from problems of governmental administration to a discussion of the accomplishments of women of today in the home and in civic life, in politics and in business."

64 Year Old Duchess Off on Return Flight to London

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

CAPETOWN, April 21.—[Special.]—The Duchess of Bedford left the Maitland airdrome at dawn today on her return flight to London, expecting to land at Croydon April 29. The duchess, who is 64, left Lympne eleven days ago to fly 18,000 miles to Capetown and return. She arrived at the cape in her monoplane Spider piloted by Capt. Barnard Saturday night and hopes to do the return journey via Aleppo and Sofia even quicker than the nine and one-half days taken for the outward trip.

TAXPAYER'S SUIT ASKS ACCOUNTING OF CANAL FUNDS

A taxpayer's suit for an accounting of funds alleged to have been spent fraudulently by the trustees of the sanitary district during 1927 and 1928 was filed yesterday in the Superior court. The action, brought in five bills, aims to force a restitution of the funds to the district.

The bills were filed in behalf of the Chicago Daily News. The suit is similar to the action brought by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE against city officials and real estate experts. This suit is now pending in the Supreme court.

The suits were filed by the law firm of Fisher, Boyden, Bell, Boyd & Marshall, with Frank J. Loesch as associate counsel. Thirty-one defendants are named in the five bills, but all are not named in each bill. No sum is set as the amount to be restored, but the bills demand the return of various minimum sums totaling approximately $15,000,000.

4 CITY EXPERTS TAKE $14,800 PAY IN TAX WARRANTS

Voucher Total for March Is $38,706.

A new method of paying for the personal services of city hall experts was revealed yesterday in the March voucher list sent to the city council by City Controller Schmidt. Four persons, the list showed, accepted payment in 1930 tax anticipation warrants in lieu of cash. The bills paid were for services rendered last year.

The total paid during March to experts and to regular city employés who are paid by voucher totaled $38,706. The regular employés were paid in cash received from the citizens' committee and some of the experts who work on street improvements were paid in cash out of the street improvement bond funds. The amount paid in tax anticipation warrants was $14,800.

The larger bills paid, most of which were contracted by the city last year, are as follows:

LEGAL.

J. G. Drennan	$5,625	A. H. Veeder	$2,000
Ed. C. Higgins	3,825	H. M. Sharpe	1,335
Haight, Adcock & Banning	3,700	W. T. Crilly	1,320
B. F. Goldstein	3,700	Roy N. Lesch	1,200

REAL ESTATE VALUATORS.

R. C. Harris	$5,400	G. M. Posner	$2,200
Harry Goldstine	2,200	Eli Goldstine	700

The county received $310,000 for employés' salaries for the last two weeks in April and $36,000 for bonds and interest falling due May 1 from the citizens' committee. Last week the committee turned over to the county $535,000 for salaries for the first two weeks in April. The city will receive its next allotment of money on May 7, according to word sent to Controller Schmidt.

2 WOMEN, 4 MEN SEIZED IN HUNT FOR GANG KILLER

Roche Says He Has Gun Used in Slaying 3.

For more than eight hours yesterday and last night Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, held possession of a flat at 3011 North Halsted street, compelling the man and woman living there to answer all telephone calls and admit all comers as if nothing were amiss.

At 11 o'clock last night Roche had bagged six prisoners, including the woman occupant of the flat and another, and had also discovered a revolver which, he asserted, had apparently been used by the killer who shot to death three henchmen of Al Capone, singlehanded, early Sunday in a saloon at 2900 South Wells street.

Prisoners Are Listed.

The prisoners are Mrs. Ellen Corozzo, 26 years old, 2900 South Wells street; Mrs. Antoinette Bowen, 23 years old, living at the raided flat; Frank Del Bano, alias Dale, arrested a week ago with a sawed-off shotgun and scheduled for arraignment this morning; Frank Cairo, described as a robber with a record; Paul Ternino and Ted Patterson, both gunmen, according to Roche. They were held incommunicado at the state's attorney's office.

Roche said that Del Bano was the owner of the pistol, which he is confident was the one used in the triple killing. Del Bano was freed from the Missouri penitentiary at Jefferson City seven months ago after serving five years for murder.

Hints Firearm Evidence.

Earlier in the day Roche raided Capone's quarters in the Lexington hotel in the hope of finding some direct clew connecting the Capone gang with the murders of Walter L. Wakefield, Frank Delre, and Joseph Special, slain in the Wells street saloon. No revolvers were found in Capone's hotel rooms, but Roche said he found records showing the Capone gang's profits in vice resorts throughout the country, as well as figures believed to represent dog race track profits.

Roche's chief purpose in both raids was to find firearms to be turned over to Col. Calvin Goddard, ballistic expert, who would make tests in identifying the gun used in slaying the three men who were henchmen of City Sealer Dan Serritella, the Capone boss of the First ward, as well as Republican ward committeeman and nominee for state senator.

Although no guns were found in the Lexington, a large quantity of ammunition was taken by Lieut. William Blaul. He searched the entire second floor, which has been used by Capone and his corps of bodyguards. One man was arrested, Joseph Corngold, who was taken to the state's attorney's office for questioning about Capone's activities prior to his departure last week for his Palm Island estate at Miami, Fla. Later he was released.

Admits Meeting of Union.

Roche was coöperating with the police in seeking data regarding the reported intention of Wakefield to terrorize his way into control of the Bread, Crackers, Yeast and Pie Wagon Drivers' union. William Lee, president and business agent of the union, admitted there had been a meeting of his union Saturday night, but said he did not know Wakefield and that if Wakefield was present at the meeting it was without the knowledge of the president.

Capt. William Stapleton of the Pekin Inn station learned that the saloon was opened by Wakefield and Delre without the formality of having a soft drink parlor license. On Sunday he had been told that Sergt. Grover Gormely had seen the license.

Capt. Stapleton questioned Miss Lillian Jones, 7005 Chappel avenue, who said she was Wakefield's fiancée. She said Wakefield was employed by "Steady" Looney as a seller of "Ulcicure," claimed to be a cure for stomach ulcers. She knew he was starting in the saloon business, she stated, and Wakefield had spoken of troubles to come, but she was unable to give a hint of the identity of the slayer. Wakefield had ambitions to be business agent of a union, she told the captain.

Coroner Bundesen had visited the saloon shortly after being notified of the three murders and he had called an inquest for yesterday afternoon. But Capt. Stapleton requested time to make investigation and the inquest was therefore postponed to April 30.

Capone's acquisition of the plumbers' union, "lock, stock and barrel," was blamed yesterday for the loss to Chicago of the international headquarters of the United Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters, which for years was located at Dearborn and Division streets. After Capone put William [Billygoat] Taglia in command of the union, the association headquarters contained too much "heat," members said, and the building was sold and the offices moved to Washington.

Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee, announced yesterday he would call a meeting to discuss the proposed plumbing bureau ordinance for April 29. His decision, however, was contingent, he said, on a favorable report by Commissioner of Public Works Richard Wolfe.

Pick 4 Jurors for Murder Trial of Former Deputy

Four jurors were chosen yesterday in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan to try William Klarkowski, of Waukegan, former deputy sheriff, on a charge of murder. Klarkowski is accused of killing Douglas E. Steuber of Waukegan in a brawl outside a Waukegan restaurant on Jan. 13. The entire venire of jurymen was exhausted at the first session of the trial yesterday and Judge Edward D. Shurtleff ordered a special venire of 50 men summoned for this morning.

DENIES DIRECTED VERDICT IN TAX TRIAL OF CAPONE

Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday overruled a motion of defense counsel for a directed verdict in the trial of Ralph J. Capone for fraud in connection with income tax delinquencies.

Attorney Dennis M. Kellogg had moved to quash the government's principal indictments which charge Capone with fraud in connection with an offer in compromise. It was argued that the fraud statute requires the securing of money from the government, and could not apply to claims of the government.

The defense called three witnesses, A. P. Madden, C. W. Herrick and Charles W. Arndt, all internal revenue officials who had testified for the government. Few questions were asked, pending the obtaining of additional records.

FATHER WHO PUT DEFORMED SON IN RIVER GETS LIFE

Mandan, N. D., April 21.—(AP)—Admitting he had thrown his 4 year old deformed son into a river and then watched the boy's struggles until he had vanished under water, Gus Reinhold, 40, a farmer living near Stanton, today was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor.

Reinhold, the father of six other children, the oldest 13, pleaded guilty to a first degree murder charge filed by State's Attorney John Moses of Mercer county. Moses said the farmer had confessed to drowning the baby two weeks ago in the Knife river near Beulah.

No motive was given for the crime in the confession, Moses said, but when Reinhold came before Judge H. L. Berry he declared liquor had "got the best" of him.

HOOVER WARNS CONGRESS AGAIN ON EXPENDITURE

Writes Letters to Leaders in Both Houses.

Washington, D. C., April 21.—[Special.]—President Hoover today again voiced a warning that any substantial increase in appropriations by congress beyond the budget estimates would be certain to result in a treasury deficit in the next fiscal year.

In letters received by Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.] and Representative William R. Wood [Rep., Ind.], chairmen, respectively, of the appropriations committees of the two houses, the President emphasized his concern over the possibility of a deficit, pointing out that if congress does not curb its appropriations the treasury will, in all probability, close its books on June 30, 1931, very much in the red.

Fears Extra Expenditures.

Chairman Wood said tonight that the President was not uneasy over appropriations in the regular supply bills but that he was fearful that extraordinary expenditures might be authorized in a number of miscellaneous measures that are now under way.

The budget estimates called for appropriations of $3,830,445,231, which is $143,696,000 less than the amount made available for the current fiscal year. Chairman Wood said that the supply bills already passed called for expenditures of 850 million dollars in addition to the fixed charges on the government. The 850 million dollars allowance, he said, was well within the budget estimates. All of the supply bills with the exception of the one carrying funds of the naval establishment have been passed by the house. It will not exceed the budget estimates, house leaders say.

Supplements Past Warnings.

The President's letter placed directly before the committee chairmen the economy warning he has sounded on two previous occasions since congress has been in session, the last on April 4 when he issued a formal statement expressing gratification over income tax collections, but asserting that both the legislative and executive departments would have to coöperate in a saving program if a deficit is to be avoided during the next fiscal year.

"Since the budget figures were submitted, legislation enacted at the present session of congress has imposed a burden of additional expenditures amounting to $30,000,000 during the next fiscal year," said the President in his April 4 statement.

"The major difficulty in prospect, however, arises from the fact that bills already favorably reported by congressional committees if enacted into law would entail an additional expenditure of nearly 300 million dollars next fiscal year and as far as we can see today inevitably result in a deficit. The situation clearly calls for most rigid economy and deferment of even otherwise justifiable expenditures by both the legislative and executive departments."

FATHER, 70, SAYS HE KILLED WOMAN TO END MISERY

Charles Cutler, 70 year old chef of 908 South State street, shuffled into Pekin Inn police station last night and confessed having killed his daughter, Mary, 35 years old, who was asphyxiated on March 11, 1925, in a flat at 35 East 22d street. A coroner's jury had pronounced her death a suicide.

"I did it to end her suffering," Cutler told Capt. William Stapleton. "While she was asleep that morning I turned on the gas jets, closed the door, and went off to work. When I returned in the evening I found her dead and I notified the police, telling them about her illness.

"She carried a $750 insurance policy. I spent $200 of it to bury her and the rest went for doctors' bills. Five years is a long time to carry such a secret and I guess my conscience gave me more trouble after her death than her misery did before it. So, I've come in to tell you about it."

Cutler, who has been out of work for several months, was held without being booked.

SOVETSKY, 'KING OF FENCES,' IS FOUND GUILTY

Convicted of Receiving Stolen Goods.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Alex Gordon, attempted confidence game, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Dell Pievo and Kenneth Pievo, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Otto Kerner.

William Miller, Pete Resko, Ray Schraeder, and Bennie Chonski, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Philip Finnegan.

Raymond Austin, crime against nature, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Alex Gogoski, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory by Judge John P. McGoorty.

John Sovetsky, known as the "millionaire fence"—but who is now said to be nearly penniless due to his costly court fights—was convicted yesterday of receiving stolen property. A jury in Judge John P. McGoorty's Criminal court found him guilty. He faces a term of 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary if the conviction is upheld. A motion for a new trial will be argued on May 10.

Sovetsky was convicted on Dec. 2, 1925, but the Supreme court later decided that he was entitled to a new trial because the search warrant in the case was illegal. The question of a search warrant figures in the present case and at the start of the trial Judge McGoorty was inclined to rule it from the evidence because of the findings of the Supreme court in the previous case. However, he finally allowed Assistant State's Attorney C. E. Lounsbury and Owen West to introduce the warrant.

Ready for Appeal Fight.

Attorneys W. W. Smith and Milton Smith, who for five years have been counsel for Sovetsky, indicated that an appeal from the present conviction will be carried to the Supreme court, if necessary, even though their client had lost most of his reported wealth.

The charge on which Sovetsky was convicted yesterday was one of receiving $5,000 worth of merchandise stolen from the Marks Express company motor trucks several years ago.

Sovetsky's activities first came to public notice when Wisconsin authorities tried to take him to Green Bay to face charges of receiving loot stolen from stores in that city. Len Small, who was then governor, refused to grant extradition because the Wisconsin authorities could not show that the defendant ever had been in that state.

Crime Commission Acts.

The Chicago crime commission, through Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director, took an interest in the case and pushed the prosecution, as did Sergt. William Balswick of the detective bureau.

Sovetsky has been through three trials and part of another this year. In one he was acquitted, in another the jury disagreed, in the third a mistrial was declared after the trial was nearly completed, and in the fourth he was finally convicted.

IGOE URGES U. S. TO BUILD P. O. ON FIELD SITE

Congressman James T. Igoe left for Washington yesterday to urge government officials not to abandon the original site proposed for Chicago's new postoffice in favor of an air rights site over the Union station tracks between Van Buren and Harrison streets.

The change in plans not only would mean a serious loss on the purchase three years ago of the Marshall Field site at Canal, Harrison, Clinton and Polk streets, but would disrupt the city plan ambitions, particularly the Congress street development, according to Congressman Igoe.

The Association of Commerce postal committee announced yesterday that it would take no stand as to the location of the new postoffice.

Offers Reward for Capture of Small Boy's Kidnapers

Mrs. Elizabeth Littler, superintendent of the Chicago Home for the Friendless, 5059 Vincennes avenue, yesterday offered a reward of $100 for the capture of the kidnapers of Peter Kok, 4 years old, a ward of the home, who disappeared on March 23.

CHICAGO LESSOR INVITES PROBE ON POSTAL LEASES

Dealings with U. S. Above Board, Kulp Says.

"All dealings we have had with the government have been open and above board, and the records are subject to inspection at any time." Jacob Kulp, head of the investment house which bears his name, at 33 South La Salle street, made this statement when asked yesterday for a statement in regard to the demand for an investigation in Washington into the leasing of postal substations.

Mr. Kulp offered to explain in detail the workings of his company, which has been attacked by Representative Maas and Senators Nye and Blaine, who have urged the investigation of postal station leases.

Statement by Lessor.

"The government leases 6,000 postal substations and pays an annual rental of $18,700,000," said Mr. Kulp. "Bonds outstanding on substations leased to the government total more than $150,000,000, and the Jacob Kulp company has issued less than $5,000,000 of these bonds."

Although Mr. Kulp declined to state how many substations he has leased to the government, the company is said to have more than 25 such leases throughout the country. Senator Nye referred to a lease at St. Paul as "stinking to high heaven." Station D at 512 South Western avenue and the Quincy street station were leased from the Kulp company.

Bids Are Competitive.

K. P. Aldrich, chief postal inspector, whose department receives bids and makes recommendations to the postmaster general, said that such bids always were accepted on a competitive basis and the lowest bidder usually obtained the lease. He expressed the opinion that no irregularities have marked the leasing of Chicago substations.

KILLS HIS FORMER BUSINESS PARTNER, THEN ENDS OWN LIFE

Harry Brown, 45 years old, 6620 South Campbell avenue, walked into the grocery of his former partner, George Boukouyous, 32 years old, at 1541 West 63d street, yesterday afternoon, and drew a pistol. "That for you, George," he said, as he fired two shots which killed Boukouyous instantly. Then Brown fired a bullet into his own temple and fell dead.

AROUND six years of age a child cuts four teeth which directly affect the shape of her face. They are called the six-year molars. Don't let your child neglect these important molars — or any of her baby teeth. The health of her permanent teeth depends largely upon the care given her first teeth.

Thousands of mothers consider Squibb's Dental Cream the finest dentifrice for children. It contains no grit, no astringents, nothing to injure the gums or teeth. And because it contains 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, it renders harmless the germ acids which are the cause of tooth decay. Ask your dentist about the six-year molars. He will probably tell you, at the same time, to use Squibb's Dental Cream.

MUSSOLINI PUTS SELF IN CHARGE OF INDUSTRIES

Aims to Co-ordinate Italy's Capital and Labor.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 21.—Invoking the city's 2,684 years of history, Premier Mussolini celebrated Rome's birthday anniversary today by inaugurating his new national council of corporations, composed of 126 members, with Il Duce as president. The council is to be Italy's governing economic oligarchy.

Rome and all Italy observed the Eternal City's anniversary as Labor day. Contrasting to May day celebrations in other European capitals, Labor day here was the quietest festival of the year. Public meetings and speeches were banned, and the festivities took the form of inaugurating public works and a choral demonstration of 6,000 school children singing patriotic songs.

Take Oath of Office.

While no newspapers were printed in Rome, Vatican City, emphasizing its extraterritoriality since the Lateran pact, brought out the pope's official organ, Osservatore Romano.

In the hall of governors on Capitoline hill, dedicated to Julius Caesar, the 126 members of the new economic council took the oath of office this morning. Many of these economic council members are already members of the chamber of deputies or other government bureaus.

Addressing an assembly of members of the government, senators, deputies and academicians who had gathered to see the inauguration, Premier Mussolini compared his new economic oligarchy to the general staff of the army. Its seven sections, he said, coördinated and synchronized the seven fields of Italian production.

"Backbone of Economic Life."

In illustrating its functions as a body to coördinate the interests of capital and labor, Premier Mussolini said the new council must become the backbone of the economic life of new Italy.

Premier Mussolini denied that the Fascist regimé in forming this council was taking any leap into the dark. He declared it was advancing ahead in economic matters with measured and precise knowledge of what it was doing.

The duce took pains to show that the new council was in conformance with the labor charter and in no wise envisaged socialistic schemes to restrict property rights or impair private initiative. He said that the council would give vitality to Fascism's coöperative and syndical system, warning at the same time that no portents or miracles must be expected from it.

Conditions Better, Duce Says.

Concluding his speech, Premier Mussolini discussed world economic conditions. He asserted that Italy's agricultural and industrial production had increased last year and that the unfavorable commercial balance had been improved. Timely measures, he said, are being taken to forestall the present economic crisis through lowered discount rates and the lifting of the restriction on exchange dealings.

Dismissing reports that the stabilization rate of the lira might be altered, Premier Mussolini declared:

"The lira is circulated throughout the world now without let or hindrance, and it has nothing to fear about its own stability."

Next year would see the disappearance of the remaining war restrictions, such as control of rents and price control, Il Duce said.

Internal Debt Being Reduced.

He spoke of the grave weight constituted by Italy's internal debt, but said the government was gradually reducing it. He said the state would punctually meet the payment of nine year short term treasury bonds which fall due soon.

The new economic council's labors will include the handling of internal immigration, or shifting of laborers from districts where they are not employed to districts where there is work.

This afternoon Il duce attended the inauguration ceremonies of several restored sections of ancient Rome, which are redolent of the times of Romulus and Remus, the traditional founders of the city. The city's ancient ruins were illuminated tonight for the reception which is being given by the governor of Rome, Prince Boncompagni.

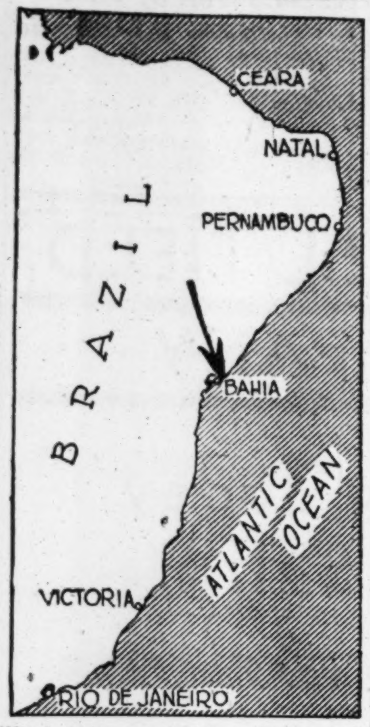
FROM BAHIA, BRAZIL

REGISTERED
REGISTERED

Letter received by Ted Schuman, 2712 Coyne street, Chicago.



This letter came to Ted Schuman of 2712 Coyne street from a Brazilian whom he has never seen. The Brazilian's name is Brigido Santiago, and he wrote to Mr. Schuman because both are members of an international correspondence club.

The writer's character and appearance remain something of a mystery to the recipient of the letter, for all Mr. Santiago tells about himself is that he speaks English, Spanish, French, Portuguese, and Italian, and that he likes picture post cards and music.

But while giving an indistinct picture of himself, he paints a colorful one of the environment in which he lives. He tells of the tropical city of Bahia, set high upon the bold headland which protects All Saints bay from the fury of Atlantic storms and makes it one of the finest harbors of the western hemisphere.

He tells of its traditions, which go back to a day in 1503 when the caravels of Americus Vespucius came sailing to those strange shores in search of the empire of the Grand Kahn, and how seven years later Diego Alvares Corra established the settlement of Soa Salvator, which today is the beautiful city of Bahia.

Bahia is a city of two sections, the lower lying at the foot of a steep rise and the upper set upon the heights which tower 270 feet above the sea. Passengers are carried between the two divisions in a hydraulic lift, but in some places the summit may be reached by climbing steep streets.

The upper is the finer, more spacious, and more populous part of the city, and it is here that the wealthier classes dwell. On one of the most prominent heights is a beautifully wooded promenade commanding a panorama of the blue Atlantic, the placid bay, and the jagged peaks of the interior.

Bahia has many picturesque public buildings, churches, and a university. Next to Rio de Janeiro, it is the most important commercial city of Brazil, doing a thriving business in sugar, cotton, tobacco, rum, hides, rosewood, coffee, cacao, and tapioca.

REPORT WOMEN ARE INDICTED IN FAKE BOND PLOT

Mrs. Lucille Drake, 40 years old, 1458 Winnemac avenue; an unidentified woman named as Mary Doe, and Henry Lasch, professional bond runner, were reported named in forgery true bills by the grand jury yesterday. According to Assistant State's Attorneys A. C. DeWitt and Charles J. Mueller, they have put over spurious bail bonds in several cases and perhaps in as many as fifteen cases.

Mrs. Drake, according to Prosecutor Mueller, used the name of Caroline Hutchins in signing a $10,000 bond for Frank Culliton, alleged confidence game operator, who has failed to appear for trial. In the same case the woman now called Mary Doe represented herself as Mrs. Alice Hughes, 1209 North La Salle street, wealthy property owner. Mrs. Hughes, it developed, signed none of the bonds to which her name is attached and had no knowledge that her name was being used.

Bonds given by three of the codefendants of Sergt. William Begley were also found to be fraudulent yesterday and they were ordered to jail when they appeared in Judge E. I. Frankhauser's court. John Dewey, one of the defendants, who confessed to the alleged extortion plot at the time, was placed on trial alone yesterday.

SHANAHAN TELLS PLANS FOR PARK PAY ROLL INQUIRY

Heads Committee Named by Governor.

An investigation of the west park board's pay roll records by a special committee appointed by Gov. Emmerson will begin in a few days, according to a statement last night by David E. Shanahan, whom the governor appointed chairman of the committee. Appointments to the committee were accepted yesterday by Shanahan, State Senator James J. Barbour, George Woodruff, banker; Rush C. Butler, lawyer, and Edward N. Hurley, business man.

Following a conference with Gov. Emmerson in Chicago yesterday, Mr. Shanahan said:

"We will begin a complete and thorough inquiry as soon as possible. As I understand it Gov. Emmerson will send me all the correspondence relative to the matter first. This will take two or three days."

Cullen Charges Padding.

James J. Cullen, a member of the board, has charged that W. R. James, president of the commission, has permitted the park's pay rolls to become overloaded with political jobholders sponsored by the city hall faction. The investigation has been requested by the board.

"I have no serious objection to the membership of the committee," Cullen said last night. "However, I think it would have been better if all the investigators were business men. There are two politicians in the group named by Gov. Emmerson.

"I am going to suggest to the other commissioners that all of us hand in our resignations to the committee before the investigation gets under way. Then if it is found that some of us are at fault the committee may ask Gov. Emmerson to accept the resignations held by them.

Wants Prosecutor Represented.

"The governor does not want to be embarrassed by asking for the resignation of any of his appointees. The state's attorney should be represented at the committee meetings. If the park officials and employés are required to testify under oath it will be a different story.

"As it is this will only result in a whitewash of the whole matter. I am not going to be bound by the committee's report."

President James, who is in St. Luke's hospital recovering from a slight illness, said, "I will be glad to coöperate with Gov. Emmerson's committee in every way, and will do anything they request of me."

He expects to leave the hospital in a few days, he said.

STABBED IN FIGHT; DIES.

Alexander Norton, colored, 29 years old, 844 North Jefferson street, died yesterday in the county hospital of knife wounds received Sunday night during a quarrel in a vacant lot at 559 West 15th street. The police are seeking Willie Quoris, also colored.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

SENATE TRAINS GUNS ON TREATY CRUISER TOTAL

Objects to Limitation on 8-Inch Type.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—[Special.]—Indications today on the eve of publication of the text of the London naval agreement, are that opposition to senate ratification of the treaty will center around the cruiser and emergency clauses of the pact. The battleship holiday section as well as the general subject of whether the United States should build up to the maximum tonnages allowed by the treaty are also expected to inspire their share of debate.

That a real fight will be made on the cruiser section, which limits the United States to eighteen 8 inch gun cruisers, was made apparent today when Chairman Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] announced his committee will attempt to have the senate attach a reservation to the pact permitting the United States to build the type of cruiser it considers best for its needs.

Against Broad Policies.

"The naval treaty," Mr. Britten said today, "sharply limits this country in building its cruiser tonnage. Our general board laid down the policy two years ago that in the future we should build only 8 inch gun cruisers of approximately 10,00 tons displacement. It formally stated in its general policy that no more small cruisers should be built.

"The pact provides that we should abandon five 8 inch gun cruisers and build ten 6 inch gun vessels of a type general board members have stated are virtually worthless for American use. The pact also provides that any nation, in case of emergency, may exceed the limit set by the treaty. Thus if Britain decided to build five light cruisers to even up French building, this country would have the right to build up to Britain in light gun cruisers but not in 8 inch gun ships.

"I am going to propose that my committee recommend that the senate amend the pact so that the United States can build whatever types of cruisers it considers best fitted for its national defense needs. This reservation would apply to regular and emergency building. We could then build all 8 inch gun cruisers if we desired."

Oppose Range Increases.

Opposition that has developed among "little navy" advocates in the house to elevating the turret guns of three American battleships to give them a range comparable to British capital ships is certain to precipitate a brisk fight, even if funds for modernizing these ships are recommended by the President. Some members of the house appropriations committee were reported today as opposed to including funds in the 1931 naval appropriation bill to begin elevating the guns on the New Mexico and Mississippi, two of the last three ships to be repaired under the modernization program.

Representative Burton L. French [Rep., Idaho], chairman of the naval subcommittee of the house appropriations committee, has not decided whether this project will be included in the naval appropriation bill. Up to a few days ago no funds for repairing these ships had been recommended by the budget, although such action had been urged by the navy.

STAGE IS ALL SET; ENVOYS TO SIGN NAVY PACT TODAY

the three-power treaty which has been reached gives proof that "the process of limitation can be carried further in the future."

"Something to Work On."

Summarizing his message, the secretary said:

"We have now before us not only a definite objective but a concrete method of going at it. There is something to work on, to get our teeth into. The hard work and constant vigilance which will translate good intentions into practical results can be accomplished by naval limitation.

"This, to me, is the significance and encouragement of the conference we have just been through."

President Hoover, in a message to the Associated Press meeting, described the results of the conference as "another great step in the maintenance of peace." He praised the Associated Press and the newspapers of the United States for their fidelity in reporting the developments of the conference, and said that this played a large part in its success.

Kind Words for Press.

"Peace is fundamentally a state of mind and a resolve of the will of the whole people," the President declared. "Therefore, the fidelity of the press representatives in reporting the course of the conference has played a large part in its success by giving all of our people an instant and comprehensive knowledge of the facts, and thus enabling the nation itself to share in these negotiations."

Frank Noyes of the Washington Star, president of the Associated Press, presided at the luncheon. Among others at the speakers' table were John W. Davis, Adolph Ochs of the New York Times, Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press; L. B. Palmer, general assistant manager of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, and H. Wickham Steed, editor of Review of Reviews and former editor of the London Times.

EVANSTON BOY, 5, ELUDES NURSE AND DROWNS IN LAKE

Johnston R. Bowman, 5 years old, son of J. A. Bowman, 585 Ingleside place, Evanston, a director of the Bowman Dairy company, was drowned yesterday in three feet of water off the shore of Lake Michigan near his home. A score of physicians, policemen, and firemen worked for two hours in a futile effort to save the child's life after he had been removed from the water.

The boy disappeared shortly after noon, eluding his mother and his nurse, Miss Elizabeth Alber, who had left him playing with a tricycle in the front yard o fthe Bowman home. After a search, the child's body was found in the lake, within sight of the Bowman residence.

The body was taken to the Evanston hospital where an operating table had been moved into the lobby in readiness for the fight to restore the boy to life, and crews working with inhalators alternated in their labors for two hours before Dr. William R. Parks finally pronounced the child dead.

FRANCE TO BUILD BATTLE CRUISER WITH 12 IN. GUNS

Plans to Rival Germany's Pocket Battleships.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—On the eve of signing the naval liminations treaty the French cabinet, it is revealed tonight, intends to proceed with minimum delay with the construction of a light battle cruiser of about 27,000 tons carrying eight 12 inch guns, and estimated to cost $20,000,000.

This decision is the result of the recent action of the German reischrat a second vessel of the Ersatz Preussen class—the pocket battleship.

Better Than German Ship.

The new French vessel will be incomparably superior in every respect to the Ersatz Preussen and practically equal in fighting power to any battle cruiser afloat with the sole exception of the British cruiser Hood.

According to the Daily Telegraph's naval correspondent, the vessel will have high pressure turbine machinery for a speed of 33 knots, massive armor protection, and anti-torpedo caissons.

Mount Guns in Fours.

As main armament she will mount eight 12 inch guns of 55 calibers, capable of elevation up to 40 degrees with a maximum range of 35,000 to 40,000 yards. These weapons, unless the design is again modified, will be housed in two quadruple turrets placed at bow and stern. There will also be eight 5.5 inch guns, eight 3.9 inch anti-aircraft weapons, and several torpedo tubes.

In the hull design advantage has been taken of the experience French naval architects have derived from such high speed ships of the Duquesne, Tourville, Colbert, Tigre and Verdun. Two or four seaplanes are also provided for.

In addition to the regular bunker accommodation, oil and fuel will be carried in double bottoms and in the anti-torpedo caissons, the total supply being such as to endow the ship with a steaming radius of at least 12,000 miles.

OCEAN OF LIQUOR IS HOMELESS AND NO PLACE TO GO

Detroit, Mich., April 21.—[Special.]—Thousands of cases of liquor stored in the 13 Essex county export docks along the Canadian side of the Detroit river must be moved by midnight tonight, Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the liquor control board of Ontario, has warned the exporters. What will become of the liquor is a question of compelling interest to the exporters, Canadian and American enforcement officials and to the hopeful American consumer. It looks like a wet night on the river.

The exporters have asked permission of the Ontario government to move the liquor back to the distilleries. If this permission is denied, it is believed the liquor will find its way into scores of cottages and homes along the water front. From these cottages, the business of rum running is expected to flourish until the supply is exhausted.

NATIONAL ORIGIN FOES IN SENATE WIN A VICTORY

Tack Rider Repealer on Pending Harris Bill.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—[Special.]—Opponents of the national origins scheme of immigration restriction won a temporary victory in the senate today when a rider repealing the provision which went into effect July 1 last was attached to the pending Harris bill which proposes to extend the quota admission system to all western hemisphere countries.

The amendment offered by Senator Peter Norbeck [Rep., S. D.] and approved by a vote of 39 to 34, would reduce the maximum annual immigration from European countries from 150,000 to 120,000, but at the same time it would restore the quotas which, in effect before enactment of the national origins provision, allowed larger percentages of the total to Germany and other nothern European countries.

Real Fight Next Winter.

Adoption of the amendment with little or no debate generally was regarded, however, as part of the strategy counted upon to defeat the Harris bill by "loading" the controversial national origins issue on to it. President Hoover recommended repeal of the provision a year ago, but the recommendation was not acted upon and there is little hope that a real fight for repeal will be undertaken until next winter.

One after another various proposals to modify the Harris bill and even to completely reorganize the immigration system by creating a commission of cabinet members to fix quotas for the various quotas within a maximum set by congress were defeated by roll call votes. The Harris, bill admittedly aimed principally at Mexican immigration, would establish quotas for Canada as well as all central and South American countries.

Following the defeat of a motion to recommit the bill to the immigration committee, Senator Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.] offered an amendment to specifically limit the proposed quota extension to Mexico.

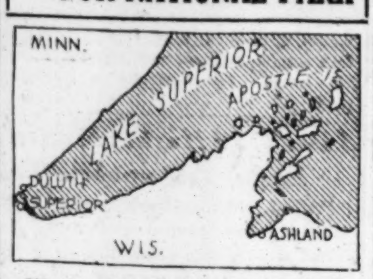
The Bingham amendment was rejected by a vote of 11 to 55 and Senator Hugo Black [Dem., Ala.] offered an amendment to establish a five year "holiday" under which all immigration, except nonquota immigrants and tourists, would be banned. In response to a suggestion by Senator C. C. Dill [Dem., Wash.] Black reduced the "holiday" period to three years, but the amendment was defeated by a vote of 29 to 37.

Defeat Allen Measure.

Then Senator H. J. Allen [Rep., Kas.], proposed as a substitute for the Harris measure an amendment to the present law, extending the quota system to western hemisphere countries, fixing the maximum annual immigration from those countries at 75,000 and providing that the quotas for the various countries in Europe as well as Central and South America should be fixed by a board consisting of the secretaries of state, labor, commerce and agriculture.

The quotas would be determined, the Kansas senator explained, by the secretaries on the basis of the needs of industry or agriculture and the result would be a selective immigration system which, he insisted, would solve the whole immigration problem. His amendment was rejected, however, by a vote of 11 to 55.

HOUSE VOTES STUDY OF APOSTLE ISLANDS FOR NATIONAL PARK



Washington, D. C., April 21.—[Special.]—A step toward the development of a national park accessible to Chicagoans was taken by the house today when it approved a bill ordering a study of the Apostle islands in Lake Superior as a national park. The bill was sponsored by Representative H. H. Peavy [Rep., Wis.].

The secretary of the interior is directed under the bill immediately to investigate and report to congress information as to the ownership, value, estimated cost to acquire, and character of the islands and his opinion as to whether they measure up to national park standards. The inquiry will be made by officials of the national park service.

The Apostle islands, a group of 20 pieces of land in the lake north of Ashland and Bayfield counties, Wisconsin, are one of five or six areas in the north woods region contemplated for national park development. The islands comprise 55,000 acres of which 1,200 now belong to the federal government. A part of the area is covered with virgin timber while other parts have been developed with summer homes, golf courses, and an air field.

BANDITS SEIZE $10,000 LOOT IN WAUKEGAN STORE

The Chicago and Waukegan police last night were seeking a gang of four bandits who practically cleaned out the stock of the Sallan jewelry store at 11 South Genesee street, Waukegan, yesterday, after two of them had bound and gagged the manager and a clerk. The loot was valued at $10,000.

Two bandits, one of whom had visited the store a week ago under the pretense of looking at engagement rings, entered the store yesterday morning and asked Simon Bing, 227 North Genesee street, Waukegan, the clerk, to show them rings. When Bing drew out a tray of diamonds, the bandit drew a gun and remarked:

"You better bring out all of them. I may meet a lot of girls who'll want to marry me."

The bandits then forced Bing and Clifford Pelton, 210 South Park avenue, Waukegan, into a washroom where they were bound and gagged. A third bandit stood guard at the door, while the pair gathered up the stock of the store and took $250 from a cash register. The fourth bandit waited at the wheel of the automobile in which they fled.

SEES HIGH U. S. OFFICIALS DRINK, MRS. SABIN SAYS

New York, April 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national chairman of the women's organization for national prohibition reform, provided a sensation for a meeting of the Harlem-New York council of women this afternoon by declaring that she had witnessed violations of the prohibition laws by some of the highest officials of the nation's government.

Doing Their Best to Get Drink.

"I have personally seen members of congress, members of state legislatures, cabinet officers, judges, and district attorneys violate the law," she told the amazed women. "Prohibition may have been a noble experiment, but it does not belong to the constitution."

"It comes down to this and everybody knows it: The federal government is saying—and is spending many millions to enforce its statement—to the people of the country: 'You can't have a drink,' and at the same time hundreds of people, many of them highly respectable in their respective communities, are doing their very best to get one."

Halt Temperance Move.

Mrs. Sabin did not identify any of the officials she said she had seen breaking the law and did not give any further details of her observations. Her declarations made in the course of a debate on prohibition with Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, president of the New York state W. C. T. U., caused some rather audible gasps of amazement and obviously aroused no little curiosity among her auditors.

Mrs. Sabin charged that prohibition had stopped the growing movement for genuine temperance in this country and had greatly increased the drinking of hard liquor in the United States, where formerly the consumption of liquor was composed of ninety-three per cent beer and wine.

Prohibition, she says, is unenforceable because it is contrary to the spirit of the constitution, an unwarranted infringement upon personal liberty and because it encourages disrespect for law and promotes the largest organized criminal class in the history of the nation.

SCHOOL REALTY DEALS DEFENDED BY RIGHEIMER

Debates Issues with Mrs. Hefferan.

A debate between Frank S. Righeimer, special attorney for the board of education, and Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, a school trustee, featured the meeting yesterday of the board's committee on buildings and grounds. Mrs. Hefferan had charged that Righeimer, in charge of condemnation matters, had paid excessive amounts for school sites.

Mrs. Hefferan objected to the price of $244,295 paid for the Waller High school addition site, at Garfield avenue, Howe, and Orchard streets. "The full valuation placed on this property, buildings included, by assessors under Harry S. Cutmore was $97,145, as compared to $244,295 which the school board paid for it," said Mrs. Hefferan. "Olcott's bluebook values the land at $100 per front foot. Our attorneys settled on a basis of $150 a front foot. How you arrived at a total of nearly one quarter million dollars I fail to understand."

Appraiser Defends Figure.

Hyde W. Perce, real estate appraiser employed by Righeimer, told the trustees, however, that the property was in a first class rooming house district and that most of the householders had realized an income of $125 a month in rentals. "Mr. Cutmore's figures are, from 25 to 75 per cent below the market value," he said.

A. W. Draper and J. W. Kunstman, real estate appraisers for the board, also defended Righeimer. Both denied that Righeimer had ever intimated to them the value which he wanted placed on any property.

Calls Matter Closed.

After ninety minutes of spirited discussion, Chairman Theophilus Schmid halted the debate with the statement thta "sufficient time has been spent on this matter."

After the meting Mrs. Heffernan said, "The subject is not closed. I still contend that we have paid an exorbitant amount for the Waller site as well as the Sayre school site."

In the discussion of the Sayre site it was brought out that the board paid $71,300 for five and one-half acres of land while another tract of seventeen acres in the same district was sold to a hospital for $32,405.

DAY SEARCH WARRANT USED IN NIGHT RAID EXCLUDED BY COURT

Palm Beach, Fla., April 21.—(AP)—A search warrant used by four federal dry agents in a raid upon the residence of George W. Moore was excluded from testimony at the trial today of Moore, charged with slaying Robert K. Moncure, one of the agents, during the raid.

Moore has claimed he resisted the agents only after they attempted to enter his home after sunset with a search warrant calling for daytime service.

Judge A. G. Hartridge ruled that "daylight," is from the rising to the setting of the sun and that prosecution counsel had admitted the agents raiding Moore's residence had attempted service of a daytime warrant after the setting of the sun.

A Statement About Small Loans by Household Finance Corporation

WE MAKE LOANS OF $100 TO $300 AT 2½% A MONTH ON UNPAID PRINCIPAL

There are classes of loans which require the rate of 3½% per month

THE Household Finance Corporation wishes to emphasize the fact that any licensed loan company making loans of less than $100, and a certain class of loans of larger amounts is, in our opinion, justified in charging the maximum rate of 3½% per month. "Household" could not afford to make loans of less than $100 at less than 3½% a month.

L. C. HARBISON, President

An OPEN BOOK on small loans $100 to $300

Here are the facts on how much you should pay when you borrow $100 to $300—2½% on unpaid principal—no more.

"How much interest should I pay when I borrow $100 to $300?" Borrowers everywhere have come to "Household" offices asking this question.

Our answer to them is the same as to you—2½% a month on the unpaid principal on loans of $100 to $300. And here are the reasons in plain words—facts which hundreds of thousands now know and appreciate—facts which are bringing hosts of borrowers to the Household Finance Corporation for amounts from $100 to $300 at 2½% interest per month:

So many people now use the better loan service the Household Finance Corporation offers that "Household" can afford to limit its loans to those of the larger amounts—from $100 to $300. As a result "Household" has been able to reduce its interest rate to 2½% per month, thus passing on to its customers a saving of nearly one-third which this policy makes possible.

At the same time, "Household" is aware that loans of less than $100 and certain loans up to $300 require a rate of 3½%. But why should you, if you need a loan of $100 to $300, pay an interest charge of 3½% a month when "Household" offers you its service at 2½% a month?

WHAT YOU PAY

Here is the "Household" rate on loans for Four Months paid in equal monthly payments.

Amount of loan	Time	Total Cost
$100	4 months	$ 6.25
200	4 months	12.50
300	4 months	18.75

Borrow from "Household" and save 1% a month

Here's the "Household" Plan
No Outside Signers—No Fees—No Deductions

The "Household" Plan enables you to get the money you need—$100 to $300—without delay. When you borrow $100 you get $100. All loans are made on the basis of repayment in twenty months.

But you may repay any time before that, and interest is charged only on the unpaid principal.

For instance, under the "Household" Plan, you can borrow $200 for thirty days at a total cost of $5.00.

Before You Borrow See Household

When you need extra money, come in, write or phone and let us explain the "Household" Plan.

CENTRAL STATES GET 80 MILLIONS WATERWAY AID

Rivers, Harbors Bill Has 111 Million as Total.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—[Special.]—The rivers and harbors bill, containing authorization for new projects totaling 111 millions and including $7,500,000 for federal completion of the Illinois state waterway, was completed today by the house rivers and harbors committee and introduced in the house by Chairman S. W. Dempsey [Rep., N. Y.]. The bill will be formally reported tomorrow and is scheduled for consideration in the house on Friday.

According to Representative W. E. Hull [Rep., Ill.], a member of the committee, projects authorized in the section between the Alleghanies and the Rockies receives about eighty out of the 111 millions appropriated.

"The great lakes region receives a total of $37,584,750," said Mr. Hull. "The rest of the area between the Alleghanies and the Rockies receives $42,344,487, making an aggregate of $79,929,237. This gives the central part of the United States a great opportunity for waterway development.

Sees Aid from Erie Canal.

"It is my belief that the Erie canal, if taken over by the federal government as authorized in the bill, provided the state of New York takes the necessary action, will be one of the greatest aids to the west because it makes possible a waterway from Corpus Christi, Tex., or Sioux City, Ia., to New York harbor, thus affording westerners an opportunity to ship products to the sea by water and to receive goods by the same route."

The largest single item in the bill is $29,266,000 for deepening the connecting channels of the great lakes to a depth of twenty-four feet. The present authorized depth is twenty feet. Other items include $563,000 for Indiana Harbor, Ind.; $274,000 for Waukegan harbor, Ill.; $490,000 for Monroe harbor, Mich.; $830,000 for Saginaw harbor, Mich.; $189,000 for Holland harbor, Mich.; $62,000 for Menominee harbor and river, Mich.; $45,000 for Manistee harbor, Mich.; $45,000 for Grand Haven harbor and Grand river, Mich., and $230,000 for Ashland harbor, Wis.

Avoiding Lake Controversy.

The Illinois waterway $7,500,000 authorization contains the proviso as approved recently that "the project shall be so constructed as to require the smallest flow of water with which said project can be practically accomplished in the development of a commercially useful waterway," and that "nothing in this act shall be construed authorizing any diversion of water from Lake Michigan, but the whole question of diversion from Lake Michigan shall remain and be unaffected hereby, as if this act had not been passed."

The bill contains $1,500,000 for deepening the channel in the Mississippi from St. Louis to Grafton, Ill., the mouth of the Illinois river, from the present six feet to nine feet.

HUGHES TO GET $30,000 FEE FOR LAKE LEVEL JOB

Washington, D. C., April 21.—[Special.]—The Chicago sanitary district and the state of Illinois, defendants in the lake levels controversy, must pay Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes a fee of $30,000 for his services as special master for the United States Supreme court in the litigation, ended today with formal entry of the final decree.

Under the order which accompanied the decree, the chief justice in addition to the $30,000 fee, was allowed $2,775.90 for "expenses actually incurred for printing, stenography, travel and other items" in connection with the exhaustive hearings on which he based his recommendations to the court.

Other costs of the litigation, which according to the court's opinion must be paid by the district and the state "who have made this suit necessary by persisting in unjustifiable acts" are now being computed but will probably not be actually assessed until the fall term of the court, it was said today.

NEGRO MUSICIAN SPURNS CASH TO SUE WHITE WIFE

"I Love Her," He Says in His Paris Night Club.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 21.—The hot jazz tunes, to the accompaniment of which Eugene Newton, Negro musician of Harlem and Montmartre, wooed and won Dolores Ford, white heiress of a wealthy Cleveland family, are now soothing "Gene" into forgetfulness of his broken romance.

Gene has returned to his old stamping grounds in Montmartre after a ing grounds in Montmatre after a "friendly but final" interview with Dolores and her family in America, during which he claims to have refused a generous settlement offered him on condition he would seek a divorce. He brought back with him a party of dusky night club entertainers for the establishment he is opening in the Rue Fontaine.

Gene told of his troubles at the newly acquired club today.

Gene's Love Not for Sale.

"I still love Dolores, even if she no longer feels the same way about me," Gene said. "Nobody can buy that love from me. You can inform the world that I am not filing suit for divorce."

Gene refused to answer other questions, saying that the details of the tempestuous courtship, that ended in Dolores marrying the man who taught her to play the piano, did not belong to the public. He also declined to state where he had gotten the money to import sixteen entertainers and lease the quarters for his new show, which he calls the Gayety club.

"It is my show, my idea, and financed by me," Gene proudly asserted.

The interview ended as a blare of jazz came through the door and a row of dusky chorines stepped across the floor. Gene's teeth flashed as he remarked, "Hell, life is too short to worry all the time."

The couple were married at Newark, N. J., on Nov. 13, 1928, at which time the 23 year old heiress swore she was colored. She is the daughter of William Ford, a director of the $50,000,000 Owens-Illinois Bottling company. He was formerly general agent of the Aetna Life Insurance company, and is reputed to be worth $20,000,000.

Dolores met the Harlem musician shortly after her graduation from Smith college.

GANDHI ORDERS 'ARMY' TO WAGE DOUBLE BATTLE

Urges Volunteers to War on Violent Indians.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BOMBAY, April 21.—Evidence is accumulating that Mahatma Gandhi's campaign of nonviolent civil disobedience is passing more and more into the hands of his violent brethren. The Indian press is employing military terms in describing the events—" War councils meet in the villages—commander-in-chiefs issue orders—wounded soldiers (otherwise congress volunteers) are carried from the battles around the salt pans."

Accounts of these "battles," in which, for instance, it is recorded "a gallant volunteer sustained a severe wound on his thumb nail and also suffered an irreparable tear in dhoti," would make amusing reading, if it were not for the passions they are arousing.

Fight Must Go On—Gandhi.

The rapidity with which the ordinance reviving the expiring sections of the Bengal criminal law followed the first news of the Chittagong outrage is accepted as proof both by enemies and friends of the government that it is watching events closely from its headquarters in Simla and is ready to strike quickly.

Mr. Gandhi tonight said there could be no suspension of the fight, however serious the situation became.

"There can be no retiring," he said. "So long as the British people are determined to impose their rule on an unwilling people so lonf must they rule in reality without law."

Mr. Gandhi ended with an appeal to his volunteers to fight a double battle against the violence of the government and the violence of those in India who "do not believe in nonviolent methods."

Eye-Witness Tells of Raid.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

CALCUTTA, April 21.—The raid on the armories at Chittagong last Saturday, when nine were killed, was led by an Indian wearing the uniform of a British adjutant, his face powdered white, according to Sergt. Taylor, a railway employé, who escaped with his life.

"A stream of cars flashed up to the entrance of the armories," he said, "and the sentries, believing the man who alighted to be an adjutant, saluted but were immediately shot dead by men in an automobile. Hearing the firing, Sergt. Maj. Farrell rushed from his bungalow to be met by a fusillade of pistol shots and killed instantly. His wife ran on the veranda, screaming, with her little child, the raiders covered her, ordering silence.

"Meanwhile, the occupants of another automobile had tied a tow rope to the armory door and then wrenched the door hinges by propeling the car forward. The raiders flocked in, looting arms, but they were unable to find ammunition.

"About 11 o'clock five of us crept forward to Farrell's bungalow and rescued Mrs. Farrell. The raiders were watching the burning armory from automobiles. Near the armory was lying the body of Sergt. Walker."

Recruiting of special constables in Calcutta continues briskly and, within a few days, all physically fit Europeans will be enrolled in a special force which supercedes the civil guard.

SWIMMING TANK IS LATEST FEATURE OF BRITISH PRINCE'S HOME

LONDON, April 21.—(AP)—An open air swimming pool in the garden is one of the many features of the prince of Wales' new country residence, Fort Belvedere, at Sunningdale, Berkshire, which is now being put in readiness for his return from Africa.

In the center of the house is an old guard room built by the duke of Cumberland in 1745. This has been converted into a comfortable lounge hall. Other rooms, including the prince's bedroom, open directly upon this hall. On one side is the dining room, which also leads out to the garden, and on the other a drawing room which has been converted from an old banquet hall.

Garage accommodation has been provided and special chauffeurs' quarters have been fitted up. Bungalows are being erected for household servants. A suite will be kept for the use of Prince George, who is preparing to live at Fort Belvedere with his brother.

In one respect Fort Belvedere will be the most up-to-date house in England, for from the front door a private road is being built to the private royal airdrome at Smith's Lawn, Windsor Great park.

2 Europeans and 1 Native Shot Dead by Indian Soldier

SIMLA, India, April 21.—(AP)—Two European employés of the Imperial Bank of India, Dunsmore and Hutchinson by name, were shot to death by a native noncommissioned officer at an outpost near Khyber pass. A native soldier also was shot dead by the same man, who was promptly shot and killed himself by a guard. Medical examination showed that the man was suffering from meningitis.

DALLAS, WACO PLEDGE SUPPORT TO CHICAGO FAIR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dallas, Tex., April 21.—[Special.]—Traveling through Texas on its state holiday, the anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto, fought in 1836, Chicago's good will delegates visited Waco and arrived here late today on their special train. Part of their mission enlisting support for the 1933 world's fair was accomplished in both cities.

San Antonio bade the 34 business men good-by late last night and this morning found them in Waco, seat of Baylor university, and the world's largest inland cotton market, where they toured the city of 62,000 for two hours and then continued to Dallas.

Waco's Chamber of Commerce president, R. J. Potts, assured City Treasurer Charles S. Peterson that he would immediately appoint a committee to decide how best his city should be represented at the fair.

Tonight, at a dinner to the visitors in the Dallas Country club, Mr. Peterson was assured that a group of responsible citizens would form a similar committee here.

Tomorrow the Chicagoans will tour Dallas in the morning and leave for Fort Worth at noon, and thence, after a day to Oklahoma, Tulsa, Wichita, and Kansas City. They are due home Sunday morning.

St. Charles Shows 30% Increase in Population

An increase of 30 per cent in the population of St. Charles since 1920 was reported yesterday by John Byrne, census supervisor of the Du Page-Kane county district. Elburn, Kane county, was given a population of 548, an increase of 37 since 1920, while Blackberry township, a farming community in Kane county, shows a decrease from 1,262 to 1,211.

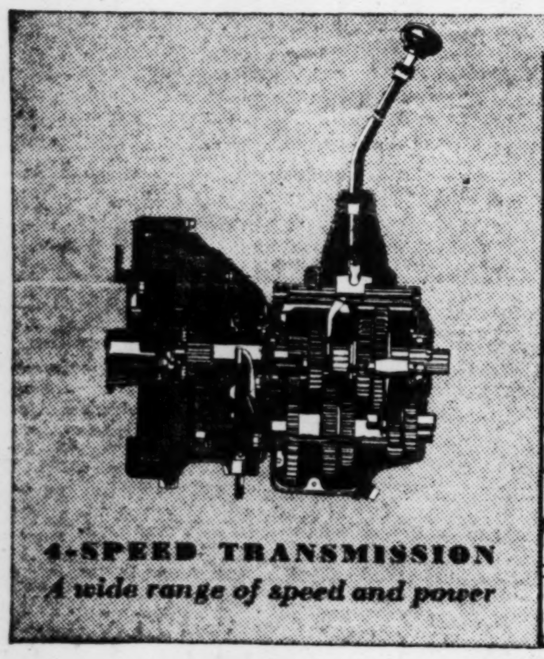
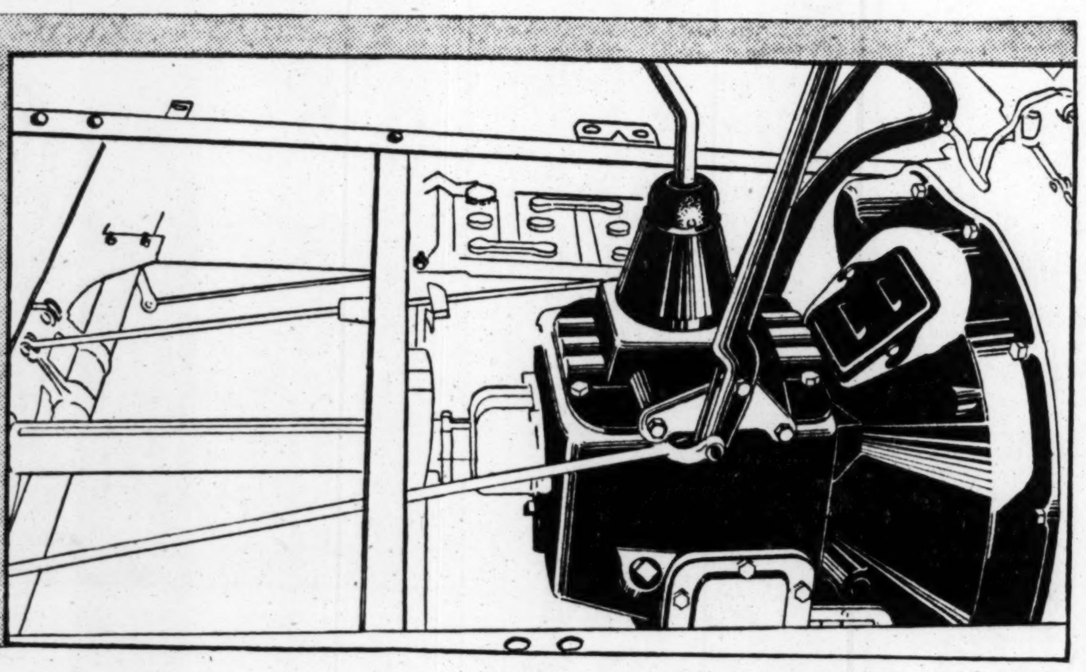
New features of the FORD TRUCK improve its performance



4-SPEED TRANSMISSION
A wide range of speed and power



THE STRENGTH and simplicity of the Ford truck chassis provide a high degree of reliability, insuring long, satisfactory service, with marked economy. Of equal importance is the ability of the truck to do hard work easily, quickly and safely.

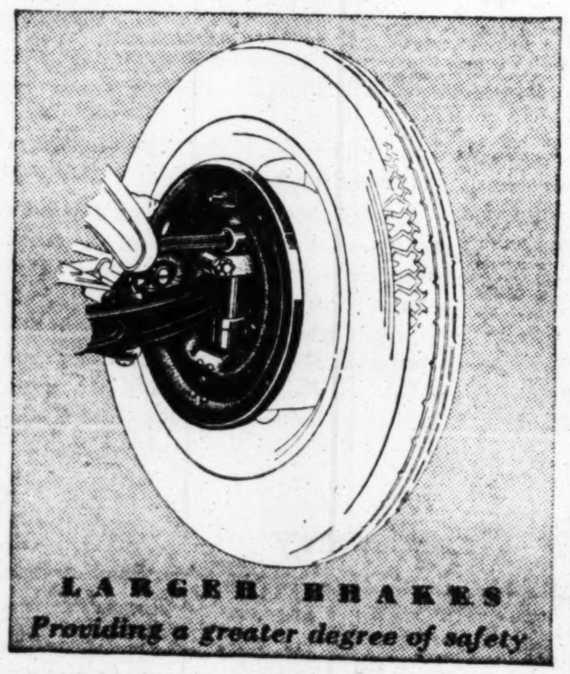
Many features of the Ford truck add to its capable performance. Among them is the 4-speed transmission, which gives a wide, flexible range of speed and power. This is of special value for pulling heavy loads out of pits, and for economical operation when greater speed is desirable.

An unusual degree of safety is provided by the brakes. They are of the mechanical type, internal expanding, and all are fully enclosed.

Brakes on the front wheels have been enlarged to the same size as those on the rear, giving increased braking area. The redesigned controls operate with greater efficiency.

Other features which you will find of exceptional value are the new rear axle, which has a spiral bevel gear of special design, with straddle-mounted pinion; the large-sized opening provided in the transmission for power take-off mounting, for use with hoists and other equipment; and the dual rear wheels which can be installed at small additional cost.

Balloon tires of one size are used throughout with the dual equipment, so that all six steel disc wheels and tires are interchangeable all around. Only one spare need be carried.



LARGER BRAKES
Providing a greater degree of safety

In addition to the Ford 1½-ton truck chassis, there is a commercial-car chassis to meet light-delivery requirements. A wide range of body-types is available for each model.

MENDOTA PASTOR PUT ON TRIAL FOR SHOOTING SEXTON

Church Members Rally to His Defense.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ottawa, Ill., April 21.—[Special.]—James A. Wilson, Methodist minister of Mendota, was put on trial here today before Judge Frank Hayes for attempted murder of a parishioner.

The 60 year old preacher sat amidst a group of attorneys and deacons of his church. Back of him were massed members of his congregation, as many as the courtroom would hold.

No Friends with Victim.

Across the room sat a tall, gaunt, white haired man. There were no friends nor supporters near him. His only companion was State's Attorney Russell O. Hanson. This was Amos Elliott, sexton of the church of which the Rev. Mr. Wilson is pastor. He recently arose from a sick bed, where the preacher's bullets sent him last Jan. 29.

Mr. Wilson was named in two indictments. One charged the shooting of Elliott and the other charged the shooting of Elliott's wife, Mrs. Minnie Elliott. This trial is on the first indictment only.

The case of dispute between these two men, so widely variant in appearance and disposition, lay upon the state's attorney's table. It was a letter written by the pastor to Mrs. Emma K. Wagner, widow in his congregation, begging her pardon for making love to her. Mrs. Wagner, frightened at the importunities, gave the letter to the sexton.

Shooting Over Note to Woman.

When the preacher heard that Elliott had the letter he went to the latter's home, demanded the missive, and when his request was refused sent a bullet into the sexton's breast and another bullet into his wife's shoulder.

Four jurors were accepted by both sides and three others were accepted tentatively when court adjourned. Taking of evidence is expected to begin tomorrow afternoon.

ENDS LIFE WITH GAS.

Despondent over ill health, Joseph Lulson, 60 years old, 1759 West Monroe street, a machinist, committed suicide in his room yesterday by inhaling gas.

Policeman Hunts Father Missing for a Week

Patrolman James McCormick of the detective bureau expressed fear last night that his father, Thomas McCormick, 72 years old, may be dead of exposure in some deserted spot in the city. The elder McCormick wandered away from his home, 7952 South Bishop street, on April 13, while the family was at church. He wore a black suit, a soft gray hat, and brown house slippers.

RECTOR WHO WED A CATHOLIC WILL FACE CHURCH BAR

Minister Broke His Word, Bishop Charges.

Dayton, Ky., April 21.—(AP)—The Rev. Julius A. Velasco, rector of St. John's Episcopal church here, who faces an ecclesiastical trial as a result of having married a Catholic, left here today for Lexington, where the trial is to be held.

The trial may be postponed after a preleminary session Wednesday, as defense counsel has not fully prepared its case.

The charges are "conduct unbecoming a clergyman and violation of his oral word to his bishop and his written promise to the church that he would resign his orders if he married a Roman Catholic."

Mr. Velasco, who was married by a Catholic priest Jan. 25 to Miss Catherine Rogers of Howard county, Maryland, has denied that he made such promise, or that such a marriage would interfere with his duties as an Episcopalian minister.

Bishop H. P. Almon Abbott, who stated that Mr. Velasco made the promise last summer when ordained, and when Miss Rogers was present and understood to be engaged to him, is to preside at the trial, and the ecclesiastical court will consist of five Episcopalian ministers.

SLAIN ROBBER IDENTIFIED.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 21.—[Special.]—After hundreds of persons had filed past the body of an unidentified 18 year old boy shot in an attempted filling station holdup here Saturday night he was identified by his sister as Joseph Keso.

DRY AGENT IS SHOT; MAN HE ARRESTED IS SEIZED AS ASSAILANT

Hendersonville, N. C., April 21.—(AP)—Clarence Howard, deputy federal prohibition officer, was seriously wounded today by an alleged bootlegger who, witnesses said, climbed on the running board of the officer's automobile and shot him in the head.

Fred Swartz, Howard's assailant, was said then to have disarmed Fanning Saltz, special prohibition officer, riding with Howard and to have hit Saltz on the head with his own pistol.

Carrying two pistols, Swartz ran a block and a half down the street to the county jail and surrendered. He was held without privilege of bond pending outcome of Howard's wounds.

Howard remained unconscious tonight at a local hospital. His condition was declared by hospital attachés to be "very serious."

Swartz was arrested Saturday by Howard on a liquor charge. The officer is said to have struck Swartz on the head with a blackjack in making the arrest.

MRS. STOCKTON WINS DIVORCE; IS WED AGAIN

A few minutes after securing a divorce yesterday in Reno, Nev., from Walter Thaw Stockton of 1029 Hinman avenue, Evanston, Mrs. Catherine Woodman Stockton was married to Earl T. De Moe, 1584 Wesley avenue, Evanston, according to a dispatch received last night.

The former Mrs. Stockton charged that her husband belittled her in front of friends, showed her no affection, refused to accompany her to theaters and parties, and declined to welcome her relatives and friends into his home. She was awarded custody of their two children, Richard, 8, and Catherine, 6 years old.

ILLINOIS AMONG FIVE STATES IN VOTE FUND QUIZ

Nye Promises Exhaustive Investigation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—[Special.]—Investigation of senatorial campaign expenditures in Illinois, Pennsylvania, and at least three other states which he refused to name, will be undertaken immediately, it was announced today by Senator Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.], chairman of the special investigating committee.

New charges received during the day from undisclosed sources concerning both the McCormick-Deneen contest in Illinois and the three-cornered fight in Pennsylvania prompted the committee, the senator declared, to engage a number of investigators who will be sent into both states to verify the reports and lay the groundwork for the committee's probe.

Committee Meets to Organize.

Meanwhile, the committee is to meet next Friday to decide upon the employment of a secretary and approve a questionnaire now being drafted, which will be sent to senatorial candidates in every state holding a primary.

"The committee regrets the conclusion that seems to have been reached," said Senator Nye, "that it is contemplating anything but a sincere, thorough and searching inquiry into every senatorial campaign. The committee intends to make its inquiries exhaustive in every case."

Send Out Investigators.

"Additional facts," he added, "regarding the recent primary campaign in Illinois and that now in progress in Pennsylvania are of such a nature as to cause investigators to be sent without delay into those states. When the investigators have finished in Illinois and Pennsylvania they will be shifted to three other states where the information in our hands indicates there is necessity for an immediate and thorough inquiry."

POLICE DOUBT TALE OF CLEW ON DESERTED BABY

Chicago police last night were inclined to discredit a reported identification of "Jimmie Stevens Taylor," the 11 months old baby found abandoned in the Stevens hotel on April 6, as Clayton Scofield Jr., son of Mrs. Martha Scofield, formerly of Detroit. Although police here had not investigated it, they had received a report last week that Mrs. Scofield, said to be "Jimmie's" mother, was living near Hammond with her son, who closely resembled "Jimmie." Jimmie, who has been ill in St. Vincent's orphanage, is now recovering.

THOUSANDS GET JOBS AS LAKES SEASON OPENS

TORONTO, Ont., April 21.—(AP)—Along a 1,700 mile front of the great lakes today screeching boat whistles and flying flags proclaimed the opening of the navigation season after a winter of icelocked inactivity.

Thousands of men, laid off last fall when the 1929 season closed and most of them out of work since then, flocked eagerly to the waterfront to snatch up the jobs that always turn up with the thawing of the ice.

With the opening of the season today the steamer Georgian of the Northwestern Transporation company was the first ship passed through the northern section of the new Welland canal at Port Weller, Ont. The new canal is not completed beyond Thorold, and at that point the ships swung into the old canal to proceed to Port Colborne. The remainder of the new channel is expected to be finished by July 1.

GRANDMA EUROPE, MORALIST.

President Hoover increased his experiences the other night when as a guest of the American Society of Newspaper Editors he heard two foreign newspaper men deplore American foreign policy, which at the present time is Mr. Hoover's policy. He replied, but what he said was withheld from publication under the seal of confidence implied in such newspaper gatherings.

The critics were André Geraud, known to readers as Pertinax of the Echo de Paris, and H. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Review of Reviews. It may be greatly doubted that speeches in the manner given would have been regarded as possible in Europe. A report that the king or his prime minister had been publicly admonished in London by aliens or subjects for failure to meet international obligations would be taken there as preposterous and a similar occurrence in Paris would have been considered one of unparalleled insolence.

The United States has acquired an immunity from the requirements of good taste as well as those of equity when it is approached by foreigners seeking advantages. It itself is not without responsibility in the matter. It seems so often to acknowledge its moral delinquencies in the affairs of the world that it invites the reproaches of aliens for whom self-interest is a religion.

Geraud and Steed both said that the United States refused to assume responsibility in enforcing international peace. To the Frenchman this means a refusal to maintain the condition of Europe as it is under the unjust treaty of Versailles and to guarantee the security of France in all it has asserted under that treaty and all it has collected as a colonial empire. To the Englishman it probably means something a little more sentimentalized and moralized, but coming to the same thing, the preservation of a world as the Briton finds it good.

In these schemes the moral obligations of the American people will require a lot of finding, although they get a lot of talking. If peace is based upon equities it does not need the assistance of the United States in Europe, Asia and Africa to find and keep that basis. The achievement is entirely within the ability of the powers in control. On the contrary, a system of injustice and self-interest would seek all the assistance it could get to maintain itself at the expense of the peoples injured.

The United States has grown into a sense and a reality of responsibility in the western hemisphere, a considerable region of the world complicated by about as many problems as are to be found in other parts where its policy has been one of nonintervention. Peace is nowhere more durable or better guaranteed than it is in the western hemisphere. The conditions where there is an acknowledged American responsibility are exemplary. If the incorrigibility of Europe in profit taking were less it might be admonished to go and do likewise

The equivalents of the Riff, India, Egypt, Palestine, Syria, etc., are in the neighborhood of the United States. America has not yet made such a mess of any of them as the British did at Amritzar or the French did in Damascus, although there have been intractable leaders in disordered countries here. There is no equivalent here of the Tyrol or of Hungary, none of Austria or Lithuania, there is none of Vilna, Fiume or the Saar. Peoples are not denied their language and, other than residents of the United States, they are not forbidden their customs. They are not under tribute. They are not dominated by forts or threatened by bayonets.

As for Europe, the old lady in the bed is not grandmother but the wolf. The moral obligation of the United States in this particular is extraordinarily vaporous and it should rest lightly upon the American soul, if it be conceded by critics that there is such a thing.

ROTTEN BOROUGHS.

In the new census figures the town of Union, Tolland county, Conn., is an interesting item. Union has been said to be the smallest town in the United States, and the new census finds it smaller. It had 257 in 1920 and now it has 196.

We are not citing Union as important evidence of the dwindling of the small town. What interests us is that Union under the borough system of Connecticut sends two representatives to the general assembly of Connecticut, the same number as New Haven, which has over 175,000 persons, to say nothing of Hartford, Bridgeport, or Waterbury, next in size. The effort to adjust this grotesque political injustice has been successfully defeated thus far, just as similar if less extreme inequalities in other states, including Illinois, have been. Apportionment of representation is one of the outstanding failures of American democratic government and is a national as well as a local issue of first rank. Equality of representation is a basic principle of democracy, imbedded in the national and all state constitutions, but defied by congress and many state legislatures, including the assembly of Illinois. The rotten borough system was successfully attacked nearly a century ago in England and its persistence in the United States is a disgrace to our politics and our citizenship. It is now largely protected by the very forces which demand respect for law and the constitution.

THE YANKEE ABROAD.

Eager and wide eyed Americans by the tens of thousands are about to crowd on boats for the glamorous adventure in the lands of their dreams. These amiable offspring of Santa Claus and Little Bo Peep are awaited abroad by the most proficient breed of racketeers who ever lay in wait for the children of fairyland. The butcher knife is the reality behind the curtain of enchantment. This is true principally of the lands to which the children's crusade is chiefly attracted.

American tourist trade is a major item in European economy. It has a real effect upon trade balances and monetary equilibrium. It is the equivalent of an export trade. It distributes American money broadcast. It buys scenery, an imperishable commodity which remains to be sold again in lands which can sell their cake and keep it.

Usually merchants who have a profitable trade treat it with courtesy and respect. It is their custom to deal with it fairly, but here is a great trade which requires little drumming up and is treated to double dealing. Extortion is accompanied with contempt if submitted to, and with fury if protested.

It may be foolish to suggest that the American zeal for organizing and doing good might be employed for the protection of the tourist, but if there are idle enthusiasts whose activities are stunted because they cannot find a field, the American abroad would be the better off for a little help. Europe could be mapped for behavior, with tramp signs, if nothing else, such as "Kind Lady," "Bad Dog," "Mean Constable."

A boycott intelligently directed, turning the stream of paying trade from lands which are surly to lands which are gracious and honest, would correct the ills to which the tourists are subjected. An empty inn is worse than a disease to the innkeeper.

WHEN STUDENTS STRIKE.

When students strike in Tennessee, the land of anti-evolution, the world may guess that modern ferments work even against repression. In Lincoln Memorial university rebellion has come down among the hills along the Cumberland. Troops have been called. Some students are in jail. Because their school is not accredited at larger institutions the students have asked, "Why?" Because of rigid rules over their behavior and engagements, of bickerings and conflict between the faculty and the administration, they have demanded change.

Students that strike are signs of better times in education. When they are roused by the failures and the mediocrities of a system from which they hoped to benefit, the colleges in Tennessee and elsewhere will improve. For the colleges are, after all, the students' business, and when the students still remain too juvenile and too indifferent to take that business in their own hands to some degree our higher education will continue only in part successful.

For 763 students Lincoln Memorial university has a faculty of 18 persons. Founded with the gracious purpose of bringing help to the hill boys and girls of eastern Tennessee and Kentucky, the western Carolinas and Virginia, its resources clearly are small and sorely strained. For as low a cost as $250 a boy may spend a year at Lincoln, but, with 43 students to each member of the teaching staff, his chances for a modern education, at best, are small. A room there may be had for $30 a year, board for $125, tuition for $48. The costs are low, as they must be for the people of the hills. But the values at that price may be low as well.

At best, a university will have problems hard to solve when its endowment is only some $700,000, and strikes for trivial or ill considered reasons may be childish and inapropos. That students should demand better education, however, rather than accept improvement all unwillingly, is, to say the least, unusual. A sincere strike on these grounds in Tennessee, if such it be, is a wholesome indication.

The strike in Tennessee is a good sign of the times. With the initiative to demand a better education, the students, it may be, will get it.

Editorial of the Day

THE WOMEN MOP UP.

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

The women have the vote, but high office seems oftenest to be reserved, by common consent, for the widows of distinguished politicians. The women flood the colleges, but a tradition persists, with so few exceptions that they are notable, that women may not teach in men's colleges. The women have invaded the sacred male precincts of the smoking cars and speakeasies, and they are the crowning glory of the cigaret advertisements, but they do not yet smoke cigars. There are loopholes in this women's age, little islands of male domination that have persisted from an almost forgotten past.

One of the biggest islands is the church. Women doctors have fought a long, uphill fight for recognition in their profession, and there are few left today to doubt that they are winning it. Women lawyers have had to combat sex prejudice, but their fight has been won in principle; not a court in the land but listens to women attorneys with the same courtesy which it gives their brothers. But the atmosphere of incongruity which formerly clung to the woman doctor and the woman lawyer still clings to the woman preacher. The Unitarians, Congregationalists, Methodists and others have had women ministers for three-quarters of a century, but their relative number has hardly increased in recent years. The woman minister is still a surprise, and it is only this week that the Presbyterians, not by any means the most conservative of denominations, have decided to admit women to the clergy at all.

Perhaps in the bosoms of the male parishioners who still dominate the boards of trustees of the local churches there lurks a vague, unconscious sense that woman does not need to make preaching a special profession; that she practices the trade without special training and without leaving the four walls of home. Possibly that is why the ministry is among the last of the professions to be mopped up by the advancing army of new women.

ROMANTIC MEMORIES.

"Dear Clara," wrote the young man, "pardon me, but I'm getting so forgetful. I proposed to you last night, but really forgot whether you said yes or no."

"Dear Will," she replied by note, "so glad to hear from you. I know I said 'no' to some one last night, but I had forgotten who it was."—Exchange.

TREATMENT OF NAIL WOUNDS.

DR. J. J. MOREHEAD advises the following method of treating a wound due to a nail puncture: If the wound, or the skin near by, is very greasy he first cleanses it by washing with gasoline, kerosene or automobile soap. The next step is to immerse the wound in a mixture of water and soapsuds, preferably warm, and to keep it there for about half an hour. The skin is then dried thoroughly, after which full strength iodine is used. In order to get it to the bottom of the nail puncture he injects it with a fine nozzled syringe.

Most physicians advise against putting iodine into wounds, thinking it too irritating. What is called tincture of iodine is an alcohol solution and it increases in strength and in capacity to burn the longer it stands. It may be that the need of killing any lockjaw microbes in a nail puncture justifies the free use of iodine. In fact, many experienced physicians advise the injection of preventive lockjaw antitoxin in all nail punctures, or at least in those in which the wound was made in or around a stable or garden.

After treating with iodine Dr. Morehead applies a wet dressing made with one teaspoonful of tincture of iodine to a pint of saline solution. This dressing is changed daily for three days. Throbbing and heat near the wound indicate threatened trouble.

A lacerated wound of the scalp he treats as follows: The wound is thoroughly cleansed with soap and water. From ten to thirty minutes should be given to this cleansing. The wound should be thoroughly inspected. Foreign bodies are apt to be driven into the tissues between the skin and the scalp and when left there they are apt to cause trouble. Clots of blood in such wounds are almost certain to become infected wounds.

They should not be tightly closed with adhesive tape or collodion, or anything else. Nor should they have airtight dressings applied. If a physician thinks it advisable to sew such a wound the stitches should be put in place, but they should not be tied until after three days and not then if the wound is suppurating or oozing much.

He is not in favor of very much lancing of boils or carbuncles. If they are to be lanced the cut should be limited to the areas softened by the pus "coming to a head." Cutting beyond and into hard tissues is liable to spread infection.

THERE ARE MANY OF THEM.

T. writes: I have just finished an article on cancer and am sending a copy of an article I copied from an old medical book I found in the cabin of an old prospector back in the hills in Colorado for what it is worth. This old book is claimed to be written by and contains the prescriptions of most eminent English specialists of the time.

"Note: This treatment, applied to a cancer patient who was not expected to live, gave immediate relief and cured the cancer in two weeks.

"Treatment: Take a handful of fresh, green violet leaves. Pour a pint of boiling water on them. Let stand for 12 hours until the water is green. Then strain off the liquid, dip a piece of lint into the infusion of which a sufficient quantity must be warmed. Put on the wet lint wherever the malady may be and cover with oilcloth. Change whenever dry or cold. The infusion should be made fresh every other day."

REPLY.

There are enough cancer cures to fill an encyclopedia. What does that mean?

MIGHT LEAVE IT ALONE.

Mrs. B. writes: I have one black spot under my left breast. It forms a crust, falls off, and then grows back again. It is the size of a large pea. I have gone to two doctors and they say it is just a mole and not to do anything with it. But I worry over it. I have had it two years. I am 64 years old and in good health.

REPLY.

If you do anything, have the mole cut out along with some surrounding skin. In cutting out a mole one should not be saving of skin. Otherwise, let this mole alone.

LEAVE YOUR PRESSURE ALONE.

M. E. C. writes:

1. I have low blood pressure. What is the remedy?
2. I am also anemic.
3. And I also have winter itch.

REPLY.

1. Having low blood pressure increases your chance of rivaling Methuselah. If you want to quit that competition, try dieting. Live largely on sour milks, buttermilks, acid milks and lactose. Limit your intake of starches and sweets.
2. Anemic people thrive on a diet containing liver, tripe, kidney, heart, and greens.
3. Go where you can stay in a cool, moist air all winter; or live in a conservatory; or cool and moisten the air you live in.

PARTITION PROCEEDINGS.

Chicago, April 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If, after a year, one of the heirs wants his share of an estate, can an Illinois court order the property auctioned? F. A. G.

Where owners of undivided interests in real estate cannot agree any one of them is entitled to force a public sale by partition proceedings. The costs of such proceedings, including the complainant's solicitor's fees, are chargeable against the proceeds of sale.

CONSTITUTIONAL, BUT——

Chicago, April 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Would I, a night watchman since 1913 with a clear record, be subject to arrest for carrying my gun out in my belt like police officers, to and from my work? T. H. B.

The constitution guarantees this right, but it is notorious that the police have, in some cases, encroached upon constitutional rights.

ADVISE LEAVING PLANT.

Chicago, April 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last spring I planted a shrub in the garden in which I live. May I take this with me when we move at the end of the month, or could it cause trouble? L. B.

In our opinion you are not entitled to remove it. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

HOW ARE WE GOING TO KEEP 'EM ON THE FARM?

Early returns from the census enumerators show that most of the small towns scattered around the country are either standing still on the population proposition or losing ground. The first thing they seem to do when they get able to walk now in the small towns is to get up and dust for the big cities. Maybe it's because city people visit the small towns nowadays on account of the automobile, and after the natives hear the inquiry, "What's the name of this hick town?" fifty or sixty times a day they form a resolution to get to some place where they won't be regarded as rubes.

We're a proud people, no matter where we live, and maybe we ought to have some sort of a constitutional amendment (we haven't had one for quite a spell now and it's time we got busy) making the city papers stop referring to "the hinterland" and "the sticks" and "down in Frog Center." Then we'll have to stop actors and squawkie stars from wearing chin whiskers and hickory shirts and sticking their pants in their boots and saying "by gum" and "them thar city slickers can't fool me" every time they want to represent a character in a town of less than twenty-five thousand.

We've got to keep people in the small towns and on the farm if we want to keep on eating and have some place to go when we get so sick of the city and its noise and its smells that we feel like walking east until our hat floats. Oh shucks! Let's go back to the old home town!

SOUTHBOUND.

Surely there was magic in the air last night,
For I went to sleep in April and came awake in May.
If the moon wove misty magic over everything in sight,
It was quite to be expected after such a magic day.
The last I saw of April was a fleet of leafless trees
Scudding north at midnight like ships without a sail—
Bare masts bending, rigging taut and trembling,
Racing north by moonlight as though driven by a gale.
I couldn't quite see it, but I knew there was a lake
Just beyond the trees and the gaunt steel mills,
And the time was early April, there could be no mistake,
For not the sheerest gauze of green was spread upon the hills.
It may have been the moon that came and kissed me on the mouth
While the bare trees scudded northward—or was I scudding south?

Then the sun came, sudden as the red gods come,
And dogwood, red-bud, apple blossoms, plum
Were dancing past the window in a morris maze
With their green gowns flying in a gold-green haze.
Instead of the lake came a bank-full river;
I counted ninety seconds while it slid below;
And lazy blue smoke was curling from a shanty-boat
Moored in a bayou and ready to go.

It was reasonable magic wrought by such a night and day
That I went to sleep in April and woke to find it May.

SCANDAL, which it is said will rival the Teapot Dome exposé, is threatening at Washington. Well, it'll have to go some if it is as juicy and savory as the Teapot Dome thing, but Bigger and Better is the watchword of this generation. Guess we'll have to read Gaston Means' "The Strange Death of President Harding" again. We're beginning to understand why that book is way on top of all the other best sellers in Washington, New York, and points east.

A LONDON DISPATCH contains the important news that a tender hearted motorist who ran off the road to avoid hitting a rabbit backed his car over a dog in trying to get back and killed it. Which shows the desperate lengths the American newspaper correspondents with the peace parley delegation have come to. Even the story about the tender hearted motorist saving a rabbit and killing a dog is bigger than any news concerning the naval parley.

STATISTICS ARE THAT WAY.

The entire population of these United States could go automobile riding all at the same time, according to the statistics figured out by the American Motorists' association, which shows there is a car for every 4.5 persons in the country; and the average capacity of each automobile is 4.6. We'd rely on that and realize it wasn't necessary for us to buy a car as there'd be always room in somebody else's motor, even if the entire population went riding all at the same time. But the people in whose car we tried to horn in might mistake us for a bandit or a dry enforcement officer and step on the gas. Which shoots the statistics of the American Motorists' association to hellengone.

THE LAME DUCK BILL has been referred by the house to a committee ten months after it came from the senate. If it becomes a law congressmen who fail of reëlection will get the air as soon as they get the ax. And that's why the congressmen don't like it. They don't know who of them is going to become a lame duck.

OLD BOB BECKER, who has the world's softest job, for his work consists in going hunting and fishing and then writing pieces about it, bursts into rhapsody and says: "Let the city dweller leave the crowded places and the automobile and hike across country. There are flowers under foot in the swales and the woods and the birds are on the wing." Personally we simply hate swales, Robert, because there are not only flowers under foot in the swales, but very generally thick, soft guey mud. It's very pretty and most poetical language is swales, but when we get into a swale up to our waist we usually utter strange uncouth remarks concerning them.

LAGNIAPPE.

WE'RE MORE'N READY to grab anything showing that old John Prosperity is hoofing back as fast as he can travel, but then we look at the newspapers and find that Mr. Rockefeller is now giving away nickels instead of dimes. Not so good. On the other hand, it might be argued that this is only proof that a nickel now buys as much as a dime used to. Anyhow, we give this to the Polly Anna lads to do with as they will.

EASTER seems almost as popular as St. Valentine's day with the gun boys in Chicago. Almost, but not quite, for the St. Valentine's day massacre totaled seven while the Easter massacre only numbered three. Probably the wet and cold weather which spoiled the Easter Gold Coast parade also dampened the enthusiasm of the gun boys. Still, they did their best. R. H. L.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 22, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The program for the transportation of President Lincoln's remains from Washington to Springfield has been issued. The railroads over which the body will pass are declared military railroads, subject to the order of the war department, and the roads and rolling stock will be subject to the orders of Brig. Gen. McCullum. The funeral train will not exceed nine cars, including baggage and hearse car. The remains left Washington at 8 o'clock this morning. Stops were made at Baltimore and Harrisburg. Other stops will be made at Philadelphia, New York, Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland, Columbus, Indianapolis, and Chicago. The train will reach Chicago at 11 o'clock a. m., May 1, and remain there until 9:30 p. m., May 2. It will reach Springfield at 8 a. m., May 3. At the various stops the remains will be taken from the hearse car by state and municipal authorities to receive public honors. Among immediate friends of the late President on the train are Ward Lamon, Gov. Oglesby, Judge Davis of the United States Supreme court, and N. M. Edwards and C. A. Smith, brothers-in-law of Mr. Lincoln. An immense crowd was at the station when the funeral party left Washington.

CHICAGO.—The committee named by the common council to superintend arrangements for the reception of the remains of President Lincoln met at the Tremont house, with Lieut. Gov. Bross presiding. It was decided that the remains will be received at the end of Lake park, opposite Park row. A committee of 100 is to meet the train at Michigan City. The body will be taken to the rotunda of the city hall. Brig. Gen. Sweet will have charge of the military section of the escort.

TAMAQUA, Pa. —Booth, sought as the assassin of President Lincoln, has not been arrested, but has been traced as far as this place. Those arrested on suspicion here have been discharged.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 22, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Evangeline Claire O'Neill, who left Chicago last November with thirteen trunks containing $50,000 worth of jewelry and wearing apparel for which she was indebted to merchants here, has been heard from. She is in Paris, and she has held a private sale of the gowns and hats that Chicago merchants tried unsuccessfully to recover when she was arrested in Montreal. She is the wife of Henry J. O'Neill, the former "barley king."

NEW YORK.—The World says: "The long feud between Rear Admiral William T. Sampson and Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley and their friends is officially ended. Schley is the victor. Since the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago July 3, 1898, the dispute has divided the United States navy and stirred the whole country. On Sampson's side was actively ranged the whole force of the administration. But Sampson's opponents finally convinced the administration that Admiral Schley could not further be opposed without imperiling McKinley's reelection. Schley will rank Sampson as a rear admiral and in a few months will be second only to George Dewey in the navy."

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind.—Mrs. Caroline E. Haskell, widow of Frederick T. Haskell, died here at the age of 89. As Caroline Aldridge she married Mr. Haskell, a brother of Henry Tudor Haskell, in 1850, and they moved to Chicago in 1867. She was noted for her charities, and especially for her gifts to Hahnemann hospital and the University of Chicago. In 1896 she gave the university $100,000 to build the Haskell Oriental museum, one of the finest buildings on the campus.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 22, 1920.

CHICAGO. — Ogden T. McClurg, president of A. C. McClurg & Co., has encountered the high rent problem. Through his attorney, Perry S. Patterson, he filed a suit in Circuit court seeking to prevent his eviction from his apartment in the building at 999 Lake Shore drive. The main idea is that the new owners of the building raised his rent from $375 to $700 a month.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

CLOUDS ON THE REPUBLICAN HORIZON.

Chicago, April 19.—The New York Times said recently that "the Republican managers seemingly have made up their minds that they are in danger of losing a number of senators and representatives this year, and that they must hold on to every nominal adherent of the party, no matter how often he may kick over the traces and get the whole team tangled up. This is a clear case of surrender to the Republican insurgents, and a notification to them that they are at liberty to pursue their disrupting tactics, if only they will get some primary or convention to nominate them as Republicans."

If this statement is true, as I believe it is, can there be any serious doubt that the clouds upon the Republican horizon already are caused by too much procrastination to "insurgency," as proved by quack farm relief, tariff muddling, socialistically packed inquiry activity, and so forth ad libitum, all of which has aggravated, if not caused, adverse business conditions and unemployment? And so now Republican managers propose to tolerate still more insurgency, which in turn will cause still more disturbance and increasingly endanger the party's prospects. Truly, a vicious circle! No wonder Democratic politicians, if not statesmen, are gleefully embracing every opportunity to fan the fire in the hope of thereby improving their own long awaited chances.

President Coolidge as head of the Republican managers once in a while put his foot decisively down upon insurgency. Some years ago Mr. Hoover, when quizzed and lectured by impertinent senators about his war relief activities, did not hesitate to show his mettle, and some of those who favored his nomination and election may have remembered and taken that incident as a happy omen of his presidential caliber. But what a flop! For about the only outstanding achievement to his credit as party manager so far is that he has refused to let himself be bulldozed into manning the U. S. Supreme court with socialists. OBSERVER.

HIS NEEDS.

River Forest, Ill., April 15.—A recent article in the Voice of the People gave as the cause of the present unemployment situation overproduction. I append a list of a few items I need in my home at present: An electric washing machine, new radio, carpet for two rooms, overcoat, new suit, two pair shoes. I really ought to have a new car. My piano is a cheap one and I should have a better one. I need new window shades in six rooms; two rooms need to be decorated, and I have a spare room with no furniture whatever. I am not half through, but I will quit. A national census showing the real needs of the people in their homes would silence forever the cry of overproduction. Overproduction of wheat? Show me a single bushel thrown away.

No, we have been trying to cure the wrong disease. The fault is not overproduction. It is in distribution.

D. H. A.

FERNEKES' FATE.

Chicago, April 15.—By the way, what has become of Midget Fernekes?

D. M. SMITH.

THE EDITOR HAS LEFT TOWN.

Chicago, April 17.—Undoubtedly baseball enthusiasts have been reading and studying the unusually interesting articles written by Irwin M. Howe, in which he discusses the ten players he considers best of those who came under his observation in forty-two years of baseball writing.

Of the ten players selected seven were of the American league, namely: Cobb, Collins, Johnson, Ruth, Schalk, Speaker, and Young. One of the remaining three, "Pop" Anson, did not play after the organization of the American league. Therefore, only two National league players were honored—Wagner and Traynor.

It might be of more than passing interest to note that two White Sox players were selected, whereas the Cubs evidently at no time had a superior player on any of its teams. Hence it would seem that Mr. Howe's writings corroborate the truth of the popular phrase—"The National league is a minor league." JOHN C. KOENIG.

MR. SHIRES AND CERTAIN PALOOKAS.

Chicago, April 19.—Now that we've settled the world court and Evanston movies—for the time being—may I, if there are no other movements before the house, start one to make the columnists quit pushing Art Shires around? A gent can't open a sports page without lamping a wisecrack at his expense. If these palookas could field their positions with a tittle of his ability, the publishers wouldn't be committing insomnia regarding the high cost of wood pulp, and what to do about it. In the business of living, he has brightened the corner where he's been—what more can you ask? And if it hadn't been for Art the Great Shires, Mr. Comiskey et al. would have had no meal ticket last season; eke, the sports columnists. Give the kid a break.

TRACKLESS TROLLEYS.

Chicago, April 11. — In THE TRIBUNE this morning I read that Chicago is one of the first cities to use trackless trolley buses. About ten years ago in Toronto, Canada, trackless trolleys were started, with a much better bus than we have here in Chicago today. These Canadian buses have a single trolley pole, use the same overhead wire as the street cars, and consequently can go anywhere a street car can. They are to be seen today operating in North Toronto, and I rode on them 10 years ago.

ABOLISHING THE ARMY.

Chicago, April 12.—I wish to approve Senator Frazier's sensible suggestion that the army and navy be abolished. Of course it would throw several hundred thousand men out of work but would be of great benefit to our millionaires, as the government could reduce their income taxes, thus allowing them more money to spend in Paris and Monte Carlo. CHARLES J. WILSON.

TRADE SHOULD BE BRISK.

Chicago, April 16.—On Madison street a sign says that an up to date restaurant will be opened. Also a "beautiful ladies' restaurant." This is well put, as all our loop girls are of that kind.

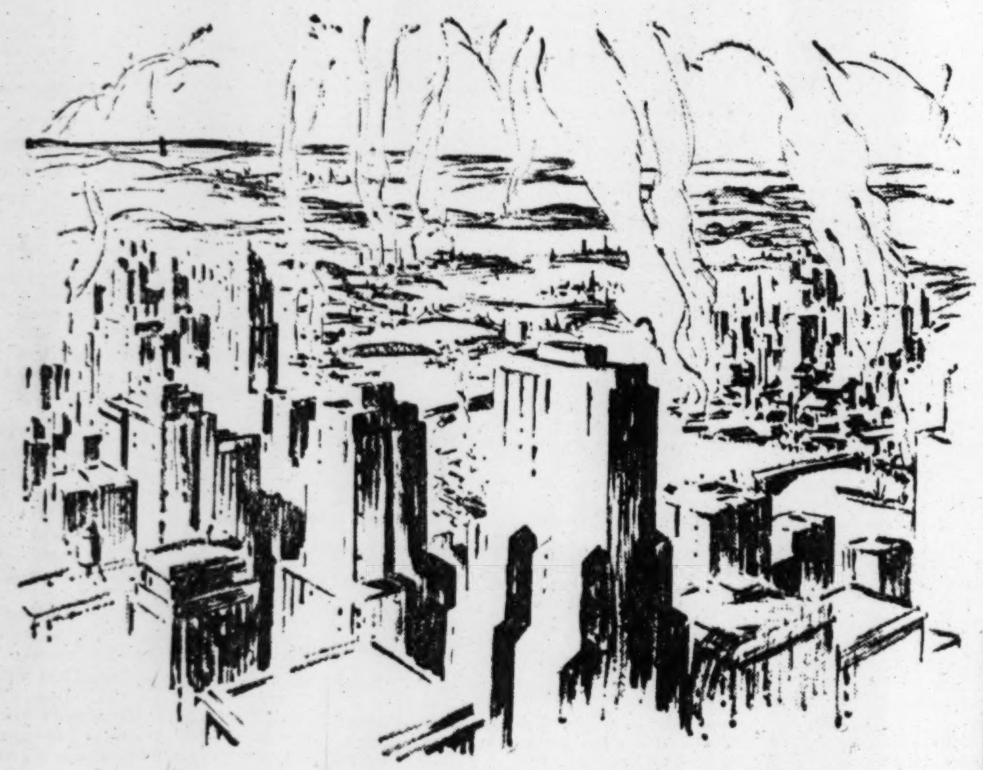
Yes, But How About Labor Itself–On Wheels?

IN the last page we showed what had happened to the factory as the result of labor taking to wheels. Labor on wheels had moved away from the factory. And the very architecture of the factory itself had changed. All of the protective mechanism had gone, because labor no longer lived in hovels close to the factory and threatened the property within.



Now we take up what has happened to labor itself as the result of the literally millions of automobiles it has acquired.

Economically, of course, the answer is very simple.

Labor on wheels is now helping to solve the greatest problem that labor has, which is the problem of unemployment. A problem which no manufacturer had any possible means of solving for it.

Today when a wage earner gets out of a job, he jumps into his car and drives ten, twenty, thirty miles away, scouring the factories of the surrounding territory for another job. And, since all industries are neither down nor up in production at the same time, he usually gets it.

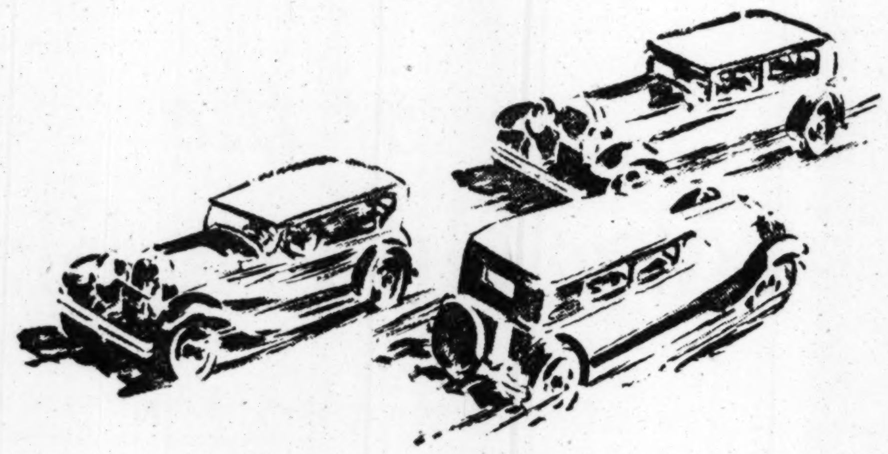
Labor, now mobile and fluid, and moving about under its own power, no longer stands sullenly in the yard of a shut-down factory waiting to see what is going to happen. The moment a man is out of a job, he is up and away and after another job. And the Lord usually helps those who help themselves.

* * * *

Sociologically, however, the case is somewhat different. And not quite so easy of classification or solution.

But here we can resort again to our case histories. And at least we can get some semblance of analysis out of them.

When we take these case histories that come from the field together with the personal letters that pour into True Story Magazine, and parallel them with the stories themselves, we find one situation that presents itself with the regularity of clockwork. And that situation is the "breakdown" of distance, due to the automobile, and what this is doing to the whole social set-up of wage-earning America.



The wage earner not only goes to and from work in his automobile, but with his greater leisure of shorter hours and half-Saturdays off and summer Sundays he is up and away again and again on distances of hundreds of miles.

* * * *

Now, distances do strange things to people. To begin with, they break down fear. We are no longer afraid of that which we have seen and with which we have had contact. A road once traveled is familiar. A city once seen is friendly. People in Detroit look about the same as they do in Canton, Ohio. Their houses look the same. And they have the same kind of automobiles.

"Yes," you say, "but that's delightful. That's living at a higher speed, a greater intensity. That man is getting more life to the minute now than he got in a month before."

* * * *

All true; but it doesn't lessen the problem.

And the problem is that with the breakdown of distance invariably there comes a tug at the old order of the home.

It isn't so bad with the older folks in relation to themselves. But for the older ones in relation to the children it is devastating. The boy growing up in Albany now gets married and gets a job in New York because he has been to New York. The girl from Peoria likes Chicago. She has been there and she probably will marry a Chicago boy. The exodus is no longer merely for those who are brave of spirit but descends now to those who are merely familiar with the road. The parents shake their heads and try to hold on to the old order of things. But they themselves have been touched with the power of motor-power. And the breakdown of the fear of distances has come with their own travels.

So they themselves "pull up stakes" and move to join the boy or girl.

* * * *

And once again, new problems are involved. For the wife of that man, who used to run out of her house and say, "Hello, Mrs. Brown – Hello, Mrs. Smith. Is Willie all right again? My! but Mollie's looking pretty!" . . . now finds herself in a three or four-room flat without knowing even the people next door, to say nothing of any of the families on the street.

And so the wheels have created wheels within wheels, problems without end.

* * * *

Do you wonder that these people turn to True Story Magazine for parallels of their own experiences? For similar problems for which some solution has been found? For some yardstick to measure by in this changing order of a world that is never at rest?

And above all, do you wonder that there is the constant effort to re-affirm the virtue of the old order of things while all of this new order is getting under way?

* * * *

Here at True Story we seem to be at the receiving end of all of this material. We have not tried to be the self-constituted spokesman for the wage-earning class. But every story in True Story Magazine that strikes home on one of these fundamental problems, brings in its wake a mass of personal letters that cannot be ignored. And always the refrain of these letters is the same: "How can we hold fast to the tenets of the past while the wheels of our new progress are running so easily?"

HEIRESS AND HER NEWSBOY HUBBY START LIFE POOR

Reach Canada and Bride Tells of Romance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. JOHN, N. B., April 21.—"I love him more and more," Mrs. Aldred Cecil Durban, New York heiress, wife of the 21 year old British newsboy who delivered papers to her socially prominent mother at Enwood manor, near Folkestone, said as the liner Montrosse arrived here today.

The former Vivienne Maude Huntington, daughter of the late Charles Pratt Huntington, millionaire architect of New York, distant cousin of Collis P. Huntington, railroad builder of California, helped reporters and photographers to break down the resistance of her publicity shy newsboy husband.

Unused, even after the romantic marriage in England, to newspapermen, the bridegroom was reluctant to talk about the romance.

"Just Two Married People."

"We are just two married people," he said, "and there is no reason why every one should be so interested."

But Mrs. Durban, who married against the wishes of her mother, agreed that the absence of romance in the world today was justification for the sharing of her happiness with the world.

"Of course, they have said lots of things about us that are exaggerated," she said, "but it is not an exaggeration to say that we married simply for love. I first met my husband when he delivered the papers at Enwood Manor, Cheriton, where mother and I were living."

Asked how the acquaintance ripened, Mrs. Durban told of the few words exchanged every day as the tall blonde youth delivered his papers.

Took Secret Strolls.

"It was apparent that he admired me," she said, "and naturally I took more interest in him under the circumstances. From these meetings developed secret meetings and walks through the pretty lanes of Cheriton until—well, until at last we decided to get married."

Mrs. Durban's eyes twinkled and her smile was eloquent when she was asked why the wedding was held while her mother was in Switzerland.

"I knew she would never permit it if she knew," she went on. "But it's all right now. We are looking forward to settling down in Canada and making our own way. We've got to make our own way, you know. All my money has been turned over in trust to mother and we have to go on our own."

Mrs. Durban was born in New York, where she lived for twenty of her twenty-seven years. Mr. and Mrs. Durban plan to take up residence in Toronto, Ont., where he has an offer of a job with an electrical firm.

Washington Notes

Washington, D. C., April 21.—(AP)—Senator Norris [Rep., Neb.] said that Speaker Longworth had exercised "arbitrary action" in holding on his table for ten months the Nebraskan's resolution to abolish the "lame duck" or short session of congress.

The state of Illinois would be authorized to bridge the Pecatonica river northwest of Rockford, Ill., under a bill introduced by Representative Buckbee [Rep., Ill.].

All government land in the San Bernardino National forest in California would be withdrawn from entry under the mining laws to conserve water resources on the watersheds of San Bernardino and Riverside counties under a bill introduced by Representative Swing [Rep., Cal.].

The senate bill to authorize construction of public works by the navy department to the extent of almost $10,000,000, including $1,535,000 for the Puget Sound navy yard, was passed by the house and returned to the senate for adjustment of minor amendments.

The Linthicum bill to designate "The Star Spangled Banner" as the national anthem was passed by the house and sent to the senate.

The nomination of Charles E. Sandall to be district attorney for Nebraska was reported favorably to the senate by its judiciary committee.

The Supreme court today announced that it would hear no oral arguments at this term after May 2, and that it would recess from May 5 to May 19.

An increase of 25 feet in the proposed 1,207 feet height of Boulder Dam in order to lessen flood danger was recommended to Secretary Wilbur by the Colorado river board of engineers and geologists.

President Hoover recommended today that congress provide $665,000 additional for maintenance and operation of Indian schools of all classes for the fiscal year 1931.

SURVEY SHOWS 76 AIRPORTS IN USE IN STATE

Illinois now has 76 airports in operation, according to a survey made public yesterday by Maj. Reed Landis, chairman of the aviation committee of the Illinois chamber of commerce. Of this number 26 fields are located in Cook county, Maj. Landis report shows. The landing fields range in size from a ten acre tract at La Harpe, a town of 1,400 people, to the field at Chanute Field, Rantoul, which comprises 600 acres, and the airport at East St. Louis, which is 600 acres. The average size is 100 acres. Practically all of the fields are properly marked, Maj. Landis' survey showed.

New Air Line to Cut Time of Trip to the Northwest

A new air line which will cut the travel time between Chicago and the Pacific Northwest to one business day was announced yesterday by the Varney Air lines. The service, to be inaugurated on May 15, will be effected by a hook-up with the Boeing Air Transport line at Salt Lake City. The 700 mile journey from Salt Lake City to Portland, Ore., will be made in seven hours.

BRITISH AIRSHIP TO HOP SEA FOR CANADA IN MAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—Well stocked with choice wines, English ale, and gastronomic delicacies, the giant British dirigible R-100 will leave Cardington the middle of May for Montreal on the first trans-Atlantic flight made by a British airship since the R-34 flew from Scotland to New York and return in 1919.

Only invited guests will be carried on the luxurious sky liner, and special efforts will be made to prevent the inclusion of stowaways. Lord Thomson, secretary of state for air, will probably be the guest of honor.

It is hoped to reach Montreal in less than 40 hours, returning in an even shorter time if the wind is favorable. If the trip is successful it is likely that a regular passenger, mail and freight service will be inaugurated. Maj. G. H. Scott, who piloted the R-34 across, will be the commander.

Efforts to Locate Read, 'Air Tragedy Victim,' Are Futile

Investigation yesterday failed to reveal the whereabouts of Maj. Robert C. Read, Boston efficiency engineer, the story of whose death in an airplane crash was revealed as a hoax Sunday. John M. McDonald, president of McDonald Brothers, Inc., of Boston, stated that Read is in Chicago doing some work for his firm. Read's death was first announced at Dayton, O., by Miss Mabel Mehaffie, an actress known as Joan Winters, who said that he was to marry her on April 5.

President Disapproves Issuance of Special Coins

Washington, D. C., April 21.—(AP)—President Hoover made known today his desire to stop the practice of authorizing the issuance of special coins to commemorate historical events. In his first veto message to the house, the chief executive described the practice as "unsuitable and unwise" and returned the Hudspeth bill to authorize issuance of 10,000 fifty cent silver pieces commemorative of the 75th anniversary of the Gadsden purchase.

GOV. GREEN MAY OPPOSE COUZENS IN SENATE RACE

Lansing, Mich., April 21.—[Special.] Michigan's political pot began to boil in earnest today, when Wilber M. Brucker, attorney general, formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor at the September primaries and Gov. Fred W. Green hinted rather pointedly that he will enter the primary race as a candidate for United States senator against the present incumbent, James Couzens.

Mr. Brucker, it is conceded by capitol observers, is entering the gubernatorial race without waiting for the political blessing of the man whom he would succeed.

After a conference with John S. Haggerty, secretary of state, and Elbert H. Fowler, Detroit, president of the newly re-organized Michigan Republican club, the governor significantly declared that "If Senator James Couzens wants a fight as badly as he apparently does, then somebody ought to give it to him."

HOOVER'S CHOICE PICKED AS NEW HAITI PRESIDENT

Eugene Roy Will Assume Office Next Month.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, April 21.—(AP)—The council of state today chose Eugene Roy as temporary president of the republic of Haiti, thereby following the recommendations of the recent Hoover investigating commission.

He will take office next month at the expiration of the term of Louis Borno, and will serve until regular elections are held in the fall.

Mr. Roy received all 21 votes of the council of state on the first ballot. The names of Joseph Justin, Manuel Theman, and Andre Chevallier also were before the body.

Witnessed by U. S. Commissioner.

The proceedings were witnessed by Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, American high commissioner; members of the Haitian cabinet, and foreign diplomatic and consular officials. A crowd of about 1,500 persons assembled in orderly manner outside the building, and the streets were thronged. A holiday had been declared by presidential proclamation.

The selection of Mr. Roy by the Hoover commission met with wide approval. He never has held office before and is known as a nonpartisan. President Borno agreed that Mr. Roy should succeed him.

KNOWN TO FINANCIERS.

Eugene Roy is former president of the government clearing house and is widely known in financial circles. He has never held political office before and his selection as temporary president met wide approval.

The council of state was to have acted on his election a week ago, but its meeting was suddenly postponed by President Borno and there were rumors of a possible hitch due to opposition within the council to his selection.

President Borno last week made changes in the personnel of the council and it was stated that this was done in order to make certain Mr. Roy's election and fulfillment of the program outined by the Hoover commission and accepted by the opposition in Haiti.

NOISY "REDS" GO TO PRISON; ONLY JAIL FOR SILENT

William Z. Foster Among Former.

New York, April 21.—[Special.]—After delivering courtroom orations of villification and abuse, four of the five communist leaders convicted of unlawful assembly for a riot in Union square March 6, were given indeterminate sentences today in the Court of Special Sessions. The fifth, who held his tongue, escaped with a thirty day sentence to the workhouse.

William Z. Foster, Robert Minor, and Israel Amter, national leaders of the revolutionary party, and Hardy Raymond who joined the others in criticising their conviction as an "outrageous example of capitalist justice," received maximum sentences from Justices Max Salomon, James J. McInerney, and Daniel F. Murphy.

Gets Lighter Punishment.

Joseph Leston, who alone waived his right to address the court before sentence was imposed, was called "an instrument" in the hands of the "prime instigators and leaders" of the riot and given the lighter punishment.

The sentences meted out to Foster, Minor, Amter, and Raymond by the court—the same bench which tried and convicted all five—may run from six months to three years. Under the code of criminal procedure the justices of special sessions imposing a penitentiary sentence must leave its length beyond the six months period to the state parole commission.

Prepare Appeal.

As soon as the sentencing was over Robert H. Elder, former assistant district attorney in Brooklyn, began preparing to have the convicted men admitted to bail pending a review of their cases by higher courts. Some day this week, he said, he would make application in Supreme court for a certificate of reasonable doubt.

A demonstration by communist sympathizers had been anticipated, but none developed. Strong details of policemen were on duty in the corridors of the building.

LA BARBA, FLOORED IN FIRST ROUND, BEATS TAYLOR

FIDEL TAKES 9 COUNT; RALLIES TO GET DECISION

Golden Gloves Boys Win Bouts.

Fight Decisions

At Flint, Mich.—Harry Dublinsky, Chicago, stopped Herman Wallace, New York [8].

At Sioux Falls, S. D.—Irish McKenna, Fort Mead, S. D., knocked out Frankie Spargo, Mason City, Ia. [2].

At Memphis, Tenn.—Eddie [Kid] Wolfe, Memphis, beat Danny Delmont, Chicago [8].

At St. Louis, Mo.—My Sullivan, St. Paul, knocked out Mackie Horner, St. Louis [1]. Jack Barry, Chicago, beat Shuffle Callahan, Chicago [5].

At Buffalo, N. Y.—Tony Tozzo, Buffalo, won on foul from Arturo Schackels, Belgium [7].

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Fidel La Barba defeated Bud Taylor last night at the Coliseum. Speed and courage carried the west coast Italian to victory in ten rounds the like of which Chicago seldom has seen.

Taylor had a knockout within reach in the first round. He crashed his right to La Barba's jaw, sending Fidel to the floor, rolling him over on his side. At the count of nine, still dazed, La Barba came to his feet. With arms at his side defenseless he offered Bud his chance for victory.

Bud closed in, steadying Fidel with his left arm and twice brought his right hand over with crushing force. Each time, however, by instinct Fidel rolled, the punches glancing from his shoulder. Then he clinched, hanging on and covering up until the bell ended the round.

Bud's Right Fails.

There were few among the 7,000 who thought La Barba could weather the storm. Bud carried the attack in the second and third rounds, winning each by a wide margin but failing to score with his right hand. Bud's left flicked upward to Fidel's face, opening a cut under the right eye. Again he sent that left to the body until it seemed the Italian scarcely could stand the punishment.

At the start of the fourth round La Barba had recovered from the effects of his knockdown. Youth was his advantage and the weight of eleven years in the ring bore heavily on Bud's shoulders. Fidel carried the attack, pressing forward relentlessly. He sent his left to Taylor's body, brought it up again to the jaw, hitting two and three times to every blow that Taylor let loose. With the possible exception of the eighth round, in which Taylor made his final bid, La Barba won every remaining round.

Fidel Forces Fight.

In those 21 minutes, Taylor was the target for more punches than he ever took in that length of time. Refusing to retreat a step, La Barba forced his way in close, again and again pinning Taylor on the ropes. In the eighth round Taylor called on his reserve strength. Gamely he fought back and it seemed he still might earn a draw.

One of Bud's rights again carried to Fidel's jaw, but this time it lacked the power which had rolled the Italian on the floor in the first minutes of the fight. The ninth and tenth went to La Barba without question and convinced the crowd Fidel had fought back to a victory. Bud took it all, still trying, but decisively beaten.

Solly Schuman won from Ernie North of Waterloo, Ia., in the semiwindup when the referee stopped the fight after two rounds. One of the Chicago lad's uppercuts split North's lip so badly he was not permitted to continue despite his protests.

Paul Leberto, Chicago Golden Glove fighter, knocked out Joey Bosak in the second round of a scheduled five round fight. A left to the jaw sent Bosak to the floor for the count, and he was still out when carried to his corner. Previously Bosak had gone down for nine seconds from a similar blow.

Gaspero Whips Vickery.

Barney Ross of Chicago was given a beating in six rounds by Carlos Garcia of Mexico.

Frankie Alvarez was no match for Sammy Levine in another of the preliminaries. Sammy's left kept Alvarez at a distance. Levine also is a former Golden Glove fighter.

Red Vickery, who was introduced as a railroad fireman, was overmatched against Dan Gaspero. He had no defense for Gaspero's attack, and his own blows were wild and ineffective. The referee stopped the one sided fight after one minute and 40 seconds of the first round.

Prince Saunders earned a five round decision with Joey Barth in the first preliminary.

The official net receipts were $24,667. The paid attendance was announced as 6,320.

Weager Knows Game from Clubs to Aces

All boys 15 or 16 years old who never have played golf are invited to report at the Mid-City club, Western avenue and Grace street, at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening. Four will be chosen for instruction in the Tribune school by four Chicago professionals.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Jimmy Weager, one of the four golf professionals chosen by THE TRIBUNE to teach the game to four nongolfing lads of 15 and 16, had a far harder time learning to hit the ball far and straight than the youngsters whom he'll teach. He had no expert coach to start him off right, but came through the hard school for professionals when golf was far from being as popular as it is today.

Nearly thirty years ago the Edgewater pro was a slender lad, weakened by illness, who played his first golf in a cow pasture with a discarded mashie and a couple of balls. A cousin, who was rather a good golfer, had given him a midiron, a mashie and half a dozen balls which had outworn their usefulness to a good player.

Stung Hands Plenty.

But they were still useful to a youngster who didn't know what a golf course looked like. He knocked those balls over the hedges and ditches of the farm country near his home at New Malden, in Surrey, England, until all the balls were lost and he had to beg his cousin for more worn-out balls.

These were the old gutty [solid gutta percha] balls, of course, and Jimmy grins yet when he speaks of stinging his hands from a shot. "Those balls were like a brick," he says, "and unless you hit them exactly right the club stung your hands and the ball didn't go anywhere. A 180 yard drive with a gutty was a long ball."

The combination of interest in golf and the ability to do things with tools earned him a job as shopboy at the Richmond Golf club in Surrey before he'd finished school.

Four years he spent as an apprentice in clubmaking, meanwhile getting his first real set of clubs, which he made himself with the assistance of the other club makers. Nor were the other parts of a professional's job neglected, for at the same time he was

Illinois Turf Body to Rule on Licenses

BY FRENCH LANE.

A new house cleaning on the western turf is to be made tomorrow when members of the Illinois Turf association license committee convene here. It was reported last night the rulings will be more sensational than those made in Kentucky last week when eight jockeys, more than a half dozen trainers, and several owners were refused licenses.

All the rulings made by the Kentucky commission will be upheld here and additional owners, trainers and jockeys are to be denied the privilege of Chicago tracks, according to the rumors going the rounds last night.

Members of the Illinois committee are Roy Carruthers, representing Arlington Park; C. W. Hay, representing Washington Park; Martin Nathanson, representing Aurora; Joseph A. Murphy of Hawthorne, Charles F. Price of Lincoln Fields, and John T. Ireland from Fairmount Park.

Allen May Apply.

Jockey C. E. Allen, suspended for a year at Agua Caliente along with Tommy Luther, another rider, may make a fight for reinstatement before the Illinois board, but it was said his friends advised him not to apply for a license. Allen is under contract to former Senator Johnson N. Camden of Kentucky.

Allen and Jockey Luther were suspended for rough riding in the Agua Caliente handicap. They entered into an agreement, it was said, for Luther to apply for a license in Kentucky and in the event it was refused, Allen was to file his application in Illinois. Luther applied for a license in Kentucky and was turned down.

Durnell Status Doubtful.

The Illinois license board will not grant a license to either of them, it was said, unless Francis Nelson, presiding steward at Agua Caliente, lifts the suspension he handed out.

Boots Durnell, whose training license was held up in Kentucky, will attempt to iron out his troubles with the Kentucky commission before he asks for a license in Illinois. The Kentucky commission will insist, it is reported, that Durnell put himself right with the Jockey club of New York before he is restored to good standing. Durnell and the Jockey club in New York have been at outs for many years.

WHITE SOX BEAT BROWNS, 3 TO 2, IN TEN INNINGS

Lyons Triples and Smith Singles to End Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Ted Lyons, vitally assisted by Bill Kamm, Jim Moore, and Ernie Smith, yesterday put the jinxy St. Louis Browns in their place, setting them down in dramatic fashion, 3 to 2, in 10 innings.

Ted not only held the talented St Louisans to five hits, all of which were singles, but he tripled with one out in the tenth and came in with the winning run on Smith's single to right. Rather a pleasant reward for a young athlete who does not drink, smoke and chew and who curses only mildly.

Kamm's part in th heroics was no less than a homer which drove in Moore with two out in the seventh and at a time when the Sox were trailing, 2 to 0.

Crowder Puzzles Sox.

Until Moore singled in the aforementioned seventh, the Comiskeys were boasting a total of one hit off Alvin Crowder—a single which Bill Cissell made with two out in the sixth. It doesn't take much figuring to determine that Kamm's homer, being the third hit of the game, and coming so late in the contest, was a highly laudable attainment.

While happy for the home boys, the outcome was especially distressing to Mr. Crowder, for he is one of the big shot pitchers of the league, having won 17 games last year and 21 the year before. Yesterday he was doing everything that could be expected on the offensive, too. His second single in the sixth was the second hit of the game off Lyons and his run in the sixth was the one that broke a chain of zeros that hadn't been threatened by either nine before the sixth inning.

Smith Makes 3 Errors.

It was rather nice that Smith could bat in the winning run, for he had a most discouraging day afield, committing three errors for the book and another of judgment on a play at third that the scorer was not able to record. Ernie's three bobbles were the only misplays of the game.

Everything was done to the accompaniment of much noise. Ten thousand of the 15,000 persons present were guests of the management and it is a long established fact that crash customers make approximately 99 times more noise than cash customers.

We've told you that the contest was strictly airtight during the first five innings, so we'll start our detail with the first of the sixth.

Crowder opened with that second hit of his and moved to second on Blue's sacrifice bunt. O'Rourke then singled to center and Crowder came in with what most folks thought was enough to win the ball game. Manush popped to Cissell and O'Rourke was caught trying to steal second.

In the seventh inning the Browns made another run. Kress grounded

Golfers Buy Anything Once, Regardless of Testimonials

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 21.—The federal trade commission has just made the interesting discovery that some of the professional athletes, particularly the golfers, have been deceiving the public with insincere testimonials for certain brands of golf balls, belts, double breasted bloomers and so forth, from which I would infer that the federal trade commission is not overly alert.

Apparently having little else to do, the commission is planning to hold a hearing at which some of the boys who have attributed their success to various articles of commerce will be called upon to prove that they have actually used these wares in championship competition and that they would not have done as well if they had used other brands of goods.

This is referred to as the testimonial rackets, and the word racket has come to bear such a sinister meaning that one might suspect the boys of having committed some serious wrong.

They're Least Harmful.

I do not see why the federal trade commission is starting in on the golfers, for of all the testimonials which one reads in the advertisements nowadays, theirs are the least harmful. At the worst, their victims can only be induced to buy certain articles of commerce which they would buy inevitably anyway without any urging.

Golf is first of all a mental disorder, the symptoms of which are faith and gullibility. The patients are always experimenting with new weapons of strange shapes and cluttering their club lockers with new articles of apparel with which they hope to improve their golf. These are quickly abandoned, however, and no golfer's bag is ever definitely organized nor his costume finally selected.

If he sees another golfer hit a remarkable iron shot to a green where he has always had trouble himself, his mental processes, if those hallucinations which take place in the head of a golfer may be called mental processes, are such that he may be unable to rest until he has paid $45 for a leather bag exactly like the one used by the man who made the remarkable approach on the green.

Will Collect Clubs.

Give a golfer ten years in the game and the hall closet of his house will be a jumble of warped woods and rusted irons and putters, all with bowed shafts, which he has bought at various times. The hooks and hangers in the closet will be draped with a dusty wardrobe of sweaters and leather jackets, and the floor will be knee deep with parlor putting devices, captive balls on rubber leashes used for driving practice in the back yard, old golfing gloves and belts, moldy golf shoes with various types of soles

CARDS TO FACE MALONE, 40,000 BRUIN ROOTERS

Wilson, Hartnett Hit Long Homers.

The Cubs come home today to play the St. Louis Cardinals in the opening game of the season at Wrigley field. It will be Chicago's first glimpse of the National league champions since the second game of the world series last October.

Chicago's baseball public is loyal to its heroes. Indications are that 40,000 will be present to extend a welcome. Every box seat was sold a week ago.

Joe McCarthy will send Pat Malone to the pitcher's mound, and in support of his judgment, he might point out that Pat beat the Cardinals, 3 to 0, a few days ago, allowing only three hits.

Chilly Weather Forecast.

Either Sylvester Johnson or Wild Bill Hallahan is expected to pitch for the Cardinals.

The weather man suggests that spectators bring their overcoats, but assures them that they may leave their umbrellas at home. His forecast is, "Fair and somewhat colder, with moderate northerly winds."

The Cubs come home with a record of four games won and three lost. They have won two from St. Louis and two from Cincinnati, and have lost two to St. Louis and one to Cincinnati.

CARLSON TAMES REDS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., April 21.—Hal Carlson's arm and a lot of Cub bats spoke lustily today. Carlson did his bit with a five hit performance. The bats did their broadcasting in various ways, mostly with homers, and after nine rounds the Reds were obliterated by a 9 to 1 count. This put the titleholders in a happy mood for their season's inaugural tomorrow at Wrigley field.

None other than Hack Wilson touched the match to the fireworks this afternoon. As if determined that Chicago should know he was on his way home he tore off a terrific homer, his first of the year, in the first inning. There were two on at the time. Then the Cubs settled into three rounds of scoring, one at a time. This put them out in front by 6 to 0, but they weren't satisfied. They exploded a final fifth round salvo in which three runs grew from circuit drives by Gabby Hartnett and Clyde Beck.

Long Distance Drives.

The homers, at least two of them, weren't the every day garden variety. As Hack's wallop, made off Campbell, arched gracefully over the center field wall, the spectators couldn't help but see a sign setting forth that the distance from that point to the plate was 407 feet. Hack cleared it easily, so the hit probably was 425 feet from where it started. Babe Herman, Ethan Allen and Babe Ruth, in an exhibition game, are the only ones able to boast a similar feat.

Gabby's clout, produced while a lad named Johnson was trying to pitch probably wasn't as long but was a bit more spectacular. He aimed it over the left field wall at a point measuring some 350 feet from the plate, but it didn't stop in the street. It sailed on until it came bumping down on the inclined roof of a laundry on the far side of the thoroughfare. Chick Hafey is the only other man ever to send a ball to this cleaning establishment. As for Beck's homer it passed the wall almost at the 400 foot sign. It was quite a blow, but was dimmed slightly by the two which preceded it.

Reds' Errors Help.

Prior to Wilson's homer in the opening inning a few things happened. One was a line single to center by English. Blair laid down a bunt with the idea of sacrificing. The ball rolled along the first base line, and nobody seemed in any particular hurry to pick it up, so Blair converted it into a hit. Cuyler endeavored to sacrifice, but his bunt forced English at third. Then up came Wilson with the terrific blow which gave the champions a lead they never relinquished.

Through assistance from Campbell

CUBS BEAT REDS, 9 TO 1; CARLSON GIVES FIVE HITS

Hartnett and Wilson Get Long Homers.

the Cubs added a run in the second. Hartnett was the first man up. He singled over third. Beck bunted, and Campbell picked up the ball with intention of catching Hartnett going to second. The peg was wild, so Gabby sauntered on to third and Beck to second. Carlson whiffed, but English hit a fly to Walker and Hartnett scored.

A Chicago run in the third also was tainted by a Cincinnati misdeed. Cuyler opened the inning by singling to center. Wilson's swing developed a high fly to left center. Allen got under it, but his hands weren't equal to the task. He muffed, putting Cuyler on third and Hack on second. Stephenson walloped a fly to left and, although Meusel still owns an excellent throwing arm he didn't try to test it against Cuyler's speed. He let Kiki go home, and instead concentrated on keeping Hack at second. The next two batters did nothing.

Campbell Sent to Showers.

Before resuming on a large scale, the McCarthy maulers scored one more run in the fourth and, at the same time, forced young Campbell to leave the scene. With one out, Carlson singled through short and went to third when English singled to right on a hit and run. After a popup off Blair's bat, Cuyler hit safely to left to drive Carlson across. This was where Campbell departed. Johnson stepped forth and managed to nip Wilson for the third out.

The fifth inning, which brought the Cubs three more runs, opened with Stephenson hitting a single to right. Grimm flied out. Then Gabby banged his homer. The patrons, most of them women enjoying the weekly open gate, still were talking about Gabby's tap when Beck let fly his four base blow. In view of these happenings it was not surprising to find Johnson absent when the next inning started. McWeeny was in his place. He turned in three good rounds, and a kid named Eckert finished without being messed up.

Reds Blanked Until Eighth.

Until the Reds scored in the eighth they were not sure that they were seeing clearly. They weren't. Carlson attended to that. In seven rounds he had given only three hits and a pair of passes, all scattered. The first blow came in the fourth, and a fly ball and double play followed. Another hit was spoiled in the fifth by a double killing. The third hit was a single with which McWeeny led off in the sixth. He didn't even get beyond first base. Then in the eighth Carlson lost his possible shutout on Cuccinello's second single and Ford's triple.

Catcher Must Have Plenty of Fight, Hartnett Tells Boys

This is the second lesson in the second course of The Tribune's baseball school, written by Catcher Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs. His lessons will appear throughout the week and he'll give a personal demonstration for boys interested in becoming catchers at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at Wrigley field. The only admission required will be a FREE TICKET appearing in The Tribune sports pages Saturday.

BY GABBY HARTNETT.

Cincinnati, O., April 21.—I mentioned yesterday that the first things a youth must look for in checking over himself to discover whether he might have a chance to make the climb as a catcher were stature and strength. I should have added that along with the needed physical qualities there must be a certain amount of enthusiasm over the job. I don't mean merely a love for baseball, or a desire to be a catcher. What I mean by this is that a catcher should have the pep and fight that tends to keep up the spirits of his playing mates.

I have often been asked if, after so many years in the majors, I didn't tire out waving my arms, shaking my fists and making a lot of noise in general while I am back of the plate. I don't tire because it isn't work. I am out there to win and I think our chances are improved if I can keep my mates thinking that there is no reason to give up. Enthusiasm makes me that way.

Reason Is Simple One.

It is easy to show why fight in a catcher is of more importance than in almost any of the other positions. The catcher is the center of the eyes of the eight men playing with him. If they see him acting as if he was on top of the world, they can't help but get some sort of an inspiration. Of course, some players don't need this stimulant but at least it doesn't hurt them to see it demonstrated. An outfielder could have all the pep in the world but what good can this do? His mates must turn around to watch him or to listen. They must keep their eyes on the plate, which is where the action starts. A "dead" catcher can kill the team spirit.

I have said that a boy hoping to become a catcher of some worth must have, among other things mentioned, an inborn inclination for that particular position. I base this on my own case. I may have inherited this from my dad, who in his youth caught for small town teams. The leaning toward this one line of baseball play as against the other positions asserted itself almost as soon as I began to play.

40 Cents A Game.

When I was 14 years old, a team named the Bluejays in my town of Millville, Mass., suddenly discovered it had no catcher. They asked me whether I thought I could fill the job and I replied that I was just the man they needed. I wasn't sure that I was, but I had confidence and plenty of enthusiasm. I did so well that I kept the job. My pay was 40 cents per game. Which represented carfare. Some of it is still coming to me.

At 15 years, I was playing with or against lads who had been in the majors for trials and some who went up later. I believe that at that time, I had a better arm than I had two years ago. I mention this merely to show that if a youngster has the kind of an arm a catcher needs, he doesn't have to wait until he is 18 or 20 before he knows about it. Another thing about the arm, at least in my case, was that I was always careful about throwing what kids call league balls. Even a good arm will blow up throwing those light, five cent rockets.

After I had put in a few seasons with players far older than myself, I went to Dean academy and while there decided I would try out my skill in a few other positions. The longer I stayed away from behind the plate the better I knew that was the spot where I belonged. My enthusiasm for the place wouldn't let me stay away.

GONZALES GETS CHANCE TO CATCH FOR LOS ANGELES

Mike Gonzales, who was released outright by the Cubs at the end of last season, yesterday was offered a catching job with the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league. He received the bid during a conference with William Veeck, president of the Cubs.

Gonzales deferred acceptance until he has an opportunity to discuss an offer which he received from the Minneapolis club of the American association.

Lyons Scores Winning Run After Triple.

to Smith in deep short, and Ernie seeking to make a difficult play, threw the ball over Shires' head, permitting Kress to go to second. It was scored a hit and Smith was given an error on Kress' passage to second. Schulte also sent a grounder to Smith and the young man made a desperate try to get Kress at third. But he didn't have a chance.

Kamm Starts Double Play.

Melillo sent a bouncer to Kamm and Bill grabbed it in a sensational manner, after which he started a double play. Kress scored while the double play was being executed. Gullic grounded to Smith who kicked the ball with vigor but Manion flied to Reynolds and Smith was permitted to go to the dugout and calm himself.

In the seventh Jolley flied to Manush and Shires flied to Gullic but Moore singled and ran home ahead of Kamm when Bill drove the ball into the left field stands. Manush went to the wall to get Riddle's drive.

Back in the ball game, Lyons started pitching like his life depended on the outcome. Ten men faced him in the last three innings, the extra one being due to a single by O'Rourke with two out in the eighth.

Play Indians Tomorrow.

In the tenth Riddle popped to Kress who made a fine catch in short left. Lyons then tripled off the right field wall and walked home when Smith lined a single in front of Gullic.

The Sox left after the game for Cleveland where tomorrow they will participate in the Indians' home opener. Thomas is scheduled to oppose Ferrell. The Comiskeys will play every team in the league before returning home on May 17.

The ONE-PIECE Collar that Eliminates the Bulky 9 Ply Seam at the Neck

It is new—absolutely, sensationally new—in its smartness, its comfort, its design. The attached collar of the new improved Collarite Shirt is as different from that of all other collar-attached shirts as day is from night.

All other collar-attached shirts are now old-fashioned, because it is necessary to use a hot, bulky, nine-ply seam at the fold line of the collar to give them a semblance of shape. By using new principles of construction—embodying the use of the Van Heusen interlining—this buckling, binding seam is eliminated in Collarite.

The fold line of the collar is only one-third the thickness of other collar-attached shirts! It is smarter and more comfortable than any shirt on the market.

and cleats, and abandoned golf bags.

None of these articles will have been used up. They will have been discarded after brief trials as the phantom of hope lured him on to new experiments and no action of the federal trade commission ever will change this. Those manufacturers of golfing utensils who have squawked to the commission about the testimonial racket and precipitated the investigation show a poor understanding of the unfortunates whose feeble-mindedness keeps their factories active.

They're Just Replacements.

They should realize that about eighty per cent of the golf clubs, bags and apparel which are sold in the course of a year are replacements of material bought the year before which are still as good as any other golf club, bags and apparel for the purposes of those who purchase them. And while it may be true that Gene Sarazen's written approval of a certain club, bag or sweater will induce a large number of victims to buy, it is also true that these purchases will be discarded in disgust and resentment before long in favor of the next manufacturer's goods.

At last year's national tournament Walter Hagen was wearing a certain type of open faced underwear, with a shirt cut quite decolette, like the weskit of an evening suit, and his manager, Mr. Robert Harlow, was temporarily at loss for a way to impress the novel design of his man's lingerie on the public. Mr. Hagen was receiving a sum of money from the manufacturer for serving as his male mannequin in the national open and Mr. Harlow, in an honest desire to give maximum service for the price, spent the first two days of the tournament calling on the sports writers in the press building with a blueprint of Mr. Hagen's novel underthings, as I believe he called them.

Alert Ones Mentioned It.

"Have you seen Walter's remarkable new underwear?" he would inquire causally, and although there were some who exclaimed, "Don't tell me Walter has changed his underwear!" still I believe a few alert journalists, with a sense of the unique, dropped in a mention of it in their dispatches. Golf is one sport in which the lady journalists and experts have established themselves and of course Mr. Harlow had to use the most delicate tact in broaching the subject of Walter's new underwear to them. But he is one manager in the sport business who takes his obligations seriously and he did succeed in conveying the intimation to the ladies, as well.

But, in the end, Mr. Hagen, unable to parade the golf course in his remarkable new underwear, obtained the desired effect by retiring to the locker room to sit in his underwear. Meanwhile, while Mr. Harlow, with pleasant casualness, mingled among the lay golfers belonging to the Winged Foot club, remarking, "By the way, I wish you would look at Walter's new underwear. It is something new that he designed for himself and he recomends it as a relief for slicing, topping, and whiffing, as it does not bind across the shoulders at the instant of impact."

Farrell Explains Sweaters.

It was Johnny Farrell who explained the reason why all the better known professionals wore their sweaters stuffed inside their bloomers in the big tournament of 1928 but insisted on wearing their sweaters outside in 1929. It developed that in 1928 a manufacturer of belts retained the leading pros as belt mannequins, paying them various prices, according to their rank, on condition that they wear their sweaters inside, so as to show the belts. But the next year he refused to renew their contracts, so the sweater-inside-the-bloomer style, a daring departure which the boys had defended on the ground of ease and convenience the year before, was abandoned unanimously and simultaneously.

It seems hardly possible that the heartaches of the deluded golfers who try various materials on the recommendations of the professionals only to find their golfing growing no better fast, can compare with the bangs of uncomely ladies of all ages who read the testimonials of the actresses, attributing their beauty and their romentic triumphs to various brands of rouge, powder, and yeast, and even to bunion plasters. I much doubt that a lady who is unable to command the pure love of a desirable male with one type of makeup can captivate him the next time out by adopting a change of complexion or diet.

Cites Willard's Case.

A more vicious deception than any of these was practiced in the case of a celebrated invigorator whose proprietors spent vast sums advertising that Jess Willard owed his success to the systematic use of the same. Daily draughts of this tonic prepared Mr. Willard for his conquest over Jack Johnson, developed his biceps, enlivened his footwork, and increased his height, so it appeared from the daily copy, and there is no way of knowing how many earnest young men flooded their interior with the mysterious compound in the hope that by serious devotion to the treatment they would be made as big and strong and valiant as he, and might thus become heavyweight champion of the world.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

DERBY CHOICES.

WHEN we so-called, and often erroneously so-called, turf experts have no fixed opinion and are feeling around to pick our Derby choice, we are prone to call the Kentucky classic an "open race." Trite has become the expression the "most open race of recent years."

The fifty-sixth renewal at Louisville on May 17, however, is just that. The Wake does not recall any time so near the actual running of the mile and one-quarter journey when the future book favorite was quoted as high as 8 to 1. This year there are even two equal choices at these odds, with others closely bunched behind them at 10 and 12 to 1, and the others of course ranging to higher figures.

In the latest quotations, Desert Light, belonging to Mrs. Vanderbilt, and High Foot of the Chicago owned Valley Lake stable are installed first choices. Gallant Fox, highly regarded, is 10 to 1, and Flying Heels, son of the 1925 winner, Flying Ebony, which was ridden by Earl Sande, is 15 to 1. Then there's the Chicago owned Dedicate, Tannery, Gallant Knight, and others in proximity.

The Wake has no outstanding choice yet. It may be one of those years to play a "hunch." We have a hunch, not firmly entrenched, but still a hunch, perhaps based on sentiment. It is Busy, which ran a creditable mile Saturday, owned by J. B. Respess. Busy is a son of Busy American, which promised great things as a 3 year old but broke down running in the Derby when his legs were under suspicion. Of course, after we get down to Louisville and talk to the horses in person, we may have some opinion to hazard.

Here's a Follower.

My bets have all gone haywire, Wake.
Since about four months ago.
So when you get to Southland, Wake,
Will you put me in the know!
Will you quiz each horse in person, Wake,
Then wire me without fail!
If you don't, when you get back here, Wake,
You'll find this bird in jail.
Ken Tarbox.

Since our recent uncertain weather, The Wake has been a bit chary of stating where we will be on any given afternoon at 3 o'clock. But lest any one forget, we are informed McCarthy's Cubs and St. Louis' Cardinals will "cross bats" (did you ever see two teams actually cross bats?) at Wrigley field this afternoon in our opening game of the National league season—weather permitting.

Now You Just Behave.

Dear Harve: What a break those Cub pitchers missed. I looked carefully over all photos of persons attending Tommy Thomas' pitching school at Comiskey park and to my surprise could not find a single Cub pitcher in the crowd. Don't you think they could have learned something?

Two of 'Em.

Harvey: The usual Easter offering was taken and the minister noticed a number of bills and two pennies on the plate and remarked facetiously, "Ah, I see there is a Scotchman present." Whereupon an old Scot in the rear of the church arose and said, "Yes, sir, there are two of us." Whistle.

WeagerKnows Game from Clubs to Aces

taught greenskeeping as well as clubmaking.

His apprenticeship completed, Weager became a clubmaker in a factory at Putney, eventually becoming foreman of the head making department and finally inspector. After four years of that he became second professional at the Burr Hill club at Walton on the Thames and three years later was appointed professional at Broadstairs, Lord Northcliffe's club. Three years more there and he went to Worcestershire, where he built the course and then came an interlude, back at woodworking in making the wooden parts of airplanes.

Came Here After War.

Following the war Weager came to America and after a couple of years at the Harlem course he went to Edgewater, where he has been professional for six years. Mixed into that long road which led to rating as a first rank professional, Jimmy played some mighty good golf. He has broken half a dozen course records, with a 67 at Harlem, a 68 at Edgewater, Worcestershire, where he made his first hole in one, and a 68 on the No. 4 course at Olympia Fields, which stood for years.

He has made three holes in one, one of them being a dramatic finish in the qualifying round for the national open at Onwentsia five or six years ago.

Of the four boys chosen by lot from the high school students who are eligible, one will be assigned to Weager. Clubs will be supplied the lad and Jimmy will give him two lessons each week for four weeks. At the end of that month the four lads, the other three having been coached by George Knox of Calumet, Frank Williams of Skokie and Alec Cunningham of North Shore, will meet in a tournament. It will be interesting to watch the teaching methods of the four professionals and to learn just how well a lad can play after a month's instruction.

CHOICE QUALITY

LONG BEFORE the choice leaves of golden Turkish and velvety brown Domestic tobacco are selected for Camel Cigarettes, nature's own alchemy has worked a miracle in them that no effort of man can hope to duplicate.

Every tiny leaf-cell is irradiated—stored full of goodness by the clean, pure vigor of the sun!

Our share in the making of Camels is to see that all of the fragrance, mildness, mellowness, aroma—in a word all of the natural goodness of these sun-ripened tobaccos is preserved and developed—then to combine them into the smooth, delightful harmony of the famous Camel blend, and manufacture them into cigarettes by the most modern methods known to the industry.

You can taste the natural goodness in every delicious puff of a Camel Cigarette.

WALTON LEAGUE CONVENTION TO OPEN THURSDAY

Will Discuss Problems of Conservation.

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago becomes the clearing house for national conservation movements and thought when the eighth annual convention of the Izaak Walton League of America opens at the Stevens hotel Thursday. The meeting will continue through Saturday.

Federal Men to Speak.

Representatives of the federal government, including specialists in a number of Washington bureaus, state game and fish commissioners, league officials and a large number of nationally known conservation authorities and outdoorsmen are scheduled to address sessions of the convention and discuss the most important questions related to the presentation of America's natural resources.

Among the well known figures who will appear before the convention are Henry Baldwin Ward, president of the league; Paul Redington, chief of the United States biological survey; Henry O'Malley, commissioner of the U. S. bureau of fisheries; Horace M. Albright, formerly in charge of Yellowstone National Park and now director of the national park service; Prof. C. Nelson Brown, dean of the New York State College of Forestry; I. T. Quinn, head of the game and fish department of Alabama, and Maj. Robert Y. Stuart, chief of the United States Forestry service.

Conservation Chief Topic.

The situation with regard to America's waterfowl population, stream pollution, enforcement of game laws, conservation of American beauty spots, progress in the fight for the great boundary line park between Minnesota and Ontario and many other conservation topics will be discussed during the three days of the convention. Delegates to this big meeting will come from all over the United States.

A sportsman's show also will be held in connection with the convention. Hundreds of manufacturers of fishing tackle, tents, camping equipment, firearms, outboard motors, and other paraphenalia dear to the hearts of outdoor fans are planning to place exhibits in this show which is open to the public.

WELL, NOW I'VE GONE AND DONE IT— A FRIEND OF MINE ASKED ME TO COME ALONG TO A SWELL MUD PUDDLE AND-- I LISTENED TO HIM - SO I SLIPPED MY COLLAR AND RAN AWAY WITH HIM - GEE, WE HAD A GREAT TIME AND I GOT--
GOOD AND DIRTY- GETTING COVERED WITH MUD WAS BAD BUT RUNNING AWAY WAS WORSE -I'LL GET PLENTY WHEN I GO BACK
GEE, I'M AFRAID TO GO HOME--

Sarazen II. Is Easy Winner of Paumonok

New York, April 21.—[Special.]—For the third successive year a three year old captured the $5,000 Paumonok handicap when Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's Sarazan II. ran today at Jamaica in the manner of his great namesake and won by five lengths. He beat a field of eleven of the greatest sprinters the east could muster. Judge Echilling, running in the colors of Rudolph Spreckels, was second and just lasted to stave off by a head the great stretch rush of the Wheatley stable's Districation.

Polydor, the favorite, finished fifth, half a length back of Eddie Ahearn, thus being out of the money for the first time since 1928. High Strung, juvenile champion of 1928 and the horse counted on to stop Polydor, had scant chance with the start and finished seventh, three lengths back of Son o'Battle. After High Strung came Crack Brigade, Sweep Out, Simba, and Tripping Toe.

In 1928 when Polydor was a three year old and won the Paumonok he did not go out to the Kentcky Derby. Neither did Mei Foo, last year's winner. But Sarazan II. seems sure to run at Churchill Downs even though Mrs. Vanderbilt has his stable companion Desert Light, who now is one of the choicest for the Kentucky classic.

Patrick and Mathews Head Congress A.C. Boxing Card

Mickey Patrick and Matty Mathews, 158 pounders, meet in the feature bout at the Congress Arcade A. C. tonight. Frankie Hughes and Johnny Taneck, 140 pounds, clash in the semi-windup. Six bouts are carded.

THE
ENGINE
POWER PLANT DEVELOPMENT

One hundred thousand miles with Cannon Ball Baker behind the wheel of a Franklin car, piling up the most imposing list of road records in America, mean what?

To the owner who uses his car over these same American roads, who may delight in fast travel, or who may want principally the maximum in power, comfort and reliability, these outstanding performances of the Franklin constitute a super-demonstration—one which has never been duplicated by any other automobile.

But the real significance is to focus attention on the way the air-cooled motor transcends every other type of power plant—a fact that has been borne out on the road, in the air and by record increase in sales.

Today the principle of air-cooling is recognized for its ability to get maximum power from a motor.

Only a few years ago, when man visioned the possibilities of air travel, aviation engineers "looked around for the best type of motor." With the whole field to pick from and with only the desire to find the type of engine which could best stand the gruelling punishment of flying an airplane—they chose the air-cooled engine.

Since the introduction of the air-cooled, airplane-type engine in the new Franklin, all previous conceptions of fine motor car performance have been shattered. This remarkable engine—which has FLOWN AN AIRPLANE—has brought about that eager power that asks no favors and produces astonishing speed, smoothness hill-climbing ability and acceleration.

Cannon Ball Baker as test pilot has conquered the greatest proving ground in the world—American roads as they come. That the tests signify quality is accepted. The comfort which they so dramatically demonstrate has always been an unchallenged Franklin superiority. Ease and safety of driving could never be more effectually endorsed.

So Franklin has visualized the revolution it has worked in automobile building. There is no other car like it—no other car which does the things it does—no other car which enjoys its position of leadership through its engineering progressiveness and the satisfaction it renders to owners.

And all because Franklin has triumphed with its principle of air cooling, acclaimed as today's greatest power plant development.

CANNON BALL BAKER and a few of his Sensational
Franklin Records

NEW YORK TO MIAMI—a sensational 1451 mile trip south in 24 hours, 20 minutes, averaging a mile a minute.

NEW YORK TO LOS ANGELES—without a motor stop and more than 8 hours faster than any other automobile.

COAST-TO-COAST ROUND-TRIP—7 months of hard driving crowded into less than 7 days—for a new record.

PIKE'S PEAK ENDURANCE—150 miles—6 consecutive round trips without a stop. Considered impossible before.

BUTTE TO ANACONDA AND RETURN—with an astonishing average of 74.68 miles an hour.

NEW YORK TO CHICAGO—breaking all previous records. More than an hour faster than the fastest limited train.

LOS ANGELES TO PHOENIX DESERT DERBY—892 miles through every conceivable weather and road condition, beating the former record by 1 hour, 11 minutes.

ATLANTA TO ASHEVILLE—207 miles—passing through 37 cities and towns—remarkable record with high average speed of 57 miles an hour.

LATE SELLING LEAVES CHICAGO LIST RAGGED

Commonwealth Edison Rises 8½ Points.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Heavy offerings late in the day resulted in an irregular trend in the Chicago stock list yesterday after bullish sentiment had held sway most of the session. A number of issues escaped with gains, but closing prices were under the best levels of the day.

The two high priced Insull stocks, Commonwealth Edison and Public Service no par made big gains, both establishing new highs for the year. Strength in the two issues was accompanied by the usual batch of stock split, stock rights, and "important announcement" rumors which have been tagging the pair for some time.

Shows Most Activity.

Edison was the more active, with a turnover of 2,375 shares, closing at 303½, with a net gain of 8½ points after touching 310 in the early trades. Public Service reached 325 and finished at 322, up 17 for the day on sales of 310 shares.

Majestic Household closed the day 3 points lower after performing in spectacular style during the morning. The issue opened 5 above Thursday's close and continued up to 74 before its resistance eased. It then dropped to 61½ and moved up a fraction before the gong. Stock certificates were mailed last night to most of the subscribers to the new shares.

Gains Twelve Points.

Great Lakes Dredge finished the day 12 points higher, 5 under the day's high. Turnover in the stock was less than 1,000 shares. Fitzsimmons was unchanged at the close. Libby-McNeill showed little response to an announcement of recapitalization plans of the company. It was off a fraction at the close.

Other stocks which made moderate gains were A. M. Castle, National Standard, Zenith, North American Light and Power, and Twin States Natural Gas. Continental Chicago units were off 1¼. Electric Household, Jefferson Electric, Houdaille "B," and Bendix were all slightly off at the close.

REAL ESTATORS TO HEAR TALK BY FRANK BLANKLEY

Frank W. Blankley, with thirty years of experience in various phases of subdividing with the William E. Harmon interests, will deliver an address on "Subdividing" this evening at 8 o'clock before the Real Property institute of the Cook County Real Estate board at the rooms of that organization in the 100 North La Salle street building. On the same evening at 7 o'clock M. M. Oshe, law instructor, will give a talk on the subject of "Will," at the same address.

FRANK W. BLANKLEY.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

A number of issues in both the stock and bond list of the Chicago curb reached their best quotations of the year yesterday. Harrison's featured the trading with a net gain of 2½ points, finishing at 7½ after rising to 9⅞ earlier in the session. Chicago Rapid Transit securities were in good demand, the debentures spurting nearly three points and the common stock adding a good fraction in a move into new high ground above 14.

National Bellas Hess.

Kindly give me all the information concerning National Bellas Hess company.—Mrs. A. G. B.

National Bellas Hess company, Inc., is a result of a consolidation in 1927 of the National Cloak and Suit company and Bellas Hess company. The company is the third largest retail mail order house in the country and specializes in wearing apparel and dry goods.

The loss reported by National Bellas Hess company for 1929 is largely attributed to the unprofitable acquisition of the Charles William Stores late in 1928, inventory losses, and prepayment of shipping charges on mail orders. Sales in the first quarter of the current year were considerably less than in the like quarter of 1929.

For the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, net sales were $48,311,813, against $44,649,102 in 1928. After expenses, depreciation, and taxes, there was a net loss for 1929 of $214,114, compared with net income of $2,567,468 for 1928, when earnings were equal to $10.67 per share on 200,000 common shares. At the end of 1929 there were 717,096 no par common shares outstanding.

Current assets were $11,993,786, and current liabilities were $3,275,660 at the end of 1929, leaving a net working capital of $8,718,126.

Directors recently voted to omit quarterly cash and stock dividends due in April on the common stock. The last previous quarterly disbursement of 25 cents in cash and one per cent in stock was made on Jan. 15, 1930.

The preferred stock is medium grade and the common is a speculation.

Sharp & Dohme.

My interest in Sharp & Dohme common has been aroused. However, before investing any money in it, I thought it best to get your opinion.—Mrs. W. H. D.

Sharp & Dohme, Inc., manufacturer and distributor of a complete line of pharmaceutical and biological products, is a re-incorporation of a business established in 1860. Manufacturing laboratories are located in Baltimore with branches in principal cities throughout the country. The company employs about 1,800 persons.

Net income in 1929 was $1,683,007, which was 2.1 times dividend requirements on 229,085 shares of $3.50 convertible preference stock and was equal to $1.13 per share on 776,627 no par common shares. Earnings in 1929 represented a 25 per cent increase over those reported by the combined predecessor companies in 1928.

Dividends are being paid on the preference A stock, but none have been reported on the common, which is speculative at present.

Trading 2 Lamp Posts for a Refrigerator

Gas light passes out yet gas sales mount . . . because gas refrigerators, stoves, furnaces, industrial uses are being aggressively merchandised. An industry with billions invested must keep pace with progress . . . must anticipate the decline of old markets and the creation of new ones. The gas industry has!

In your business you face the future armed with every fact you can command. Yet how often—as an investor—do you examine every aspect of an industry's future before buying its securities?

Guess work isn't necessary in the investment field today. Exact information is available . . . at trifling cost compared to the staggering sums lost by haphazard security buying.

NEW YORK STATE RAILWAYS
To the Holders of Fifty Year First Consolidated Mortgage Gold Bonds
(Series A and B)

As you were advised last November, the undersigned Committee retained Coverdale & Colpitts to make a comprehensive examination of the New York State Railways and the operation of its properties.

Upon an application to the Court by the undersigned Committee in connection with the scope of the examination for which facilities should be accorded to Coverdale & Colpitts, the Court upon its own initiative appointed Coverdale & Colpitts to make the examination at the expense of the estate and for the benefit of the Court and all other interested parties. A thorough and independent analysis and report, upon which a readjustment or reorganization or other appropriate action may be predicated, is thus assured.

Security Trust Company of Rochester, as Trustee under the First Consolidated Mortgage, has declared the principal of the bonds to be due and has instituted proceedings for the foreclosure of said mortgage.

The very substantial amount of bonds deposited up to date with the undersigned Committee is gratifying, particularly as the effectiveness of its efforts has been helped by the strength of its bond representation. In order further to augment such effectiveness and to afford to the bondholders who have not as yet deposited their bonds with the undersigned Committee an opportunity to do so and to receive the benefit of such co-operation, the undersigned Committee hereby extends the time for the deposit of bonds to May 8, 1930. Thereafter no further deposits will be accepted except upon such terms as the Committee in its discretion may impose. Prompt action is therefore urged.

Natural Gas Markets are constantly expanding

IN NATURAL GAS is inherent a great force of nature which is being put to ever-widening uses as a superior fuel. That superiority is completely established by both geological and economic findings, while competition for natural gas reserves becomes increasingly keen. Long-distance pipe lines are constantly opening up new markets. Few communities are without the pale of this development.

Significantly, this competition benefits both the industry and the consumer, for the potential demand is seen to be far greater than the present distribution. Good management, location of properties, stable consumer demand, and prudent financing, are the distinguishing characteristics of sound natural gas companies.

The illustrated booklet, "Natural Gas, the Modern Fuel," tells the part which this corporation is playing in this thriving industry. A copy will be mailed to you upon request.

NEW OFFERING OF $30,000,000 IS CLARKE PLAN

Fox Reorganization Near Completion.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The final phase for reorganization of the big Fox Film and Fox Theaters corporation was entered yesterday. General Theaters Equipment, Inc., which is headed by Harley L. Clarke and which acquired control of the Fox enterprises after a protracted legal battle, announced the first public financing in connection with the deal. It consists of an offering of $30,000,000 debentures.

But while the two Chicagoans, Mr. Clarke and Harry L. Stuart, head of Halsey, Stuart & Co., won out against William Fox and eastern banking interests, there remains one more hurdle. Minority stockholders of the Fox Film corporation brought suit yesterday in the New York Supreme court to prevent the Clarke-Stuart interests from putting their refinancing plan into effect, and to substitute the refinancing plan proposed earlier by the eastern banking interests.

Part of Refinancing.

The proposed $30,000,000 debenture issue of General Theaters Equipment is part of a refinancing plan whereby the Fox enterprises will pay off about $100,000,000 of current obligations. The debentures will furnish part of the funds with which General Theaters Equipment will acquire 50,101 class B common shares and not less than 1,000,000 class A common shares of the Fox Film corporation and all of the outstanding class B shares of the Fox Theaters corporation.

The debentures will carry warrants for subscription of General Theaters Equipment common stock at $45 a share, and also will be convertible into common stock.

Plans for the Insull organization to consolidate a big traction system in Indiana, with a Chicago connection, received a partial setback yesterday. The Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company and the Indianapolis Street Railway company were placed in receiverships on creditors' claims.

It had been the Insull plan to form a $70,000,000 merger involving the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern, Terre Haute Traction and Light, Central Indiana Power and Indiana Electric companies. It also was planned to take over the Union Traction company of Indiana. The Insull interests already operate 139 miles of electric railway between Indianapolis and Louisville through the Interstate Public Service company, and the 69 miles of the Chicago, South Shore and South Bend Railway company.

First Part Halted.

However, the first part of the plan was halted last week when the Indiana public service commission denied an application for consolidation. The Insull interests some months ago made bids on the Union Traction property, which has been in receivership for several years, but a small group of bondholders objected to the offer as too low and began injunction proceedings, which were dismissed.

In the present transition stage of business and industry, with consequent slack demand for commercial credit, the banks of the country are turning their funds to stock market loans and investing moderately in market securities. The federal reserve board's weekly report on the member bank position shows that reporting banks expanded their loans on securities by $75,000,000 in the week ended April 16, and were lending $885,000,000 more than a year ago. On the other hand, other loans declined $59,000,000 for the week and were $471,000,000 below a year ago.

The banks increased their investments in market securities by $5,000,000 in the week and by $8,000,000 for the year.

Wholesale Buyers Here for Big Sale

A rush of merchants and buyers from all corners of the continent yesterday started wholesale merchandising on an unprecedented scale in Chicago with the inaugural of the one week's removal sale of Marshall Field & Co. [wholesale]. Before the doors opened yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, a crowd of 1,000 merchant bargain hunters were waiting outside. By late afternoon the attendance for the opening day had reached an estimated total of about 3,500.

This selling event is being staged by Field's wholesale division preparatory to their abandonment of the building at 219 West Adams street, where the wholesale business had been located for forty-three years, for their new quarters in the Merchandise mart.

Activity Quickens.

Activity quickened noticeably in the several resident buyers' offices in the wholesale district and in other wholesale houses. Retail stores clients from all parts of the country, but especially middle western points, show evidence of the widespread interest in the event. Gimbel's, an eastern retail store chain, has ninety buyers attending the event.

Such staple lines as piece goods, silks, cotton goods, house furnishings, etc., comprised a large proportion of yesterday's sales volume. Broken lots, samples, items to be discontinued and large volumes of stocks on hand were offered to the trade. A temporary restaurant with a seating capacity for 400 persons has been established on one floor of the building for the accomodation of buyers as well as salesmen employés of the company.

Tests Drawing Power.

Since Tuesday is ordinarily "city" day, a heavy patronage from Chicago retail stores is expected today, according to D. J. O'Grady, advertising manager.

"We regard this selling event as a kind of test of the drawing power of the merchandise mart should become for merchants from all over the country. If one big removal can attract such a crowd, the new mart, with its great concentration of merchandise offerings, should be able to accomplish a great deal for Chicago as a wholesale center," he said.

TAYLOR TELLS OF CONFIDENCE IN U. S. TRADE

U. S. Steel Reveals Names of Holders.

MYRON C. TAYLOR.

New York, April 21.—Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel corporation, asserted at the twenty-ninth annual meeting of stockholders in Hoboken today that the present business foundation is sound and that "we can look into the future with a feeling of assurance, confidence, and safety."

"There is no great inventory at the present time which warrants downward revisions to lower levels," he continued. "Certain commodity values have witnessed readjustment since last fall, particularly those designated as crop commodities.

"We could hardly continue the great activities of last year. There must be a readjustment in keeping with the economic rules which man cannot defy. The readjustment in a general way has been accomplished.

Assures Stockholders.

"We are able to say that the larger appropriations for this year aggregating $200,000,000 assure that the stockholders' interests, as far as efficiency of the plants is concerned, are protected and that this plan will be continued into the future so as to insure the permanency of our successful operation."

James A. Farrell, president, said that while production of steel in the first quarter averaged 82 per cent of capacity he would not make any prediction for the full year.

"We are trying to do as well as we can without fixing any particular figure," said Mr. Farrell, recalling that last year he had predicted gross of $1,500,000,000 for the year and that the company had fallen short of that figure by only $4,000,000.

David F. Houston, president of the Mutual Life Insurance company and secretary of agriculture in the cabinet of Woodrow Wilson, was elected to the board of directors of the corporation.

Stock Holdings.

Prior to the meeting the stock registry books of the corporation were made available for inspection. They listed the holders of the 8,560,876 shares of common and 3,602,811 shares of preferred stock in the company. The common is distributed among 120,918 holders; the preferred among 61,667.

Several changes were revealed in the holdings of stock by members of the finance committee and the board of directors, compared with last year. George F. Baker increased his holdings of common from 76,000 shares to 90,000 shares, while his preferred holding remained at 500 shares.

Walter S. Gifford, president of American Telephone and Telegraph, was listed as the owner of 387 shares of common, and Junius S. Morgan Jr. owns 115 shares. Mr. Gifford and Mr. Morgan were added to the directorate since the last annual meeting.

John McCormack, the singer, holds 1,200 shares of common and Elihu Root Jr., is listed as owning 1,300 shares of common. Irene S. Du Pont is the owner of 12,500 shares of common.

U. S. HIGH COURT REFUSES REVIEW OF OLD TAX CASE

Washington, D. C., April 21.—(AP)—The Cleveland Railway company of Cleveland, O., today was refused a review by the Supreme court to test the validity of additional taxes of $470,000 imposed by the federal government for the years 1918 to 1921.

The railway company, under agreement with the city, regulates its fares on a "cost of service" basis. The company contended that under this arrangement it is not permitted to keep for itself any part of its revenues in excess of operating and maintenance allowance, interest on its indebtedness, taxes, and 6 per cent on the part value of its outstanding capital stock, but must return to its patrons, in the way of reduced fares, any excess.

Returned Merchandise Pares Profits of Seller

BY SCRUTATOR.

The idea that the American consumer is a slave to standardization and willingly accepts what is offered him by his merchants has been given a blow in the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce's survey of national retail credit.

Reports from 893 department stores over the entire country, doing a gross total business of $1,654,240,000, showed that 5.9 per cent of the goods sold for cash were returned, 14.2 per cent of those sold on charge accounts and 13.1 of the sales on the installment plan. In New England stores 20 per cent of the charge account merchandise came back to the seller.

Certain businesses other than department stores had high ratios of returned goods. Shoe stores as a whole found that on open account sales they were forced to, or did, take back more than 21 per cent of the goods sold. Even cash customers carry back what they do not like as much as they did when they first saw it. The bureau found that 16 per cent of purchases in fur goods stores, cash paid, were sent back.

Much Lost Motion.

The implications in the statistics are rather plain. The public is compelling its merchandisers to go through a great deal of lost motion. Instead of one delivery and a sale and a profit, the return counting as a delivery makes two trips for the merchandise, the expense of handling, the risk of breakage and no profit. Perhaps it would not be unfair to estimate that the cost of a sale and a return is double that of an original sale that sticks, and on this basis the New England department stores' cost on returned charge account goods would be half as large as the cost on all those returned.

In those stores it would appear that one-third of the operating costs could be wiped out if there was no returned goods acceptance. It is a striking fact that the largest stores, over the whole country, have the largest percentage of returns from the charge customers, those doing over thirty millions of sales annually averaging 17.3 per cent. Charge accounts represented 44 per cent of the gross sales of all department stores.

Efficiency in distribution would be promoted if there were no return privilege on merchandise. Goods would be cheaper. But the freedom of choice enjoyed by the customer would be hampered. American customers, and particularly women customers — men exercise the return agreements a little less frequently—demand their right to change their minds even after making them up once, and pay for the right.

Fickleness of Fashion.

Should we become completely standardized there would be no returns and retail markup would be smaller. Fashion is so fickle that few people believe it will be possible to reach that state. An aviator's flight to Europe may immediately cause the fad for women's hats on the helmet model. The turn to short clipped hair for men is attributed to the impetus given by those whose heads were cut off with the guillotine during the French reign of terror. Historians record that in the Directory period this fashion was adopted as a grim jest, so that fashionables might look like men about to be beheaded.

Changes in clothing styles are made just as rapidly and just as illogically. Unless we become content to sit down to a more static condition of life, it is reasonable to assume that the return of goods will continue a far greater cost to the merchant than his losses in bad debts. These losses in extending credit have been so far reduced that in the aggregate department stores lose only a fraction of 1 per cent of sales.

New York, April 21.—Something got out of gear with the stock market in the late trading today and prices declined all along the line.

Losses among the leaders ranged as high as 7 points. Hard working pools succeeded in keeping a handful of favorites on their pins, but plus signs were more widely scattered among the finals than they have been in many weeks.

Beyond the fact that the street has been leaning more and more to the view that something in the way of corrective reaction might be essential to the market's well being along about this time, there was no concrete reason apparent for the setback—at least none that could be pinned down by the rank and file.

Bears Launch Drive.

The bears launched a drive against the copper issues in the early trading and followed it up with sporadic at-

WHEAT TRADERS CONFUSED OVER MART'S OUTLOOK

Prices Decline Again; Longs Liquidate.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat traders are at sea as to the probable trend of values in the immediate future, due to the conflicting news. Dry weather continues in parts of Kansas and Oklahoma, and the forecast was for frost overnight in Kansas and Nebraska.

While this was effective in bringing about a rally of around 1c from the inside figures yesterday, the buying was mainly in the way of short covering. The finish was ⅝@⅞c lower with May showing the most decline, closing at $1.04⅝@1.04¾, while July was $1.06¼@1.06⅜ to 1.06½.

There was persistent liquidation by longs in May wheat, and many commission houses failed to replace the sales with purchases of the deferred deliveries. The aggregate trade was not large until near the close, when a selling movement started in sympathy with the break in corn. All bulges seemed to find plenty of wheat for sale, while the breaks brought in good support. A holiday in Liverpool and continental markets materially restricted the export demand and no sales of consequence were reported.

No More Government Loans.

The government apparently has decided to take its loss on loans to farmers secured by cash wheat held on farms and according to a Minneapolis message, advances to wheat growers will be discontinued. Loans were originally made in the northwest on the basis of $1.25 per bu for No. 1 northern at Minneapolis, with the basis later reduced to $1.20. The loans mature on June 30, after which ownership of wheat will pass to the government unless they are paid. As the present market price is now about 17@22c below the loan price, the repayment of the latter is regarded as doubtful.

A decrease of 3,925,000 bu in the domestic visible supply failed to have much effect on the market, although the total is down to 139,594,000 bu, against 118,246,000 bu a year ago. Opening of lake navigation has failed to stimulate the milling demand to any great extent. Buenos Aires closed 1½@1⅝c lower as compared with Wednesday, while Winnipeg was 1½c lower than Thursday's finish.

Corn in Sharp Break.

Liquidation developed in corn, which found support lacking and prices dropped 2½@3c from Saturday's finish with stop loss orders uncovered on the way down. The finish was on a fractional rally from the inside figures with net losses of 2¼@2½c with May 81@81⅛ and July 82⅝@82¾c.

Part of the 800,000 bu corn that has been shipped east via lake from Chicago has still to be sold and until it is disposed of the general demand is expected to remain limited. Shipping sales for the day aggregated 39,000 bu. Weather conditions were favorable for field work, and the trade is looking for a substantial increase in the acreage. An increase of 261,000 bu was shown in the visible supply, making the total 23,641,000 bu, against 39,853,000 bu last year.

TO STOP CO-OP WHEAT LOANS ON PRESENT BASIS

C. E. HUFF.

President C. E. Huff of the Farmers National Grain corporation announced yesterday instructions have been sent to all branches to discontinue loans to coöperatives at the present basis on wheat billed after April 30.

The order resulted, it was announced, because the time remaining between April 30 and the movement of the new crop would be required for liquidation of government loans on the old crop. Also, it was said, there was a desire to avoid any price conflict which might be caused by continuing the present loan figure up to the time 1930 wheat begins to move to market.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 6,000 cattle, 24,000 hogs, 14,000 sheep.

Cattle and lambs were in good demand at strong to higher prices yesterday, while the market for hogs sagged 5@25c soon after a dull top-heavy opening. The $15.00 cattle quotation obtained prime weighty steers. This price stands highest since April 10, while the top on lambs at $10.25 goes back 10 days for an equal.

All classes of live stock showed substantial decreases. The total number of cattle, hogs, and sheep at seven markets at 187,000 compares with 251,000 the previous Monday.

In spite of the fact that hog receipts at 40,000 were only moderate and leading outside points showed substantial decreases, buyers succeeded in saving 5@10c directly after the opening, and, before mid-season were operating on a 15@20c lower basis. Some heavy butchers were off as much as 25c before the close.

The extreme top held at $10.50, while the general average showed 10c decline at $10.05. Small packers and city butchers bought more freely at the decline late, but sellers were unable to recover any of the loss. About 6,000 were left at the close. The five western markets, including Chicago, expected 61,000 hogs today, against 73,400 last Tuesday.

"To Arrive" Hogs, $10.45.

Hogs averaging 170@210 lbs were bid $10.45 for all week on the "to arrive" market yesterday, but the lowest offer was $10.55. Mediums for today and Wednesday carried bids of $10.20. Buyers and sellers on the futures market had their ideas too far apart for trading in most months yesterday.

April heavy grades were sold at $10.90. Fourteen carloads of May and June light were bid $10.25@10.50. There were buyers for seven loads of September light at $10.30@10.40.

Cattle carrying weight were outselling yearlings by a big margin yesterday. Prime 1,580@1,585 lbs steers reached the $15.00 line, which was 25c above the highest sale last week. Several loads of cattle almost as heavy sold up to $14.85, with nearly 200 head at $14.00 and above. The best yearlings available stopped at $13.85, averaging 1,046 lbs.

Lamb Market Active.

Brisk demand featured the lamb market yesterday and prices advanced 25@50c under brisk competition between local and eastern interests. The supply had changed hands before noon and some smaller buyers were "short" at the close. Seven carloads sold at $10.25, the day's top, while bulk of wool lambs brought $9.75@10.10.

Light shorn lambs advanced to $9.00 and 103 lb averages sold at $8.25, both showing the full gain. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and steady. Feeding and shearing lambs showed little change.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—Cotton goods opened irregular and quiet in the gray goods division. More business was offering on wash goods and printed materials and a better market was offering on some of the sheer goods. Raw silk at Japan dropped to the lowest prices yet touched, and local dealers quoted high grade Japans at $4.35 and under per pound. More inquiry was reported from cutters for silks for immediate shipment. Filling in orders for men's wear lines were more numerous.

RAW SILK.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—SILK—Raw futures closed very steady; sales, 580 bales; May, $4.05@4.08; July, $3.99@4.02; September, $3.97@3.98. Open market quotations [sixty days basis]. Shanghai steam, extra B $4.30; Canton double extra, 14-16, $2.30; Japanese crack double extra, $4.45.

p.S. a new opportunity for security salesmen

The recent expansion program of this old investment banking house, underwriters and distributors of both stock and bond issues, brings an unusual opportunity to seasoned security salesmen. Men of ambition, with established clienteles who seek to develop past the limitations of their present connections, are invited to arrange for an interview.

"Conservatism" or Truth

Executives who complacently ignored facts in writing properties down to nominal sums, now must shoulder responsibility for withholding the truth from stockholders. Many, unwilling longer to mislead, employ American Appraisal Service to determine the facts for themselves and for their stockholders.

HEAVINESS IN COTTON

Liquidation by holders of cotton, particularly in the near deliveries, combined with the break in grains, brought liberal selling pressure yesterday and carried prices down to a close of around the inside of the day, with net losses on futures in Chicago 19@21 points and in other markets 10@19 points. Spots were off $1.00 a bale, New York 16c, New Orleans 15.35c, Galveston 15.70c and Houston 15.65c.

The final government report on grades show 14,515,000 bales ginned, 75 per cent, or 10,994,000 bales well tenderable, and 24.3 per cent of 3,524,000 bales were untenderable. Prices follow:

INDUSTRY SAYS... AMERICA MUST SAIL THE SEAS!

American industry's prosperity at home depends in no small measure on its ability to market abroad its surplus products. To do this, industry must be able to meet competitive merchandise prices. Dependable transatlantic shipping rates, therefore, become a vital factor in foreign trade. Without the large and efficient all-American transatlantic fleet of the United States Lines, Inc., as most representative of our American Merchant Marine, on the traffic lanes . . . we would ever be confronted with unstable rates. No one realizes this more than American industrialists.

Able, efficient management . . . wisely administered . . . scientifically organized . . . United States Lines, Inc., is an outstanding established American carrier, certain ever to expand its facilities. Its Participating Preference Stock offers a sound and profitable investment for you.

PLAN $135,000 APARTMENTS FOR AUSTIN DISTRICT

Owner to Have Bungalow on the Roof.

BY AL CHASE.

Plans are now being completed by E. J. Ohrenstein & Hild for a $135,000 apartment hotel to be erected at the southeast corner of Washington boulevard and Long avenue, in the Austin district, by F. A. Ringwald, contractor for millwork. The building is to be three stories, with a smaller or setback fourth floor which will be occupied by the owner, Mr. Ringwald. The latter's roof bungalow, as this type of home is usually called, will probably contain eight rooms and be surrounded by a garden built over the top of the third story.

The building will contain thirty-four suites of one, two and three rooms, and will have an elevator. It will occupy a lot 50x125. The exterior will be of face brick with cut stone trim. It will contain a two car garage for the owner. Plans will be finished and ready for estimates within two weeks, according to Mr. Ohrenstein.

Can Company Builds.

The Continental Can company is erecting another unit to its can manufacturing plant occupying the grounds bounded by Grand, North, and Kilpatrick avenues and the Belt line railway. The structure will be 160x140 feet, will be of reinforced concrete construction and will cost $180,000, exclusive of the ground and equipment. Francisco & Jacobus are architects and consulting engineers. The R. F. Wilson company has the mason contract.

George Wittbold, loop florist, has purchased the residence at 936 Sheridan road, Evanston, from Charles G. MacKlin of Beverly Hills, California. The lot is 100x151 feet.

Oak Park Lease.

The A. & P. have leased a large store at 117 Marion street, Oak Park, for ten years and will operate a self-service branch when remodeling is completed. H. J. Matter and J. Carpenter of the George R. Hemingway organization, and John F. Hahn, Inc., were brokers.

Joseph H. Klafter has completed plans for a three story store, office and apartment building to be erected at the southwest corner of 26th street and Tripp avenue. It will be 35x125 and contain eight flats, four offices and a store. The owner is J. G. Kastner and the cost is placed at $75,000.

Architects to Hear Talks on Landscaping and Art

Jens Jensen, landscape architect, will speak on "Landscaping as It Should be Practiced in America" before the Illinois Society of Architects at its monthly meeting this evening at the Architects' club. J. H. Hopkins, modern art designer of Holabird & Root, will speak on "Modern Art."

Adding Safety To Safety With a 6% Yield

All bonds ought to be safe—but undoubtedly some are safer than others. It has been our idea to secure a bond that would be unusually safe and yet not sacrifice the 6% interest rate. We have accomplished this purpose by handling bonds that are insured by two old reliable security companies, who guarantee payment of principal and interest. Write for circular describing these bonds in detail.

Plan for Exchange of Southern Ice and Utilities Company Securities for
Associated Gas and Electric Company
$1.60 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates

In connection with a Plan which has been formed for the exchange of securities, including those of the classes hereinafter mentioned, of Southern Ice and Utilities Company for $1.60 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates of Associated Gas and Electric Company, upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, the undersigned have consented to act as a Committee representing the holders of such securities of the Southern Company with respect to the consummation of such Plan.

The Plan offers to each holder of securities of the Southern Company, of the several classes hereinbelow mentioned, an opportunity of receiving, upon the consummation of the Plan in respect to the securities comprised in such class, $1.60 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates (hereinafter called "$1.60 Allotment Certificates") of the Associated Company upon the following bases, respectively:

For Preferred Stock, $7 Dividend Series, at $99 per share, plus accrued dividends, $1.60 Allotment Certificates, at the rate of $27 per certificate, plus accrued interest.

For Preferred Stock, Participating $7 Series, at the rate of $93 per share, plus accrued dividends, $1.60 Allotment Certificates, at the rate of $27 per certificate, plus accrued interest.

For First Mortgage Gold Bonds Convertible 6% Series, due February 1, 1946, at 99% of the principal amount thereof, plus accrued interest, $1.60 Allotment Certificates, at the rate of $27 per certificate, plus accrued interest.

For Five-Year 6½% Convertible Gold Notes, due December 1, 1932 at 108% of the principal amount thereof, plus accrued interest, $1.60 Allotment Certificates at the rate of $27 per certificate, plus accrued interest.

For Allotment Certificates for shares of Preferred Stock, Participating $7 Series and Class A Common Stock, having attached Class A Common Stock Purchase Warrants, at the rate of $198 for each unit of 2 shares of Preferred Stock and 1 share of Class A Common Stock represented by any such Allotment Certificate, plus accrued dividends on the shares of Preferred Stock represented thereby, $1.60 Allotment Certificates, at the rate of $27 per certificate, plus accrued interest.

Accrued interest on $1.60 Allotment Certificates and accrued dividends and/or interest on deposited securities of any class shall be computed as of the date that the Plan shall become or have been declared operative as to any such class of deposited securities.

The Plan shall become effective with respect to the securities of any one of said classes, but only with respect to the particular class, if and when, but only in the event that, there shall be deposited with the Depositaries hereinafter named, prior to May 15, 1930 (or by such later date, if any, as the Committee and the Associated Company may mutually approve, but in any event not later than June 14, 1930), such number or amount of the securities of such particular class as shall, when added to the number or amount of the securities of such class then owned by the Associated Company, constitute at least 80% of the total number or amount of the securities of such class then outstanding, provided, however, that in the event that a lesser number or amount than that specified of the securities of such class shall be so deposited prior to May 15, 1930, the Associated Company, may at its option, but shall not be required to, accept such lesser number or amount, and thereupon the Plan shall become operative with respect to the securities of such class so deposited.

To consummate the Plan, the undersigned Committee has executed a Deposit Agreement with The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, as Depositary, dated as of even date herewith, copies of which may be obtained on application to the Secretary of the Committee or to any of the Depositaries of the Committee.

Each holder of said securities of the Southern Company desiring to participate in the Plan, should deposit his securities with the undersigned Committee by delivering the same to the Depositaries indicated below, within the time prescribed for such deposit, namely, by the close of business on May 14th, 1930. On depositing his securities, each holder thereof will receive a certificate of deposit, issued by the Depositary or by the Sub-Depositary with which the same are deposited, for the securities so deposited, exchangeable on consummation of the Plan with respect to the securities of such class, for $1.60 Allotment Certificates on the respective bases hereinabove set forth. As provided in the Deposit Agreement, in case the Plan shall not have been consummated with respect to any particular class of securities by the close of business on May 14th, 1930 (or by such later date, if any, as the Committee and the Associated Company may mutually approve, but in any event not later than June 14th, 1930), the securities of such class, deposited by each holder, will be returned to him on the surrender of his certificate of deposit therefor, without expense to the depositing holder.

The Committee and the Board of Directors of the Southern Company believe that the consummation of the Plan is for the best interests of such security holders, and recommend that they take prompt action in depositing their securities under the Plan.

MISSOURI VALLEY GAS.

American Utilities and General corporation are to acquire a substantial interest in the Missouri Valley Gas company.

VAN SWERINGENS' MAY OFFER NEW DIVIDEND PLAN

See Bid for Management of Mo. Pacific Ry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 21.—A belief that O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen will oppose the plan of the Missouri Pacific for the payment of arrears of dividends on its preferred stock, and will put forward a different plan was expressed in railroad circles today.

MARTIN J. VAN SWERINGEN.

Disclosure that the Allegany corporation, a Van Sweringen holding company, controlled Missouri Pacific through holdings of 47.8 per cent per cent of voting stock was recently made. Since that time speculation has been rife as to what extent the Van Sweringens would assert their voice in the management of the road. The statement made yesterday indicates they will exercise control in definite fashion.

What Plans Call For.

The plan said to be under consideration by the Van Sweringens calls for the payment of both dividends on preferred stock with a new class of preferred instead of by common stock, as has been suggested to the interstate commerce commission by the Missouri Pacific management. The plan attributed to the Van Sweringens would prevent dilution of the common stock which would result from operation of the management's plan.

ORRIS P. VAN SWERINGEN.

Arrears on Missouri Pacific 5 per cent convertible cumulative preferred $100 par stock total $48.25 a share. These arrears would be defrayed in the reported Van Sweringen plan by the issuance of a new $100 par non-convertible preferred stock. Since the present preferred stock has sold as high as 149 and now sells around 135, the terms of the offering would be adjusted either in the exchange rate or the interestate rate or both. Eventually, when all the present preferred was converted into common, there would be only two classes of stock in the road's capital structure. The new preferred would probably be callable and might in turn eventually be eliminated.

Directors of the Missouri Pacific have asked the interstate commerce commission to approve the issuance of common stock to pay preferred dividend arrears.

OPEN IMPORTANT HEARING.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 21.—(AP)—Hearing of the application by the Allegheny corporation of Cleveland, holding company controlled by the Van Sweringen interests, for authority to acquire in excess of 10 per cent of the stock of the Missouri Pacific Railroad company as one of their moves in forming a transcontinental system, was begun before the Missouri public service commission today.

The case is important in that, should the commission sanction the transfer of control of the capital stock, the transfer would not be affected by any future legislation by congress to regulate railroad mergers or holding companies such as is now being advocated in Washington.

The Van Sweringens and their representatives are reported to have acquired or negotiated the purchase of about 53 per cent of the Missouri Pacific stock. The railroad is a Missouri corporation.

Attorneys told the commission that the Van Sweringen interests and the Allegheny corporation had put approximately $100,000,000 into the Missouri Pacific railroad, acquiring 778,500 shares, or 50.3 per cent of the outstanding common and preferred stock.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Kreuger & Toll.

Recent buying of Kreuger & Toll is said to have been due primarily to the announcement by the French government of the repurchase of $75,000,000 of its bonds. It is understood that the company and its subsidiaries, the Swedish Match and International Match company, will have profits close to $10,000,000 as the result of its bond redemption.

Production Ahead.

Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing is among the relatively few companies which have been able to keep production schedules so far this year ahead of those in the corresponding period of 1929. For the first quarter this company received orders totalling $14,662,000, contrasted with $13,260,000 in the first quarter of last year.

Prosperous.

General American Tank Car corporation is another company which has enjoyed prosperity so far this year. First quarter profits were approximately 50 per cent in excess of those the same period a year ago. The increase is said to reflect its profitable foreign activities, as well as its broadening chemical business. Excellent profits are also said to have been made through its manufacture of tank and refrigerators cars.

PROVISIONS LOWER

Liquidation by tired holders, coupled with general pressure, and changing contracts from May to July and September, featured operations in lard yesterday. A break in corn and hog prices, with only limited buying support, made a close on lard 5c lower on May and July and 2½c off on September.

Hog supplies were liberal but less than the previous week and exceeded last year's at western packing centers. Prices follow:

WALL ST. STOCK TRADERS KEEP CLOSE TO SHORE

tacks in other sections later, but they have been carrying on this warfare for the last week or so without any devastating effect.

The street no doubt was a trifle disappointed with the absence of any unusual development at the annual meeting of the Steel corporation stockholders in Hoboken, N. J., but no one thought of saddling the blame nor any considerable part of it on this hiatus. Probably the reaction was fated in the natural order of things and can be viewed as the "healthy sign" as the experts have been talking about. At any rate, many traders are very evidently keeping close to the shore for the moment—until the ways clear.

Slide from Peaks.

Before the list began to slide, thirty or forty stocks mounted to new high levels for the year on more or less impressive buying. Vanadium, a fair haired pool favorite, was foremost among them, climbing to 140⅝, a jump of some ten points, more than half of which it managed to hold in the face of the late selling movement. Fox was another feature of ambitious stocks, and Radio also performed rather brilliantly. Case Threshing, Electric Power, Corn Products, Dairy Products, and Procter & Gamble marched proudly, but the "new highs" were rather conspicuous for the absence of any recognized market leaders.

Steel held firm during the earlier trading, but had to give ground with the rest in the afternoon. The close found it with a net loss of nearly 4 points on the day. American Telephone and Telegraph dropped some 7 points; General Electric was down 4; Eastman Kodak, 6; Water Works, 4; American Tobacco B, 5; Foreign Power, 4⅝; Allied Chemical and Dye, 11½; Columbian Carbon, 4½, and Johns-Manville, 3⅝ points.

Under Steady Pressure.

The coppers were under steady pressure throughout the day and most of them yielded to new low levels for the year or longer. Anaconda and Kennecott were heavily sold, backing off more than 3 points each, while Granby Consolidated dipped for a loss of some 7 points.

Weakness spread to the railway equipment and to a growing assortment of specialties, and by the beginning of the last hour of trading had involved virtually the whole list. Selling pressure increased toward the last and closing prices in most cases were the lowest of the day.

One or two motor stocks attracted attention, Packard pushing across 21 and holding a fractional gain until the finish. Moon shorts likewise were discomfited, that issue running up a 2 point gain.

Montgomery Ward displayed some strength in the forenoon and probably here also a short interest played an important part. Bulls on this stock tried to make capital anew out of the talk involving the corporation in merger negotiations with Sears-Roebuck, but the street in general is not inclined to make much of the combine reports.

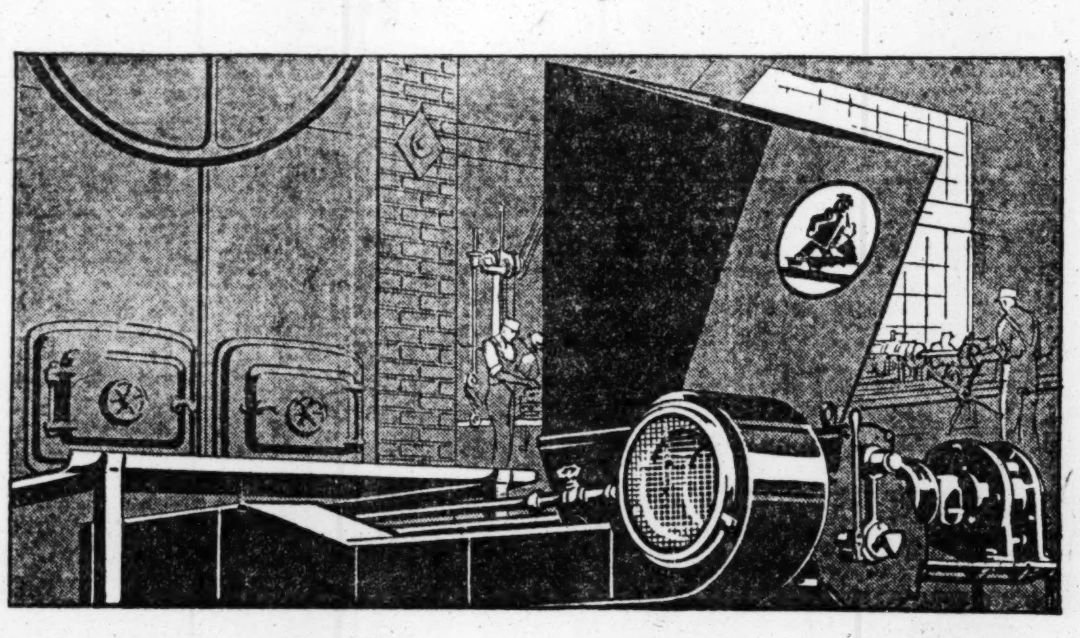
IRON FIREMAN

. . . the machine that made coal an automatic fuel . . .



Earns users 39.44 per cent annually on their investments*

You wouldn't need to worry over fuel bills if you owned an Iron Fireman. You could have proper automatic boiler pressure, too, and plenty of steady, even heat at a pronounced saving over present costs. Let the machine pay for itself. It will do it. In industrial sizes, on the average, Iron Fireman writes itself off the books in 30 months in fuel economies alone, a user survey shows.

Iron Fireman non-agitated forced underfiring cuts fuel bills 15 to 50 per cent, for it burns smaller sizes of coal which cost less per ton. And it burns less coal. *Earnings of 39.44 per cent on their investment are reported by 392 typical users. Produces firebox temperatures 500 to 1000 degrees hotter than hand firing, abates smoke nuisance, reduces labor costs, automatically controls room temperatures.

For homes and for larger heating and power plants up to 200 boiler h. p. . . . sold on convenient terms.

An Iron Fireman engineer will call and survey your plant, and render a report that fairly and accurately contrasts your present results and costs with results and costs you may expect from an Iron Fireman. Ask us for this service. It is free.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre to Paris train. Macadam is an English man who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received just before sailing a letter from Hermione Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. They find the bolt on the door and it takes them some time to arouse any one. Finally Eduardo, the butler, responds to Geoffrey's knocking. Geoffrey is disturbed by the butler's manner and is uneasy as he bids Catherine good-night. On the way to her room Catherine picks up a man's glove and sees the marks of a man's square toed shoe on the stairs.

INSTALLMENT XX.
A TRIUMPH.

Catherine's eyes narrowed in thought. Eduardo, she had remarked only today, wore pointed, rather foppish shoes, a style ill-according with his thick, prizefighter frame. Who, then, had been here this evening? The person, whoever it was, had been to the apartment in her absence, most likely using the private door.

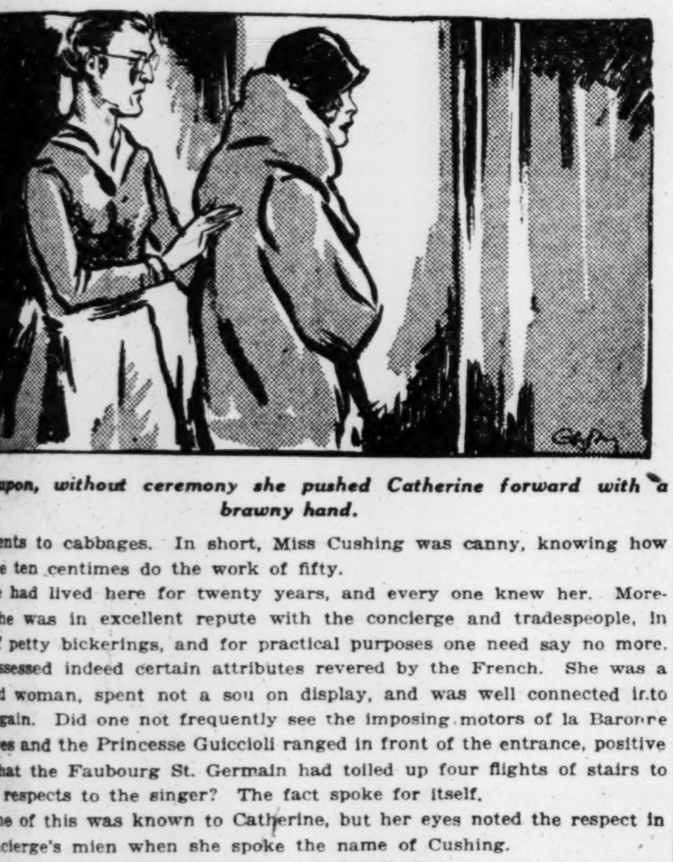
With a shake of the head she gave it up. And then, all at once, she remembered the vulgar genteel lounger who last evening had stared at her so curiously in the street below, and later had gone away with Jeanne. Yes, he had certainly worn gloves like the specimen lying there on the floor. She recalled in a flash the prim, nastily decent look of them, as she had passed him on the pavement.

"So Jeanne has a lover," she concluded with a touch of amused wonder. "But what a lover!"

Somehow the creature had suggested an undertaker.

• • • •

Hermione Cushing inhabited a small apartment high up in the rue de la Bienfaisance, on the edge of the quarter known as that of Europe. It is for the most part a typically French neighborhood, which explains why long ago Miss Cushing chose it, experience having taught her that in the sections of Paris given over to Americans one pays through the nose for everything, from rents to cabbages. In short, Miss Cushing was canny, knowing how to make ten centimes do the work of fifty.



Whereupon, without ceremony she pushed Catherine forward with a brawny hand.

She had lived here for twenty years, and every one knew her. Moreover, she was in excellent repute with the concierge and tradespeople, in spite of petty bickerings, and for practical purposes one need say no more. She possessed indeed certain attributes revered by the French. She was a dignified woman, spent not a sou on display, and was well connected into the bargain. Did one not frequently see the imposing motors of la Baronne de Grèves and the Princesse Guiccioli ranged in front of the entrance, positive proof that the Faubourg St. Germain had toiled up four flights of stairs to pay its respects to the singer? The fact spoke for itself.

None of this was known to Catherine, but her eyes noted the respect in the concierge's mien when she spoke the name of Cushing.

"The fifth floor, to the left, mademoiselle," instructed the woman promptly, and came forth like a mole out of a burrow to point the way.

There were two staircases, it seemed, one wide and grand, the other narrow and dingy. It was the latter, at the back of a small court, which led to the singer's abode.

The upward journey was steep, the day unexpectedly mild. Catherine took the first three flights in a rush, so that at the turn of the fourth she was obliged to pause before a window and take breath before finishing the climb. Gazing out on the mansard roofs and blackened chimney pots, she took stock of her recent impressions and prepared herself for the coming interview, which for some reason made her slightly nervous.

The morning's experiences had been disturbing. The hour she had spent with Mme. Bender had failed to clear up the uncertainty in her mind, and she had gained nothing except a strengthened conviction that her cousin was frightened about something. How or why, she could not say. Again and again she had sought to probe the mystery of that quick, recurring gleam of positive terror in the gray eyes, but she had come away without reaching any satisfactory conclusion. Was the poor creature's fear merely a symptom of disordered intelligence, or had it some positive, external cause? That, as she had said to Geoffrey Macadam last night, was what she was anxious to ascertain.

Following her visit to the ill woman had come a disagreeable shock. Jeanne, not without a trace of malice, had informed her that the concierge's wife had sent a message to say she wished to hold converse with the young American lady staying with Mme. Bender. Catherine could not guess what she wanted, but on descending for a walk her ignorance was brusquely removed. The feminine half of the menage which held sway over the tenants' lives accosted her with sour disapproval and chided her severely for the fault she had committed in allowing her escort to accompany her upstairs after the house was shut for the night. Apparently she had been guilty of a heinous offense against propriety. While mademoiselle's youth and professed ignorance of national customs might excuse her this once, no similar escapade could possibly be tolerated. She would give the house a bad name.

Catherine had stared in stupefaction. At first the veiled implications had escaped her, for though she was no fool she had always regarded her motives as above reproach. However, the pinched face with its evil leer forced her to see that in this quarter at least she was an object of suspicion.

The revelation infuriated her. It seemed to her that not only her own decency was attacked, but that of all her countrywomen as well, and in the heat of the moment it was difficult to hold her tongue and refrain from telling the old harpy what she thought of her. She could still picture the woman's twisted smile as she withdrew into her lair, still feel the blood tingling in her own cheeks as bit by bit the full infamy of the suggestion sank into her mind. At last out of the flames of her wrath had risen the determination never again, if she could avoid it, to encounter the guardians of the loge. There was a way out which she meant to take.

Accordingly, at lunch time, she had asked Jeanne for a latch key to the private door, only to be met with a somewhat chill refusal. There was only one key, it seemed, which the maid and butler were in the habit of using. However, Catherine was undaunted. Her antagonism was roused by this and similar rebuffs, and she knew by now that Jeanne's autocratic ways could only be met with an equal firmness.

"Never mind," she had returned intrepidly, "either I shall have to share the key with you, or else I shall have a spare one made."

She had won her point, though against a grudging displeasure only too apparent. The key now lay in her bag, giving her a sense of independence and triumph.

How little could she guess the rôle this same key was to play in future events, or to what extent it was to shape her entire destiny! Thus lightly do we forgive the links in the chain which will bind us prisoners, arrange the noose to encircle our unconscious necks! But for that insignificant shape of metal reposing beneath her powder puff, handkerchief, and lipstick —but the matter can wait. In peaceful ignorance she ascended to the top floor, and thinking only of the person she was about to meet, rang a jangling bell at the left hand door.

The summons was answered by a gaunt grenadier of a servant in a starched apron and brown knitted jersey, too short in the sleeves. Behind steel rimmed spectacles a pair of searching eyes regarded her with mingled goodness and severity, while a deep voice bade her enter. Simultaneously the visitor was aware of a piano, close at hand, played in a florid and sketchy manner.

"Mademoiselle," announced the stalwart domestic, throwing open the door of the small salon, "here is the young lady you are expecting." Whereupon, without ceremony she pushed Catherine forward with a brawny hand. "Enter, mademoiselle," she commanded, and stalked away.

By Mae Tinée.

"Song of the West" is a pleasing adaptation of the operetta "Rainbow," by Laurence Stallings and Oscar Hammerstein II. Its story is timed in the gold rush days of '49 and the action takes place on the covered wagon trail to California.

I greatly enjoyed the work of John Boles and Vivienne Segal, who sing the leading rôles. Both have splendid voices, know their theater, and are personally likable. I found the choruses by the soldiers effective and wasn't offended when, toward the end, during a sad episode a bevy of short skirted young women tripped into the limelight and did a dance. A line of dialogue indicates that they had just run over from the joint across the street and that explanation sufficed for me, though the maiden with me exclaimed: "Now, how perfectly SILLY!"

Also, I was keen for Joe E. Brown as a droll muleteer named Hasty, who is greatly beloved by the ingénue of the piece—herself a cunning trick. Mr. Brown has a rôle well suited to his w. k. clowning abilities and rubber face. It does him wrong at the last, as you shall see, for it calls upon him to join the angels in a sticky and melodramatic manner, but generally it fits him like a glove. Warner Brothers missed one bet. They should have let the comedian tell his story about "The Litto Mousie" that had a date with a cat and didn't keep it, which, as related by Mr. Brown, is one of the funniest things ever heard on stage or screen. It would have done more to make this picture popular than anything else in it.

"Song of the West" sings of Stanton, formerly an army captain, who has been dismissed through the villainy and lying of a fellow officer, Davalo. Stanton loves the colonel's daughter, who is adored by Davalo, and, indeed, every other member of the regiment. Stanton is the heart's desire of the picture's lady "heavy" —and so on and so on—with the action winding through military posts, over trails, and in and out of pioneer towns.

The production has some grand scenery, and beautiful color, and photography. Also, one must report, a stretch where the last is blurred—but this only may have been the fault of the print I saw. The film is unusually suspenseful and dramatic for a musical show, and you laugh heartily now and then.

You will—or should—like "Song of the West" quite a lot.

"THE BENSON MURDER CASE."

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Frank Tuttle.
Presented at the Chicago theater.

THE CAST:

Philo Vance	William Powell

Harry Gray	William Boyd
John F. X. Markham	E. H. Calvert
Anthony Benson	Richard Tucker
Mrs. Paula Banning	May Beatty
Albert	Mischa Auer

Welch	Dick Rush

Well, to my way of thinking, "The Benson Murder Case" isn't half as exciting as our King and Queen contest. I was disappointed in it and I'm sure Mr. Powell was disappointed in it and it's a cinch the producers CAN'T be satisfied with it—and I do hope you like it.

We've been waiting and longing for this picture you know, our joyful anticipation, spurred by fond memories of "The Canary Murder Case" and "The Green Murder Case," and William Powell's performance in "The Streets of Chance." Those were thrillers. "The Benson Murder Case" is not.

Like "The Canary" and "The Green," "The Benson" has been adapted from a novel by S. S. Van Dine. The novel was tremendously exciting. The picture, alas, is not at all so. It is smoothly enough acted, but is without suspense and what, I ask you, is a mystery fillum without suspense? Not once does your hair stand on end; at no time do you care particularly who did or did not murder Mr. Benson, a mean gentleman most of whose acquaintances entertained a primitive yearning to do him harm. You may, perhaps, get a couple of laughs out of Eugene Pallette's impersonation of a bonehead sergeant of police. May.

Of one thing be assured—the "Benson" case by Mr. Van Dine is in no means in the discard for filming purposes. This adaptation is really more the work of the adaptor than the author.

See you tomorrow.

Robert Bridges, Britain's Poet Laureate, Dies

Former Athlete, Physician; Lived to Be 86.

LONDON, April 21.—(AP)—Robert Bridges, poet laureate of England, died at Boars Hill, near Oxford, today after a short illness. Dr. Bridges, who had been poet laureate since 1913, was 86 years old. His works were known all over the world.

ROBERT BRIDGES.

Dr. Bridges was born Oct. 23, 1844, and was educated at Eton and Corpus Christi college, Oxford. After his graduation he studied medicine and practiced several years as a hospital physician in London. He gave up medicine in 1882 to devote himself to literature. He retired to a woodland hill near Oxford.

In his years at Oxford, Dr. Bridges took an active interest in sports, and besides having pulled the stroke oar for an Oxford college crew he was a proficient performer at cricket. To the end of his active career he took delight in writing poetry of the purest classical form.

Dr. Bridges in 1884 married Monica Waterhouse, daughter of the British painter and Royal Academician, Alfred Waterhouse. He leaves one son and two daughters.

Dr. Bridges in September, 1923, accepted the invitation of Dr. M. LeRoy Burton, then president of the University of Michigan, to come to the United States as part of the arrangement for an exchange of professors. He was the first laureate to cross the Atlantic.

Although Dr. Bridges wrote comparatively little poetry during the war he injected into his war verse a virility which hitherto had not characterized his work. His war poems included one "To the United States of America" and another "To President Wilson." He also wrote verses to the Americans on their Thanksgiving day celebration in England in 1918.

Dr. Bridges' best known piece of work was the anthology he published during the war called "The Spirit of Man." For this book he selected English and French poems expressive of the highest emotions. The book caused some comment as it studiously avoided the war spirit and was dedicated to the king.

Last fall Dr. Bridges published what critics regard as his finest work, a 4,000 line poem called "The Testament of Beauty." Experts said on its publication that one had to go back to the nonagenarian Sophocles to find a comparable example of poetic activity so late in life.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

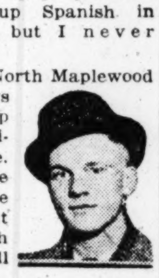
The Question.

What foreign language do you like best?

The Answers.

Joseph Kane, 1608 Milwaukee avenue, general agent—Spanish. In my opinion it has a more beautiful tone than other foreign languages. I have studied German, Spanish, and Latin, and with a short period of review I could manipulate any one of them.

Miss Helen Wierschem, 5432 Marshfield avenue, stenographer—I really cannot appreciate any of the foreign languages. English is hard enough to master, and it answers my purposes. I took up Spanish in school, but I never went far with it.



Carl Grubert, 5848 North Maplewood avenue, clerk—I always wanted to take up French. It is euphonious and appeals to me. I didn't have a chance to take a language course in school, but my sister took French and she got along well with it.

Miss Helen Ryan, 5511 West Lake street, saleswoman—I am rather partial to German. That's not because I am German; in fact, I am of Irish descent. I have learned several songs in German and Italian, and I believe it is my preference for German in song that makes me more interested in that language.

Andrew Ray, 5400 Kenmore avenue, advertising—French. I majored in French in college. Although it may not be as useful in this country as Spanish, still it comes in handy when one is in Europe. I have already made two trips to Europe.

THE STAGE

"THE LITTLE SHOW."

An intimate revue, given at the Selwyn theater, April 21, 1930, under the management of William A. Brady Jr. and Dwight Deere Wiman. Lyrics by Howard Dietz; music by Arthur Schwartz. The principal entertainers in the company are Clifton Webb, Fred Allen, Libby Holman, Joan Carter-Waddell, Helen Lynd, Lucy Monroe, Ernest Sharpe, Allan Vincent, Harold Moffett, John McCauley, Adam Carroll, and Paul Rickenback.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

If "The Little Show," which has come to the Selwyn theater after a long vogue at the Music Box of Manhattan, had another Beatrice Lillie it would be better than the best of the Charlot Revues. Which is equivalent to a statement that it has everything except a genius in the company. It is the smartest, gayest, fastest piece of entertainment that has been concocted in the form of an intimate revue under American auspices. In its ample program of twenty-six items there is not a dull spot to be detected by the most vigilant student of song and dance and "blackout" amusements.

This pastime was framed with one eye on the New York sophisticates, who are immune to every form of humor except super-wisecracks and triple puns, and with the other eye on the average citizen who happens to drop in to discover what all the laughing's about. It is worldly, urbane, and ironic; but it is also blithe, healthy, and human. It should get a unanimous vote as the happiest revue of the season.

Its three headliners, who made town-talk in Gotham, are present, ardent in their zeal to entertain. They are, of course, Clifton Webb, the high hat dancing man; Fred Allen, the droll fellow with a fantastic vocabulary, and Libby Holman, the sun tanned young moaner of night life lamentations. They are the major stars, but not the entire galaxy. Practically all the "good companions" of "The Little Show" have joined the migration to Chicago, and they contribute bountifully to the gayety. There is a special quality even in the fifteen little chorus girls, all of a size, merry of countenance and splendid of leg. These girls should be added to the Webb-Allen-Holman combination to put a fourth star into the billing.

My program notes were made with such enthusiasm that I checked almost every number for special mention; and if I were to follow them this article would be not a review but a catalog with as many asterisks indicating merit as a chapter in Baedeker. So I shall have to give cursory mention to the crisp swankiness of Clifton Webb, the First Gentleman of dancers; the tropical allure of Miss Holman as she sings in slang about the woes of scarlet women; the distinction of Joan Carter-Waddell, whether she sings or dances, and the neat talents of various others of this laughing little show. Fred Allen, however, cannot be avoided or neglected; his dimensions as a wag and quipster are too imposing.

He is a recruit from the large scale revues which he used to serve as a "hick" monologist. He has put on a veneer, blending his hickness with slickness; he is easy, sly, and amazingly quaint. His uncanny comic sense rises to a fantastic pitch in a sketch of his own authorship called "The Prize Winners," representing a one act play done by deaf-mutes with himself as interpreter. His patter is kinked with strange twists of humor and he is fecund of verbal surprises. When he broke out into "Old Black Joe" to banjo accompaniment in the style of "Strange Interlude" he became for me the most adept burlesquer of the season.

The songs in "The Little Show" are far above par in tunes, rhymes, and ideas; the sketches are clever, and the dancing, whether by the nimble Mr Webb, the graceful Miss Waddell, or the frolicsome fifteen girls with the legs, is charming. Altogether this revue is little only in name and numbers. As a diversion its caliber is impressive.

'Bohemian Girl' Starts Season of Light Operas

Strikes the Popular Note, Opinion of Critic.

"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL."

THE CAST.

Arline, daughter of Count Arnheim	Margery Maxwell
Thaddeus, a Polish exile	Charles Kullman
Gypsy queen	Lorna Doone Jackson
Devilshoof, gypsy leader	Herbert Gould
Count Arnheim, governor of Presburg	Mark Daniels
Buda, a nursemaid	Helen Freund

Captain of Count Arnheim's guard	Claude Martin
Retainers, hunters, soldiers, gypsies, etc.
Conductor	Frank St. Leger
Stage director	Charles Jones

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Here begins a new phase of the Civic Opera company. It is a transfer from the solemn and mighty tonal masses of grand opera to the lighter, more ingratiating genus of nineteenth century operetta. And if one may judge the future by the beginning, it is going to be important in the community's musical affairs.

The change from grand to light opera is not as violent as might appear. It may surprise some of those who attend both—it surprised me to learn it last night—but "The Bohemian Girl," of silk stockinged peasantry and sweeping, up-stage gestures, is really "Il Trovatore" with transposed sexes. The child snatched from a loving home to the gypsy camp is Arline instead of Manrico; the one who does the snatching is Devilshoof instead of Azucena; the greatly put upon person is Thaddeus and not Leonora.

There are other resemblances, but they are minor ones. In one respect "The Bohemian Girl" is better, because it acts out the kidnaping instead of talking about it. The chief difference is that the characters achieve a happy ending, instead of various ingenious methods of slaughter, but at the same time there are whole pages and scenes of music that could be shifted from one work to the other without the slightest harm to either.

Like "Il Trovatore," too, "The Bohemian Girl" has armfuls of immortal tunes, and the Civic theater was crowded with those who had heard them years before and those who had only heard about them and came to find out what it was all about. Both seemed fully satisfied, as well they might, for the performance was both melodious and mannerly.

It did not take Miss Maxwell longer than the time to sing "I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls" to establish herself as the heir of all the traditions and charm of all the Arlines of another generation. And Mr. Kullman's "When Other Lips" placed him as the ideal Thaddeus. Likewise Mr. Daniels stopped the performance with "The Heart Bowed Down." Also Mr. Gould was a great Devilshoof and Miss Jackson had a personal success as the queen.

One of the great reasons for going to this season of light opera is going to be the chorus. The group numbers forty, they are young, they are ambitious, they are good looking almost without exception, and without any exception at all they have heavenly voices. In fact, if any of the principals should come in future to be starred, the chorus deserves to be starred with them.

Mr. St. Leger conducted as carefully and expressively as though it had been a new work, as, in fact, for the most of them it was. If there should be a fault at all it was that the performance as a whole felt its way a bit too carefully. Later, perhaps, the participants will get into the habit of emphasizing their points more completely.

But it was an uncommonly promising start for an uncommonly interesting project.

In the meantime, and that other musical activities might not be forgotten, Percy Grainger gave his deferred piano recital at Orchestra hall. A between acts visit found him in his Chopin group, which instead of being a collection of small pieces consisted of two large ones, the Barcarolle and the B minor Sonata. He is a player to arouse attention, equipped with highly efficient hands and a highly efficient brain. Nothing in the Sonata could give him a moment's pause for its difficulties; the Barcarolle rolled out in as winsome and caressing a tone as has been heard from any pianist this season.

Children Join in Spring Fete at White House

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Mrs. Hoover was unable to greet the little guests of the nation at their annual egg rolling party today. She saw them from the window of her room on the second floor, on the south side of that mansion.

Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the secretary of labor, was a guest, however, with her young children, Jane, Jean, Joan, and Jewel.

Those children were among the thousands, with colored Easter eggs and bunny rabbits, who walked over the backyard lawn. It was recorded at the gate that 48,567 Washington children and grownups arrived, making new records.

President Hoover appeared for a moment on the south portico of the White House and waved a greeting to his visitors.

The festivities began at 10 o'clock when the first children were admitted and an hour later the formal program began with the girl reserves of the Young Women's Christian association presenting dances.

Then the tallest of the tallest of the three maypoles on the gorunds was wound with ribbons by them. At 2 o'clock a group of young people from Neighborhood House disported in the dances of nations and wound the other two Maypoles, each crowned with big bunnies. Music for the festivities was arranged by the United States Marine band, under the direction of Capt. Taylor Branson.

Throughout the day, mothers, aunts and friends continued to arrive, each with at least one youngster. No adults were admitted unless accompanied by a child.

White House police reported that during the day seventy youngsters ranging in age from two to ten lost contact with their elders and were brought back to their parents by Girl Scouts.

WEDDINGS

Mrs. Clifford Giddins Wells of Wellesley, Mass., formerly of Chicago, has issued invitations for the marriage of her daughter, Kathryn Stockton, to Frederick Luther Felton, to take place on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Wellesley Congregational church, and followed by a reception at Brae-Burn Country club at West Newton, Mass. After June 15, Mr. Felton and his bride are to reside in Wellesley Hills. Miss Wells is the daughter of the late Clifford G. Wells and granddaughter of Mrs. Frank Wells of the Hotel Windermere.

Simple Lotions Are Soothing and Helpful to Eyes

by Antoinette Donnelly

Yesterday we were talking about how eyes give away the secret that women are trying to hide when they go in strenuously for dieting and facials and other youth simulating emergencies. The wisdom of getting glasses and wearing them for work and reading was pointed out.

Do you know that insomnia is sometimes traced to eye strain? Also digestive troubles may have a similar root. And the nerves are affected from the strain of neglected eyes, too.

It is not that eyes need so awfully much care, ordinarily. But they do need some. While ocular gymnastics, which sometimes are recommended willy-nilly, may be resorted to for strengthening the eyes, they should be prescribed not by a neighbor with eye trouble, but by the very best authority.

A good eye wash will do wonders to preserve the beauty of the eye. It may be applied with a medicine dropper or an eye cup. Every bathroom cabinet should have an eye cup for emergency calls. For instance, when one feels extremely tired and the eyes look it, an eye wash will tone them up.

Cold water may be used as a tonic, either splashed on plentifully, or applied with an eye cup. Slightly salty water is an eye wash bearing the best eye specialists' recommendation. You use a tablespoonful of salt to a pint of water. If the eyes are extremely tired apply the salt lotion warm with small wads of cotton, after which you should dash on cold water.

In fact, to release the eye muscles from strain after concentrated work, a wash cloth wrung out in warm water applied to the lids is relieving. After long exposure to sun or wind, also it is a good practice to resort to.

Women who do most of their facial cleansing with creams or oils should compromise on water to the extent of letting their eyes get a morning and evening bath. The need is even greater where the lids and lashes are treated to foreign coloring matter.

Redened lids detract from the beauty of the eye. Glasses may relieve the strain basically. A boric acid solution will clear off the granulated particles.

When Babies CRY

Babies will cry, often for no apparent reason. You may not know what's wrong, but you can always give Castoria. This soon has your little one comforted; if not, you should call a doctor. Don't experiment with medicines intended for the stronger systems of adults! Most of those little upsets are soon soothed away by a little of this pleasant-tasting, gentle-acting children's remedy that children like.

It may be the stomach, or may be the little bowels. Or in the case of older children, a sluggish, constipated condition. Castoria is still the thing to give. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment, and could by no possibility do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue; won't play, can't sleep, is fretful or out of sorts. Get the genuine; it always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

"Of Course I Use Lipstick —but only once a day"

—Marion Nixon, radiant film star, frankly admitted.

"But I won't be annoyed with a lipstick that keeps coming off. That's why I'm so strong for Kissproof. When I put it on my lips of mornings, I'm through with them. I know Kissproof will keep them looking their best all day."

Miss Nixon is just another of the Hollywood stars who have found Kissproof—the waterproof lipstick—to be the one that combines immediate with lasting charm, subtle sophistication with natural beauty. At all toilet counters—Black and Gold Case, 50c; Swivel Case, 75c.

More than 5,000 Attend Chicagoland Photo Show

More than 5,000 visitors who visited the Narcissus room of Marshall Field & Co. yesterday saw the beauty in Chicagoland through the eyes of the camera. The exhibit of 350 photographic subjects officially opened the first annual Chicago and Chicagoland salon, sponsored by the Women's Chicago Beautiful association. It will continue until May 7. The women hope to show the attractions of Chicago as a setting for the World's Fair of 1933, thus countering the effects of the reputation given Chicago by gang shootings.

The grand prize of $100, "The Majesty of Chicago," went to Morris Gurrie, a member of the Dearborn Camera club. The first award for telling the story of Chicago went to R. W. Trowbridge's "Skyward."

Methodists Observe Bishops' Night and Hear Three of Them

More than 1,000 Methodists attended a "Bishops' night" program of the Methodist Social union last night at the Medinah Athletic club. Two former bishops of the Chicago area, Bishop William Frazer McDowell and Bishop Thomas Nicholson, with Bishop Raymond J. Wade, were at the speakers' table, where also sat Edwin Holt Hughes, present bishop of the Chicago area.

The 75 years of history of Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, were reviewed in an address by President Frederick C. Eiselen. Bishop McDowell related experiences in Chicago church work while he was head of the local area. "Promoted from Boston to Chicago" was the subject of Bishop Hughes, and Bishop Nicholson addressed the members of the union on "The first eight years are the hardest." President Charles O. Loucks of the union was toastmaster.

Beauty Shop Show Gives Latest Ways to Redecorate Nature

More than 1,000 men and women engaged in the business of selling "beauty" to women patrons yesterday viewed the beauty appliances, powders, creams, etc. on display in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

It was the start of a three day Midwest Beauty Trade show.

One exhibitor displayed a new system of blending powders "to suit the personality of the customer." He poised before a row of jars containing white, pink, green, brown, and lavender powders, saying a red haired woman should have a dash of green powder in her blend, while a blonde needs a touch of lavendar. He also is blending perfumes to express temperaments.

Perfect Candor of Youngsters Is Good for Older People

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Just try to put on any "dog" when your children are around and see what happens. They will probably take the wind out of your sails.

They surely can keep you off your dignity, and limbered up in your ideas not to mention your muscles. You can't get away with "la-de-dah" when you have one or two or three vigorous young growing things around you.

You answer a call on the telephone in your best telephone voice, "Yes we think it's a charming apartment And Johnny likes it, too. He thinks it's simply delightful, good-by."

Pause. Then, mincingly comes this: "Dee-lightful . . . . I didn't say I thought it was delightful. I said it was swell."

Or, as a favorite aunt sallies forth, a la manikin, in a new dinner gown and a finger wave, the balloon of her vanity may be pricked by, "I like the way you look much better with your hair straight and your red sport dress on."

Or called to the window to look at a new moon and the evening star, a real appreciation may be voiced by, "Gee—that's neat."

They're refreshing—they're so unsentimental, so candid and wholehearted. Childern are good for you Not that you have them for that reason of course. But they are.

They keep you from getting "sot in your ways." They keep you "soople," as the old folks used to say. They keep you young. They keep you from having too delicate speech and being squeamish about squeamish things. They're so natural and wholesome that they're good for you.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 21.—Now that the penitential season is at an end, social activity will take on renewed impetus for the spring interlude known as the "little season."

The program started off auspiciously with the party Mrs. Caspar Whitney gave tonight to introduce to society her daughter, Miss Faith Whitney. Miss Whitney is a daughter of the late Caspar Whitney, author, editor and explorer.

Mrs. Vincent Astor gave a reception in honor of Mr. Arturo Toscanini and members of the Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra this evening prior to their departure for their European tour on Wednesday.

Mrs. Melville E. Stone and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Stone, spent the week end in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Edgar Gibson Crossman has been entertaining her mother, Mrs. Patrick Joseph Farrell of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Sicard have sailed for Europe and will remain abroad two months.

British Princess Four Years Old; Crowd Strives to See Her

LONDON, April 21.—The sturdy gates of Windsor castle this morning withstood a determined siege as thousands of holiday makers attempted to penetrate the courtyard in order to catch a glimpse of the golden haired Princess Elizabeth, only granddaughter of King George and Queen Mary, who celebrated her fourth birthday today.

The day was one of great excitement for the popular little princess, who received a pony as a gift from King George, a remarkably lifelike set containing all the animals of the jungle from Queen Mary, a tricycle from her parents, the duke and duchess of York, and a mysterious package sent by the prince of Wales from Africa, the contents of which are still unknown.

After she examined her gifts the little princess heard the band and begged her cousin, the Hon. George Henry Hubert Lascelles, to take her outside and see the changing of the guard.

As they came out of the castle door the crowd which had been waiting outside to cheer made a rush for the courtyard, pushing past the helpless policemen and guards. Finding their efforts unavailing the guards were forced to swing shut the great gates as the only means of keeping back the enthusiastic people.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Playing with the Oven.

Once upon a time I knew a woman who was so much interested in what was happening around and in a cake she had in the oven that she said she wished she could put her head right in there while it was baking. By some legerdemain she later looked as though she had actually tried this experiment, for she had a long burn on her cheek.

The amateur frequently asks the experienced cook why her cake did thus and so, or why the muffins were raw inside and burned on the outside. In most cases the answer is, "It was all in the baking," yet this is never wholly true, because the thoroughness with which a batter is mixed to a consistent and real body results in the excellence in the final texture.

But suppose we try some half hour game with the oven like this: Bake the corn bread [recipe below] for fifteen minutes in a 500 degree oven. In that time it will be well risen but not perfectly, because at a certain point when so great heat is applied it will stop rising, when at a lower rate it would go on swelling. At the end of that fifteen minutes the top will be quite brown and the crust hard enough to hinder further evaporation.

At this point the heat must be lowered, at once, to about 400 degrees for fifteen minutes more of cooking. With this treatment, aided partially by the character of the sour milk used, the corn bread will be moist and will contain large holes like those in an English muffin, because there was such a rapid expansion of the moisture and its change into steam at the high temperature.

Yet probably the truly ideal way of cooking this bread is at a temperature of 425 degrees for the whole half hour of its cooking. It will then reach the limit of expansion as it does not by the other method, and it will have a good deal of body. It is excellent then hot and when cold may be toasted, but does not toast as readily or as agreeably as the bread of moister texture.

The recipe is: One cup white flour, one-half cup yellow corn meal, one-half teaspoon salt, one egg, one cup sour milk, one-half teaspoon or more of baking soda, and if you are a northerner two tablespoons of sugar, and if you are a southerner none at all.

We can have other variations in the type of this bread by other sorts of baking.

Trade Leaders' Portraits Shown by Louis Betts

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

To have accomplished seventy-five years is an achievement in itself. When one couples the fact with the nature of the career to which those seventy-five years have been given, the achievement blossoms into a triumph; a triumph that may be shared between Chicago as public and the O'Brien Art gallery as the active agent. Seventy-five years of bringing the best in painting to the people of Chicago, that is the record, that is the achievement which the O'Brien Art gallery is celebrating this week and next with a magnificent exhibit of portraits by one of the greatest contemporary American painters, Louis Betts.

There are some nineteen canvases in the exhibit. A number of them are of very well known Chicago men; there are a few portraits of women and a few delightful paintings of children. Louis Betts always has been famous for his ability to paint hands. He should be equally famous for his ability to paint character. These various masters of business and industry sit before us, suave, keen, persuasive, self-confident and gentlemen to the finger tips. James B. Forgan, John J. Mitchell, Ernest A. Hamill, Orson Smith, John G. Shedd, E. D. Hulbert, and Louis B. Kuppenheimer, their portraits are magnificent in their variety and in their similarity. Mr. Betts has painted them all astoundingly well, splendidly; he could not help it if each wore a smooth mask of twentieth century business manner and refused to lift it.

When the artist had a chance at an individual, such as Dr. Emil G. Hirsch and Dr. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, at once the face quickens into active life. Thought, soul, spirit, feeling, being, throb through these two portraits. Neither man had been taught by competitive living to conceal his emotions, the fact is written large in the portraits. Particularly is that of Rabbi Hirsch a masterpiece in spiritual eloquence.

Louis Betts always was, and still is, delightful in his painting of women. The portrait of Mrs. Walter Wolf, in yellow with an orchid at her belt and a fan in her hand, is an exquisite and lovely canvas. The portrait of Miss Margaret Conover is sweet, youthful and charming. That 1912 is a little far from 1930 does not really mar it at all. "Mrs. William Waller Jr. and daughter" is a delightful group. Mrs. Edward F. Carry is in a Florentine setting with a Worth gown and a green hat, irresistible. Then there are the children—the decorative large canvas of the Watson children, each of the three an adorable child; the fascinating red headed and green gowned Florence Smith; and Master Wheeler, reminiscent of Romney and Lawrence, a beautiful boy, beautifully painted.

The exhibit will continue through May 3.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Woolly lambs and their parent ewes and rams are on the increase in Wisconsin, according to a survey the results of which have just been announced by Walter H. Ebling, agricultural statistician of the Wisconsin crop reporting service.

At the beginning of this year it was found that there was a four per cent increase over 1929, as compared to an increase throughout the United States which averaged three per cent. Wisconsin now has 456,000 lambs and sheep in addition to the recent crop of lambs, yet the value per head decreased from $10.40 to January, 1929, to $9 this year, or about 14 per cent.

In 1867 the state had 1,450,000 sheep, but since 1902 when the numbers of sheep and dairy cattle were each totaling about 1,000,000 head, dairy cattle have increased steadily to more than 2,000,000, while sheep growing declined generally until a slight upturn trend three years ago.

The present increase in numbers probably will be temporary, Mr. Ebling predicts, because an expected new annual record slaughter within the next two years likely will bring lower prices with a possible upward trend after that.

Ensemble Signals the Decorative Miss

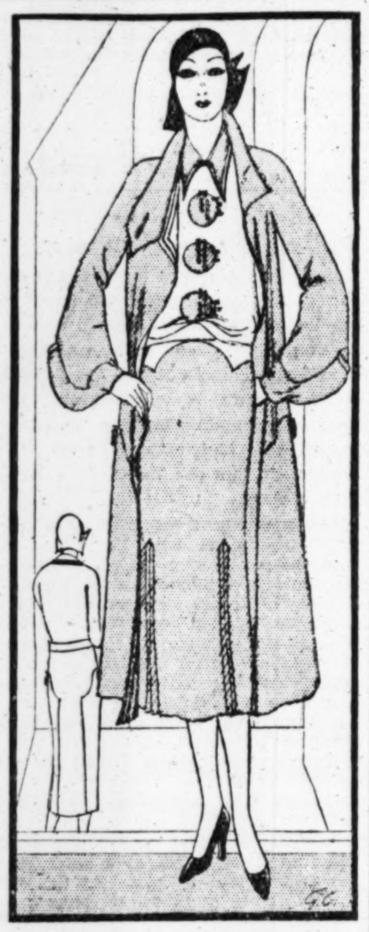
BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Fashions are signs of the times. The mode is an actual living thing. It may seek its inspiration in Athenian tunic or in Byzantine draperies, in the frills and furbelows of Romantic epochs, or it may borrow its designs from modern inventions—skyscrapers, electric lights, or traffic signals. But, whatever the inspiration, the finished article is always definitely stamped with the personality of its particular year and its particular season.

This spring, for example, everything is feminine. Classic tailored suits, sports clothes, even sweaters, though most practical and workmanlike are softened by dainty touches and pretty colors, so that they remove even the faintest garçonne resemblance from the chic sportswomen.

Pastel blues, pinks, and greens, in shantung silks and soft surfaced woolens are the most popular materials for the pretty sports of this season. The silhouette follows the higher waistline and longer skirt rule that governs the proportion of more formal clothes, but it is adapted so as to allow the ease and freedom of movement required by athletic activities.

Paul Poiret makes this girlish sports costume of pale pink and gray diagonal woolen. Its comfy long coat, equally good for motoring, traveling or running about town is belted across the back at the natural waist and hangs loose in front. Two side panels on the coat skirt grow into buttoned pockets. Knife plaits add fullness to the lower skirt. The pale pink shantung tunic blouse is ornamented down the front with three signal motifs of the pink and gray woolen trimmed with patent leather pipings of blue and silver. Blue and silver pipings also edge its turndown woolen collar, and the pink shantung lining, the cuffs, belt, and pockets of the coat, which fasten with large silver buttons.



Broken Engagement Is No Disgrace, as We're All Fallible

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Is it a crime for a young woman to go about with a young man she knows is engaged to another?

"Puzzled" is all wrought up about a friend of hers who refuses to recognize the unwritten code [if there is one] that "hands off" is the proper policy where one of an engaged pair is concerned.

The girl in question knows the man is engaged. The fiancée, however, is ignorant of her beau's disloyalty to her. The young man alibis his stand with the confession that he does not get on any longer with his fiancée. The fact that he sees the new girl four and five evenings a week would indicate that her company is more desirable.

"Puzzled" brands the man as despicable cad, which he may be, but just as likely may not. Cowardly, yes, not to attempt a break with his fiancée before giving another hope. But only a man, nowadays, can tell how much courage it takes to break an engagement. Almost any man would more gladly volunteer an expedition over the top to certain death than face a girl to ask for release.

Great courage never did characterize the male under the distressing circumstance of begging off marrying a girl. And women, of late, haven't made the way any easier for him. What with the shamelessness of breach of promise suits, current unreserved criticism of the male's hypocrisy, which the jilted one calls it, it is no easy job to get out from under a marriage promise that seems no longer desirable.

After all, it is possible for a man to live to regret his hastiness with Girl No. 1 in his life. It is probable, indeed, that he could meet a second girl who promised a better companionship. In our boasted age of frankness in matters of love, why can't the thing be viewed more sensibly? Why should not release be an easier matter?

A broken engagement is no disgrace. If it saves a broken marriage, it's a matter for rejoicing.

Chicagoans of 1930 View Peace and War's Old Fashions

Treasures of centuries ago are working this week for three children's charities in Chicago. The ballrooms at the Drake hotel were turned into a museum yesterday as the first day of the first Chicago Antiques exposition opened under the patronage of more than 75 socially prominent Chicagoans. The exposition will end on April 25.

There is the cradle once owned by Napoleon Bonaparte as well as some of his chairs with the "bee" symbol and the encircled "N." They are now the property of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick. There is Mrs. Walter R. Kirk's Hepplewhite chairs from the home of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner," and the "Currier & Ives" prints collected by Stuyvesant Peabody and hung by him in person.

Mrs. Edward Brion of Glencoe has on exhibit one of two of the first sets of Spode china brought to America. One of the most spectacular exhibits, which takes visitors back to the glorious days of jousts and ladies fair, is composed of 10 suits of armor lent by George F. Harding. One suit, said to have belonged to Maximilian, emperor of the Holy Roman empire, in the early sixteenth century, has extra large protection for the feet.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Learned Meaning Too Late.

In many books I had read the word "trite," and judged from its use that it meant "fitting"-"just right"-"suitable."

Recently I answered a kind note from a friend and began the letter, "Thank you so much for your trite little note, etc."

Later that same day I referred to my dictionary and in leafing the pages stumbled over the definition of trite and read with a sinking heart: "Trite, worn out, common, hackneyed"—and I had posted my letter! S. E. H.

Don't fool yourself!

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Men won't forgive this in a girl

How can you expect attention from others—especially from the opposite sex—when you have halitosis (unpleasant breath)?

Many a vacation and pleasure trip that otherwise would have been jolly and romantic has been a failure because of it.

Don't fool yourself that you never have halitosis. Because you simply cannot know when you are a victim. Halitosis does not announce itself. Unknowingly, you may offend.

Why take the chance at all? Simply use Listerine every day. Then, if you have halitosis, Listerine ends it. If you haven't—your mouth has had the benefit that Listerine always gives.

Being an active germicide capable of killing 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds, full strength Listerine checks mouth fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then it gets rid of the odors; it is an instant deodorant. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

POLAND FACES BIG CRISIS; IMPORTS HIT OWN TRADES

Pays 300 Millions for Unnecessary Goods.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, April 21.—Unless radical measures are taken, Poland will face the gravest economic crisis since the country gained its independence, financial experts declared today. These measures must be applied first to offices regulating the importation of foreign products into Poland. There has been imported into Poland during the last three years absolutely unnecessary goods amounting to $300,000,000.

Among imported goods were silk textiles worth $90,000,000, while textile factories in Lodz and Bialystok were working on an average of five days a week, and the silk works in Tomaszow were working four days a week, producing goods which, it is claimed, are superior to the imports. Ready made clothing and shoe imports amounted to $82,000,000 while thousands of workmen in these industries were forced to emigrate on account of a lack of work in Poland.

Import Wine and Perfumes.

Wine, rubber goods, paper, patent medicine, and perfumery took another $100,000,000, while the balance was paid for foodstuffs and fats.

The Polish-German commercial agreement, it was stated, has fallen to pieces while soviet Russia has proved to be a commercial failure. The unfavorable Polish trade balance of the last three years has reached $160,000,000. It is claimed that, if the government during this period, had used the same strong economic policy as Marshal Pilsudski is now enforcing, there would have been a surplus instead of a deficit. On the other hand, there is no immediate improvement in sight, the experts say, and it seems certain that the summer months will show an even greater decline in production and exports and an increase in imports.

Russia Aggravates Situation.

Soviet Russia, it is charged, is using every method to aggravate the economic condition of its nearest neighbor and is dumping merchandise on the Polish market at prices far below the actual costs of production. Lodz merchants were recently visited by representatives of the soviet textile industries, who offered printed goods for prices less than raw material for the same products cost in Poland.

Although Col. Walery Slawek, the present premier, has announced that the closest attention will be given to economic problems, a financial official said, it is obvious that there is a necessity to employ an adviser to act in the same capacity as Charles S. Dewey of Chicago, who is advising the Polish treasury in the stabilization of Polish money.

J. L. East Committee Victor in Fifth Ward by 3,521

Prospects of a contest over the Republican county committeeship from the Fifth ward disappeared yesterday with the official count by the election board. The unofficial returns had shown James L. East victor over Felix A. Norden, Deneenite, by only 728 votes; but the board gave East a margin of 3,521. In the Eighteenth ward the canvass showed Herman C. Vandenberg, Deneen entry, victor by 317 over James L. Brogan.

Woman Slashed Trying to Halt Kin's Suicide Attempt

Mrs. Nina Glendon, 39 years old, was slashed across the face with a razor in a struggle with her brother-in-law, Richard Glendon, 55 years old, last night as she tried in vain to prevent him from cutting his throat in their home at 2524 Wilcox avenue. Both were taken to the county hospital where physicians said Glendon probably would die.

Stage Soprano Is Soloist on Radio Program

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The sprightly Gypsies gave their usual varied and colorful program from New York through W-G-N, from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock last night. Sometimes the Gypsies take a fling at the classics, such as works by Brahms and Mendelssohn; sometimes they give popular numbers, and at other times they offer a few dance numbers. The present series of Family Party programs from New York, through W-G-N, from 8:30 to 9 o'clock, tends toward the popular, but its features from week to week are widely varied. Theirs was an all-movie musical program last evening, the featured soloist being Miss Evelyn Laye, soprano and star in "Bitter Sweet." Her several numbers were sung in a remarkably clear and likeable voice.

The Rochester Civic orchestra program was somewhat of an Easter aftermath celebration. This came through KYW, 9 to 9:30 p. m. The orchestra was assisted by a festival chorus and two excellent solists, a soprano singer and a violinist.

W-G-N was the stage on which Notre Dame university celebrated the radio portion of Universal Notre Dame night, from 9:30 to 10 o'clock. The Rev. Charles O'Donnell, president, addressed the alumni over the radio. Many of the university's songs were sung.

JUDGE ORDERS $500,000 SEIZED RUM RETURNED

New York, April 21.—(AP)—Nearly a half million dollars worth of liquor, seized in February, 1929, in raids on offices of James M. McCunn in Manhattan and Brooklyn, was ordered returned today by Federal Judge William Bondy, who ruled that the seizures had been made without legal warrant or justification.

The liquor was taken from the office of the International Postal Supply company, of which McCunn was president, in Prospect place, Brooklyn.

Books, records and alleged lists of "customers," taken from the office of the Monroe Lamp and Equipment company in West 14th street also were ordered returned to McCunn, who was vice president of the firm.

McCunn was a wine and liquor dealer before prohibition. He was charged with violating the Volstead act after the raids. His trial last fall ended in a mistrial when it was discovered one of the jurors was related to McCunn by marriage.

Without the exhibits, the government's chances of now convicting McCunn are held to be small.

FAMILY SHARES $2,000,000 ESTATE OF GEORGE DAVIE

The will of George F. Davie, one of the founders of the Interstate Iron and Steel company, which was recently absorbed in the merger of the Republic-Alloy Steel groups, was filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. It leaves an estate of $2,000,000 to his family. Mr. Davie died April 8 at the age of 63.

Bequests of $15,000 each are left to two brothers and a sister, Leander J. and Lewis A. Davie and Mrs. Emeline J. Lounsbury. A nephew, Birdett Lounsbury, is left $5,000 and a niece, Hazel Davie, $2,000. Two cousins, Frank and Thomas Wisdom, are left $1,000. Of the balance of the estate one-third is left to the widow, Mrs. Elinore Davie, two-ninths to a son, Weston E. Davie, two-ninths to a daughter, Gertrude E. Davie, and two-ninths are to be held in trust for the education of a second son, George Jr. The will provides that the son shall receive a third of the trust fund on his 21st, 25th and 30th birthdays.

PENNSYLVANIA ROAD AGREES TO ELEVATE TRACKS

Ald. Albert J. Horan [29th], chairman of the council track elevation committee, announced yesterday that the Pennsylvania railroad had agreed to elevate the tracks of the Englewood connecting branch which run for more than a mile from Morgan street to Rockwell street between 58th and 59th streets. The work, he said, probably will be started this summer and will cost approximately $3,000,000.

The ordinance under which the railroad agreed to the elevation was passed in 1912. In recent years the residents of Englewood have petitioned the council and Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe to force the railroad to live up to the terms of the contract ordinance.

The track elevation will provide for 24 subways as specified in the ordinance, according to Ald. Horan. Engineers for the city and the company now are working on plans to widen curves at each end of the tracks, after which the work will be started.

Used Car Clearance!

Champion Studebaker Commanders, reconditioned and backed by the famous Studebaker Pledge, have been selling regularly at more than $750. To close out our few remaining Sedans and Victorias we are pricing these at $595. Here is a used car value that will start all Chicago talking!

Think of the added comfort, the greater power, the pride your family will have in owning a champion Studebaker.

Some one else paid the first and heaviest depreciation—two years ago these cars cost nearly $2,000. These Commanders are in such splendid condition that we offer each car to you on 5 days' driving trial! If it does not more than please you bring it back and receive full credit on any other car—new or used.

We have only a few of these Commander bargains. Be sure to come to the nearest Studebaker branch showroom this evening.
